then. The submarines were available to Allied defense needs but not formally committed to NATO.

American Officers

Saturday's offer formally commits the five submarines to NATO with their equipment of 16 Polaris missiles each. The submarines would continue to have American officers, the sources said.

The NATO commander-in-chief is American Gen. Lauris Norstad. The Allies could call for use of the Polaris missiles against an enemy but the President of the United States is still the only person who could give the order for the use of American nuclear weapons.

The sources said the NATO allies received the offer "favorably."

Nuclear Defense

McNamara was reported to have given the NATO council one of the most detailed outlines of U.S. global strategy it ever heard. He emphasized the United States believes the NATO area of Europe is indivisible from protecting the rest of the free world.

But he also was said to have stressed that conventional forces are a vital part of the NATO deterrent force.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who also addressed the secret council session, told the Allies that U.S. defense strategy puts equal emphasis on nuclear and conventional forces, the sources said.

Washington — (UPI) — Oregon House Speaker Robert Duncan (D-Medford) has canceled appearances at several campaign meetings in Oregon today to remain here for an appointment with President Kennedy.

Duncan, a Democratic candidate for Congress from Oregon's fourth district, will meet with the President Monday morning.

He has been here as a member of President Kennedy's advisory commission on intergovernmental relations. The commission ended a two-day meeting Saturday with a decision to make a formal study of the U.S. Supreme Court's recent decision taking jurisdiction over apportionment of state legislative seats.

Former Oregon state civil service director William Coleman will head the staff for the study.

The closures are necessary to facilitate contractor's crews in pouring cement for the deck of the freeway viaduct, Thorpe said.

Woodworkers Union Seeks 30 Cents an Hour Wage Increase

Portland — (UPI) — The 33,000-member International Woodworkers of America union has announced it will seek a general wage increase of 30 cents an hour this year.

President Harvey Nelson of the Western States Regional Council of the IWA said the union has scheduled negotiation meetings with Simpson Timber Co. May 15 and with the Timber Operators Council May 16-18.

He said the union expects to start negotiations with Weyerhaeuser, Georgia-Pacific and perhaps other companies before the end of May.

To back up its demands, the union announced plans to send strike ballots to its members in Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Northern California and part of Montana by Monday. The ballots are to be returned by May 29.

Thursday, Karl Glos, executive secretary of the Timber Operators Council, said additional wage demands by the union now were "absurd."

Glos noted that the Northwest lumber industry has been losing its markets steadily to Canadian lumber and other competition because of higher costs. The present IWA scale varies from $2.07 an hour to more than $4.

Glos said the union could price itself out of many jobs with a wage increase now.

IWA spokesmen declined comment on those statements.

The Lumber and Sawmill Workers Union also has informed lumbermen it wishes to open wage negotiations, but it has not announced its wage demands.

Books containing three coupons each are being sold for $1 at pharmacies throughout the county and at the Prospect store, Butte Falls. Market Store, Town and Country market in Eagle Point and the Hub store in Rogue River.

The clinics of May 12 and 13 will last from noon to 6 p.m. at Ashland and Crater High schools, Hedrick and McLoughlin Junior High schools, and Phoenix, Shady Cove and Rogue River grade schools.

Cosmonaut Titov Draws Big Crowds At Seattle Fair

Spaceman Wants Joint Moon Effort

Seattle — (UPI) — Gherman Titov, Soviet hero who has soloed in space, was caught in a crush of carbound humanity Saturday at the Seattle World's Fair.

This was the biggest day of attendance at the fair since its opening two weeks ago and more than 50,000 persons were on the 74-acre grounds.

More than 10,000 of them were Campfire Girls from every state in the Union.

Titov arrived here Saturday from Washington, D. C., after a stopover in Chicago where he said, "It would be splendid if the United States and Russia could go to the moon together."

The smiling, curly-haired cosmonaut was followed by large crowds everywhere. At one point he stopped abruptly, and in the best style of an American political candidate, tweaked the cheeks of a pretty one-year-old girl in a stroller.

The infant, Elizabeth Ulrich, took the attention whirled-eyed and bewildered, and her mother, Mrs. Alvin Ulrich of Seattle, was flabbergasted.

"My goodness, that was the Russian astronaut," the red-haired, freckle-faced mother exclaimed as Titov resumed his brisk tour of the fair.

The cosmonaut left a colored picture of himself in the baby's lap.

Midway in the afternoon Titov had a news conference in the National Aeronautics and Space Administration building on the fairgrounds where an array of American rockets and missiles is on display.

At the same time, a group of more than 600 "peace walkers" paraded outside the grounds with signs proclaiming "End nuclear testing. No more tests. Peace is the only soldier. World's fairs not world wars."

M-T Carrier Wins World's Fair Trip

Steve Lamb, a Mail Tribune newspaper carrier, was one of the newspaper boys who won a trip to the Seattle World's fair while attending the National Newspaper Boys convention in Anaheim, Calif.

He is expected to return to Medford today from the Disneyland convention with Kenneth Griess, Mail Tribune district circulation manager.

United Airlines Drops Two Flights

Salem — (UPI) — United Air Lines has dropped two of the six flights with which UAL serves this city. The action was effective April 29.

Dropped were Salem stops on shuttle service between Medford and Seattle. The south bound flight had stopped here at 9:45 p.m. PST and the north bound at 10:23 a.m. PST.

Local UAL manager Harold Sweeney said the reason was a decrease in the number of boardings in Salem. He said boardings here have dropped 25 per cent in the past five years. It appears that many people now use the high speed freeway to Portland and board there, he said.

