

By WALTER TOWNSEND
Joseph H. Chillington, national field representative, the American Legion, was here recently from Veterans Administration regional office at Los Angeles, Calif. He covers Arizona, Nevada, Idaho and Utah; Washington, Oregon and California; Hawaii and Alaska.

This is the same territory served by the Veterans Administration area medical office, which has headquarters at San Francisco.

He has been in this service for 12 years and this is his third visit to our domiciliary. The purpose of this visitation is to see the operation and to confer with staff personnel. After the visitation he sends a report to National Headquarters of the American Legion. Copies of his report go to central office of the Veterans Administration.

"I think it is a beautiful domiciliary," he said, "and well administered."

The director of the Veterans Administration hospital, Roseburg, Dr. Frank F. Merker, was a visitor at our domiciliary recently.

Dr. Merker addressed the members of the Jackson County Medical Association Wednesday evening.

Glenn Howe, American Legion department service officer, department of Oregon, also visited at the station to confer with members on claims pending at the regional office in Portland.

Howe has been the department service officer for the past seven years, and is known to many of our members.

Another visitor to the domiciliary last week was Mrs. Richard Gearheart, president of the American Legion auxiliary, state of Oregon.

She made the first contribution to the Classical Library of Records which is being built up, one of her favorites, "The Schumann Concerto in A Minor." She has interested other auxiliaries in adding to this collection.

Also coming to the domiciliary recently were skilled seamstresses of the Salvation Army Night League, Cecelia Crawford, La Rue Nafziger, Mabel Nicholson and Susie Johnsonburg. These ladies came to do a special job on our stage curtain.

The curtain, because of shrinkage, had to be lowered five inches, to make a satisfactory appearance on the stage. Frank Glonning was pleased when their work was finished, and said, "They did an excellent job in lowering the hem about five inches and improving the appearance of the curtain tremendously. My thanks are extended to them."

They are also going to make jackets and coats for our station orchestra.

4-H NEWS

Table Rock Club
Table Rock Stitches and Snappy Homemakers 4-H club met on April 20 when we held an Easter egg hunt at Mayfield's. We invited our brothers and sisters and our parents. We had 12 children and six parents and leaders present.

We had refreshments, then we played games until time for us to hunt eggs.
Sandra Mayfield, Reporter

Gold Hill Club
The last meeting of the Gold Hill Livestock 4-H club was held at the Schmidt's home. The meeting was called to order by Marie Jones, our president.

We judged three lambs. Some of our members told how they would classify the different lambs.

Reports were given by Joe Thomas and Fleet Parsons. Joe Thomas also gave a humorous reading.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Schmidt.
Laura Thomas, Reporter

Eagle Point Ranchers
The Eagle Point Ranchers 4-H club met recently in the vocational agriculture building. Carl Johnson gave us a test on the parts of a rabbit. We discussed summer camp. Kay Stephenson announced that Douglas Burritt had the highest number of points in the recent dairy judging contest.

We discussed and decided to adopt a 4-H club in South America.

The next meeting will be May 7 in the vocational agriculture building and all new members are welcome.
