

FAVORS BILL - AFL-CIO
President George Meany, shown as he testified before the Senate Labor subcommittee, said that the most hopeful prospects "under the so-called brisk recovery" from the economic slump will leave almost 5 million unemployed at the end of 1961. He testified in favor of a bill to authorize federal grants to help speed up state and local public works projects.

Red Star Gasses Move at Trillion Tons A Second

Pasadena, Calif. - (Science Service) - Red giant stars, the largest stars known, continuously send as much as a trillion tons of gases into space each second, an astronomer has discovered.

Dr. Armin J. Deutsch of Mt. Wilson and Palomar Observatories here first found these stellar gases spewing from the "cool" red giant Alpha Hercules, which is about 186,000,000 miles in diameter, compared to the sun's 864,000 miles.

Spectroscopic observations showed that stellar winds, containing the gas from the red giant, are blowing about a hundred billion miles away from the star, past a small companion star that travels around it. The "cooler" or the larger a red giant star is, the more gas escapes per second.

Lesser Rate
Gas also streams away from the sun but at a lesser rate than in the red giants. The sun is, like all yellow stars, smaller but hotter-burning than a red giant star.

Dr. Deutsch said the winds that blow from the red giants probably supply the main portion of interstellar gas, which is constantly being used up as new stars form. Astronomers have estimated that half of the material in a new star came from other stars.

The red giants are often called "dying stars," since they gradually shrivel up as they release their matter into interstellar winds. Red stars are believed to end up as white dwarf stars, the last stage of stellar evolution.

Blinking May Cause Highway Accidents

Southbridge, Mass. - (UPI) - Normal blinking may cause highway accidents under certain conditions, according to the American Optical Company's Research Center.

When the eyes are blinked, vision is not possible for three-tenths of a second. Since vision is impaired for part of the opening and closing periods, the average blackout period is about 55/100 of a second.

The loss of vision in such a blackout period, says the research center, could cover some 60 feet of travel at 40 miles per hour and 90 feet at 60 miles per hour. Should the blink come at a critical time, it might cause an accident, according to the research center's scientists.

Anchorage To Host West's Governor's

Salt Lake City - (UPI) - Governors of the Western States will travel to Anchorage, Alaska, next spring for their annual conference.

The Western Governors' Conference unanimously accepted an invitation Wednesday by Gov. William A. Egan to hold its annual meeting in Alaska's largest city.

Egan was named chairman of next year's conference and Gov. Paul Fannin of Arizona was chosen as vice chairman.
