

Annual Hobby Fair Scheduled At Domiciliary Next Sunday

By SID HOLLINGSWORTH
Mail Tribune Correspondent

White City — The annual Hobby Fair on the occasion of the Pear Blossom Festival will be held Sunday, April 29, at the VA Domiciliary, White City.

This event of the year for the disabled veterans living at the domiciliary is their golden opportunity to display the product of handicrafts undertaken in the activity program developed for them by the Veterans Administration.

Under the new arrangement and control, with additional equipment and materials, latent skills have been developed with amazing results, as will be demonstrated and shown to the public on the day of the fair.

Most of the work is done under the supervision of Lee R. Brown, the new manual arts therapist, who came to White City last July. Many features of craftsmanship have been enlarged, including the popular hobbies of ceramics and lapidary, with creations in pottery and figurines, gems and stones found in the region, which will be on display.

The Hobby Fair will be all inclusive this year with the various interests supplementing the manual arts program, represented. These will include stamp collections, writing, art and a number of unusual features such as fly tying, top repairing, photography and puzzle assembling.

In woodworking, the example of August Lovey was mentioned. His cabinet work and expert inlay achievements were recognized. Having reached the octogenarian stage of life, he was forced to give up work that required standing. But this did not stop him.

Hewitt Paris, fly tying; Bob Ewalt, wood carving; Othmar Kiefer, metal spinning; Ed Brower, weaving; Thomas Madison, wood turning; Larry Wall, airbrush art; and Egbert A. Alford, handloom weaving.

A comparatively new art of miniatures in cactus will be displayed by Harold Woods, an expert in this line.

Then among the diversions made available for the men is the puzzle collection. David Frisch developed this interest and a room has been set aside where 1,500 puzzles are kept and used by about 25 members a day.

A few of these will be on display at the fair, including a masterpiece in 1,000 pieces. It is a snow scene and the sameness of color and shape of the pieces complicated the job of putting it together.

The Hobby Fair will offer the workmanship from the hands of the 250 men a day who spend varying portions of their time in the shops made available for them. Their efforts will be judged and prizes will be awarded. Each entrant will receive an incentive award. Any work made of materials which have not been provided by the government may be sold at this time.

The quality of the work this year will bear the mark of expert supervision. Assistant Director, Robert A. Lundgren, transferred recently from the VA hospital, Salt Lake City. He is in charge of ceramics, weaving, lapidary and woodwork.

This year the wood exhibits will include lamps, bowls, bird houses, two game tables, an inlay coffee table and a tea cart.

Sponsors of the Hobby Fair throughout the years are the various organizations composing the VA Volunteers, who assist in many ways to make the event a success.

Ball Scheduled for Local Candidates

"Candidates ball," featuring candidates for both county and state offices, will be held at Dreamland ballroom Saturday, May 5, Leland Charley, manager, has announced.

The event has been planned to give candidates an opportunity to talk with constituents. The candidates will be introduced, and there will be no speeches, Charley said.

A representative from each political party will be present to introduce the candidates. An augmented orchestra will play for the ball, featuring music in the Dixieland manner. Dancing will be from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.
