Mail Tribune Table Rock Correspondent

Table Rock—Floyd McCabe of Butte Falls, Republican candidate for county commissioner, was a visitor here Friday. He was driving a 1932 Ford truck, which he calls his "unofficial road-testing machine" and with which he delivers fence posts and wood besides doing his campaigning. He says he may not win, but will have a lot of fun trying. If elected, he will not discriminate in employing county workers, and would favor paying wages consistent with wages elsewhere, and work for good roads. We wished him luck and he replied that he would need a lot of that.

The Dean Inglis family left Monday for their home in the Bay Area of California after a few days visit here with relatives and home folks. Dean is manager of a development company which he says last year constructed between 700 and 800 modern homes, besides churches, school buildings, and shopping centers. He says the way people are coming to California and buying home sites, before many years the farm land will be covered with homes, industrial plants and shopping centers. We asked him if this happened where they would get their food. He replied from the State of Oregon. We hope he is right, for at present huge trucks are bringing farm products from California to Oregon. According to Inglis, all Californian counties have the same sales tax, 4 per cent. When each county set the amount of sales tax, some would be lower than others, and people would cross county lines to buy where the tax was lower. He likes the hustle and bustle of Californians, but his love is more or less commercial. He admits that he likes Oregon as a place to live and enjoy life better than any state he has ever lived in.

Hospital Patient
Ray Wyatt, operator of the Table Rock store, is a surgery patient at the Rogue Valley Memorial hospital, and will be out duty for sometime. Mrs. Donald Wheeler is assisting at the store, during his absence.

Amos Maplesden is spending a few days at the Rogue Valley Memorial hospital owing to broken ribs, caused by a trailer hitch coming loose and throwing him across the tongue during a cleaning operation of smudge oil tanks at the Hull orchards last Tuesday.

The following ads we copied from Harpers Weekly issue of May 13, 1965 show that some of the things used then are still in vogue. Japanese hair stain, colors the hair, whiskers, and mustache, a beautiful black or brown. Upham's pimple remedy, banishes pimples on the face, freckles, etc. Old eyes made new, without spectacles, doctor, or medicine. Pamphlet mailed free on receipt of 10 cents. American steel collars, patented April 19, 1864. Ladies illusioned embroidered cuffs, $1.50 mailed free, send price. We had just read about Upham's pimple remedy, of nearly 100 years ago, when we heard over the radio the radio a commercial telling what camphor-phenol would do for pimples, but didn't mention freckles. We have done a lot of gipping, in our day, about starched collars, but are sure glad they have quit the steel collar fad. Of course there would be one advantage to steel collars. They wouldn't need be laundered. One could wipe them off with a damp cloth.

"Daddy, Are You Cold?"
Bob Sage, the Medford teacher and grower of Christmas trees at Table Rock, was telling us of a fishing trip he made a few years ago. With his young son, David, he went to the Sams Valley irrigation reservoir, and while out on the surface of the lake, a cold wind sprang up. It had about reached the tooth chattering stage, especially for the tender skinned David, who questioned his father this way. "Daddy, are you cold?" When Bob answered "No," David said, "Well, Daddy, if you are not cold, then I'm not cold, either." How many little Davids do you suppose are watching daddy, and trying to be like him and do the things he does. And we wonder how many daddys think of this, when they light a cigarette, or do other things they wouldn't want little David to do.

Local farmers, who have made spring seedlings of alfalfa, are anxiously hoping for rain. (Ed note: This column was not written today.)
We were asked if we thought the A.A. program over the radio Sunday mornings are any help in preventing others from going overboard with liquor. We would say, yes very much, surely those who are playing around with liquor when hearing the testimonies of those who have gone down the drain will realize if they keep this up what they may soon become and are almost sure to be.

Thought for the day—As the twig is bent the tree inclines.

Historical Lodge Trek Slated in Jacksonville

Jacksonville—The Jacksonville historical lodge trek will be held Saturday with Jacksonville IOOF Lodge sponsoring. Registration will take place at the historic hall at 9:30 a.m.

A lodge meeting will be held at the community hall at 1:30 p.m. Historical sites will be toured at 4:30 p.m.

Ruth Rebekah Lodge will not charge a registration fee this year. Rebekah members will hold their program at 1:30 p.m. at the Jacksonville grade school on Huener lane.

Lone Pine PTA Will Hold Kindergarten

Lone Pine—The Lone Pine school PTA will again sponsor the month of May kindergarten for students planning to attend Lone Pine next September.

Registrations will be taken from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m. Monday in the end room of the primary wing.

Mrs. Mabel Hundley, a former Lone Pine first grade teacher, will teach.

Those eligible are students within Lone Pine attendance area who will become six years of age by Nov. 15, 1962.

As in the past, after the first day, children will ride the bus and school will be in session until 11:30 a.m. at which time parents will be responsible to see that children have transportation home.

Jacksonville Will Stop Issuing Open Burning Permits

Jacksonville—No more permits for open burning in this city will be issued after May 1, announces the volunteer fire department.

Open grass fires after that date will be in violation of city ordinances, and all trash fires must be in properly screened incinerators. Seasonal permits for incinerators may be obtained from the city recorder in the fire station office.

Incinerators will be inspected by Police Chief Frank Carter before a permit is issued to see if they are properly screened. Permit holders are required to have sufficient garden hose available while burning, must not build too large a fire and must burn only between 7 a.m. and noon. All grass around incinerators must be cleared away.

Holders of permits are responsible for any damage from fire if it should spread. Any permit may be revoked if requirements are not met, Carter said.

Residents wishing to report a fire are directed to dial 116, say they wish to report a fire in Jacksonville, then wait until connection is made with the fire department and state clearly their name and address and the type of fire involved.

5 Get Superior Rating in Festival

Central Point—The third annual District 6 Elementary and Junior High Speech Festival was held April 21 at Crater High school with students from Central Point, Gold Hill and Sams Valley participating. In humorous, poetry, oratory, serious, and debate sections.

Don Lacy, Crater high speech instructor directed the district wide all day event with the assistance of the Crater speech club.

Lacy stressed that this speech event is not held for the purpose of competition between district schools, nor is it a competition between students. It is instead, he emphasized each student's competition against self alone. He added there were no winner or losers in this event.

Each participant received a participation award in the form of a cup for each section the individual entered, with a ribbon designating rating of blue for superior; red for excellent; and white for good.

As a result of this year's speech festival those receiving superior were Danny Leonard, oratory; Beth Kroon, serious; Mike Croxton, serious; Shirley Roberts, humorous; and Christine Olson, poetry. Superintendent of district 6 Charles A. Meyer was master of ceremonies.

Excellent ratings were earned in the humorous section by Joe Thomas, Shirley Kell, Patty Washburn, Bob Boye, Judi Armstrong, Sharon Poythress, and Carole Jackel. In this section Carolyn Fields and Steve Ryerson received good.

In the Poetry section excellent were Sandra Ganong, Linda Parker, Linda Reed, Joanne Hamilton, and Sally Cornelius. Good were Randy Turner, Russell Morris, Linda Henly, Susan McAllister, Carole Jackel, and Karalee Canham.

Excellent ribbons in the oratory section were earned by Linda Parker, Marlene Wright, Joanne Hilkey, Diana Davis, Kathy Neal, Andrea Roberts, and Jim Decker. Barbara White and Dan Castleberry earned good.

In debate there were no superior rates given. Those earning excellent rate in this section were Rodney King, Linda Hilkey, Mike Turner, Vicki Farrell, Cheryl Cavin, Eileen Kell, and Gene Wing. Good rates were earned by Suzanne Kinney and Susan Rosecrans.
