

Six Accidents Checked by Police

Six non-injury vehicle accidents in Medford were reported during a three-day period, according to city police. Two citations were issued, police said.

In the first of three accidents Friday, a car registered to Eugene Pearl Bennett, 329 South Grape st., was damaged about 8:58 a.m. by a vehicle driven by Retha Irene Brophy, 36, of 264 South Modoc ave., while it was parked in front of his residence.

Alice Vivian Hash, 51, of 319 Newtown st., was cited for failure to yield the right of way after the vehicle which she was operating collided about 4:30 p.m. with a car driven by Carol Ann McBeth, 15, Jacksonville, at Laurel and Tenth sts.

Marjorie Joye Hearrell, 1237 North Riverside ave., reported to police that a six-foot section of hedge at Pulver motel was ripped from the ground by an unknown vehicle sometime between Thursday and Saturday.

City police assisted in the investigation of a two-car collision about 10:25 p.m. Saturday at Ehrman rd. and North Pacific hwy. Drivers involved were Lavone Mavis Hemmerling, 36, of 4069 South Pacific highway, and Henry William Lindvall, 40, of 245 Wilson rd. Lindvall was cited for following too close.

Vehicles operated by Charlotte Ruth Dowell, 38, Eagle Point, and John Howard Redmond, 66, Chino, Calif., collided about 4:20 p.m. Sunday on Highway 99 between Gore and Ash aves.

Sign Informs Senator Morse Establishment 'Ain't a Soda Bar'

Washington — UPI — A Washington bar has put a sign in its window reading: "Senator Wayne Morse — this ain't a soda bar." There's a long story behind that sign.

The story goes back to protests by Sen. Morse (D-Ore.) about liquor being served in the U.S. Capitol.

A Washington newspaper, the Daily News, took note of Morse's protest, and printed it together with a picture of the newspaper said showed Morse in a local bar posing with his hand on the beer tap.

Morse replied that the picture, taken some years ago, actually was taken in a soda fountain. The paper again printed Morse's denial, together with a further report that the establishment was a cocktail bar.

The senator then said that at least when he went into the place, he thought it was a soda fountain.

All of which impelled barman Matt Kane to put up the sign, which he hopes will clear up any question about what kind of refreshment he serves.

An aide to Morse, who is a teetotaler, said the senator had his picture taken in Kane's bar and restaurant in 1960 when he was campaigning in the District of Columbia presidential primary.

He said Morse went in to get some breakfast and told Kane that he used to work as a soda jerk when he was a youth. The aide said Kane then asked Morse to pose behind his bar.

Kane sent Morse a wire about two weeks ago saying he was "sorry for any embarrassment" the publicity might have caused the senator. The wire added:

"I honestly believed you thought you were in a soda bar. Thank you for getting my little bar on the editorial pages."

Three Workshops Set at University

Eugene — Three summer workshops in business education will be offered at the University of Oregon.

The first, "Development of Business Education Program for the Academically Talented" will be held June 18 to 29. Dr. E. C. McGill, assistant to the president and director of academic affairs at Southern Oregon college, Ashland, will direct the workshop.

Three hours of credit may be earned for each workshop. For further information, write Dr. Jessie M. Bork, school of business administration, University of Oregon, Eugene.

The program will consist of an analysis of methods and techniques of instruction which are effective in teaching business education courses for the academically talented students.

Dr. John C. Gilliam will direct a workshop on "Basic Business and Economic Education," which will be held from July 23 to Aug. 3. Gilliam is an assistant professor of secretarial science at the University of Wyoming.

NAMED ASSISTANT

Salem — UPI — The Oregon Welfare Department has announced that Mrs. Geraldine Derby of the Salem headquarters has been promoted to assistant state welfare administrator for program services.

SNOW BUSINESS

New York — UPI — Blizzard conditions around the country this year have been a boon for manufacturers of snow blowers. A record 150,000 units were reported sold this winter, double last season's volume.

Your Money's Worth

ONLY BUSINESS SPENDING STILL LAGS

You, the individual spender in the United States, are now coming through magnificently for your country's prosperity — and since you account for a giant two-thirds of total spending in the United States, your performance this spring is brilliantly reassuring.

Your buying of clothes and gifts during the pre-Easter period made this a blooming spring indeed for retailers across the nation. No matter how the figures are "adjusted" for the late Easter or weather, March-April sales are smashing all records and most encouraging is your continued interest in upgrading the quality and price of your purchases. Even more significant to the economic outlook is your buying of big-ticket items. Auto sales are "suddenly torrid" in the words of the usually unrestrained Ward's Automotive Reports, and this is "shaping into a real summer boom" for the auto industry. The whole industry isn't ready yet to go along with General Motors' forecast of a seven million car year but Ward's says it's "leaning more towards" it.

All indications are too, this is no flash in the pan. Families the country over have the current income to buy; month after month, personal incomes are climbing to peaks never before reached. They have the savings to buy; in the past year alone, liquid assets of America's consumers have soared $20 billion. They have the credit to buy; in this entire expansion, installment debts have risen only $1.5 billion, an extraordinarily modest rise and underlining the fact that consumers have the leeway to hike their on-the-cuff buying substantially. And the latest surveys indicate consumers today are "willing" as well as able to "purchase durable goods at a high rate in the months to come."

Government, a second massive spender in the United States, also is coming through for the economy's growth.

Federal Government spending is not rising at as rapid a rate as at this time in 1961 when the recovery was just getting under way and thus it is not providing as sharp a stimulus but government spending is still increasing and it will continue to increase. Whatever may be your attitude toward big-bigger-biggest spending by Washington, the reality is this: the trend and it's not going to be reversed under the Kennedy administration. State and local government spending is climbing to all-time peaks month after month as well and this trend isn't going to be reversed either.

Only business, the third key spender in the United States, is not coming through on a sufficient scale so far to add major power to our economy's advance.

Business spending for new plants and equipment this year is estimated at $37.2 billion, up 8 per cent from 1961's level to a new record—but good as that seems, it's not good enough. The total is only a bit over the previous record established back in 1957, when we were a much smaller economy.

This type of spending is crucial and it's up to government to give industry the incentives as soon as possible to accelerate it. Many more billions must be invested in modernization of U.S. factories and equipment if we're to be able to turn out quality goods at prices which can meet competition from foreign producers at home and abroad. Far more than is being done must be done in this sphere if our economy is to grow at a pace which will provide the jobs needed for our workers.

The crushing of steel's attempt to raise prices to get the extra money to invest in new plants has now focused world attention on this challenge to us. The bill giving industries a tax rebate if they invest in new plants should be pushed through Congress. The time-table of the Treasury's profoundly important new depreciation schedules which will permit corporations investing in new factories to write off the expenses more rapidly and have huge amounts thereby should be speeded up.

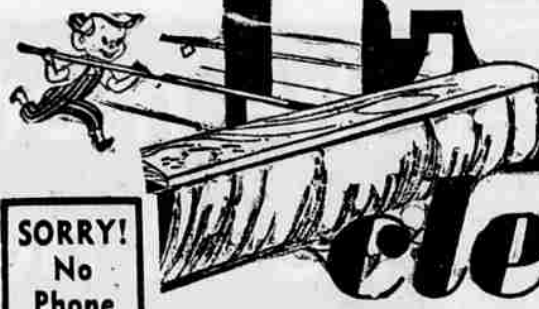

America's consumers are coming through for solid and sustained prosperity. Government at all levels is coming through. With a push which is entirely justified and in fact imperative, I'm confident business will come through too as this year rolls on.