Quakes Recorded in Southern California

Pasadena, Calif. — (UPI) — Two separate earthquakes rumbled through Southern California Saturday causing isolated damage in nearby Fontana.

The tremors were recorded about one hour apart by seismologists at the California Institute of Technology. The first quake at 6:10 a.m., PDT, was "small," according to seismologists, but caused isolated damage in Fontana where the ceiling of a furniture store collapsed.

Oregon Tax Collections Up 24 Per Cent in April

Salem — (UPI) — The Oregon Tax commission said Saturday it collected $34,497,207 in April, a whopping 24 per cent over the $27,853,200 of April, 1961, and a "very gratifying" jump indicating that Oregon is "on the black."

Fred Hoeft, commission chairman, added that cumulative collections through April 30 — first nine months of this fiscal year — were $101,409,413, up 11.6 million from the $89.7 million in fiscal 1961.

Payrolls Jumped

Hoeft also said that the commission took payroll statements of the top 22 corporations in Oregon and found their payrolls jumped 25 per cent over 1961, with the corresponding increase in withholding tax to the state jumping by 28 per cent.

"The confirmed our belief that payrolls are up in Oregon," he said. "Needless to say, this is very gratifying."

Personal Income

The biggest tax the commission administrators is personal income. Through April 30 of this fiscal year collections of it totaled $80,880,963 compared to $72,110,087 in 1961.

In the same period, corporate income and excise tax collections gained nearly $3 million — from the $16,832,611 of 1961 to $19,798,049 this year, Hoeft said.

TEXAS PRIMARY ELECTION

Connally, Houston Lawyer in Runoff; Gen. Walker Fifth

Dallas, Tex. — (UPI) — The Texas election bureau said Saturday that former Navy Secretary John Connally and Houston Lawyer Don Yarborough appeared to have fought their way into a June 2 runoff for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in yesterday's primary.

The former Navy secretary is John Connally, 45. He resigned from the Kennedy administration last December.

The lawyer is Don Yarborough, 36, the youngest of six Democratic candidates in the Democratic primary.

But Connally and Yarborough had run first and second almost since the start of the tabulation. Incumbent Democratic Gov. Price Daniel, seeking an unprecedented fourth term, was behind Yarborough.

Connally came home from Washington to campaign against much of the Kennedy program despite his close ties with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson. Johnson did not endorse Connally.

In the Republican gubernatorial primary, Jack Cox, 39, an oilman, led Roy Whittenburg, 49, a Borger, Tex., newspaper publisher. The total vote in the Republican primary was very small, however. Many conservatives who may support the GOP in November voted in the Democratic primary.

But the winner of the Democratic runoff June 2, is virtually certain to be elected governor next November.

Medford Lawyers Schedule Debate On Charter Issue

Lawyers representing pro and con beliefs concerning the proposed Jackson County Home Rule Charter will debate aspects of the charter at a meeting starting at 7:30 p.m. Monday, May 14, at Medford High school auditorium.

The debate is being sponsored by two groups — a citizens group under the chairmanship of Ray O. DeMarrs, and the County Citizens for Home Rule Charter under the chairmanship of Robertson E. Collins.

Moderator

Details of the debate will be worked out between chairmen of the two groups. Moderator will be either the president of the Jackson County Bar association, or a moderator appointed by him.

DeMarrs said William Deatherage and Robert Grant, Medford lawyers, will represent a citizens' group which has expressed opposition to the Charter. Collins said Saturday he had not yet confirmed the lawyers who will represent the affirmative side.

Purpose of the debate is to present both sides of the proposed Home Rule Charter, on which Jackson county residents will vote May 18.

The debate will be open to the public.

Some Pockets of Resistance Said Still Holding Out

Capupano, Venezuela — (UPI) — President Romulo Betancourt's armor-and-plane-backed forces Saturday night crushed a two-day-old Communist-led revolt and captured its key leaders including Navy Capt. Jesus Teodoro Molina Villagas.

Fifteen hundred soldiers equipped with recoilless guns, Howitzers and machineguns stormed into this city of 15,000 after six hours of some of the bitterest fighting in Venezuelan history.

The rebels, comprising 450 Marines and nearly 100 Communist and leftist extremists, fought from balconies, rooftops and windows before they were overwhelmed.

A few pockets of resistance held out late Saturday night but the back of the revolt was broken.

Forcing Bulk

At 8 p.m. (7:30 p.m. EDT) government American-built sabrejets strafed a rebel garrison forcing the bulk of the insurgents out into the hills surrounding the airport at the entrance to the city.

Spotter planes directed government artillery with deadly accuracy.

Betancourt's soldiers tore half their sleeves from their uniforms to differentiate themselves from the uniformed rebels. In the early hours of the fighting government soldiers accidentally shot each other.

Flight By Sea

The sabrejets strafed an airliner at the air field to prevent the rebels from escaping by air. Three warships cut off flight by sea.

In Caracas, the Capital, Betancourt's interior ministry made the formal announcement that the rebellion had been crushed.

Interior Minister Carlos Andres Perez said the collapse of the revolt was a "death blow to Communist-Castro ambitions to convert Venezuela into a second Cuba."

GP Woman Injured In Two-Car Crash

Blanche Irene Fortner, 55, of 940 N. E. Ninth st., Grants Pass, was taken to the Josephine General hospital with chest injuries Friday night after a two-car collision on Highway 99, north of the Tolo overpass, state police said.

She was a passenger in a car driven by James Waldo Fortner, same address, officers said.

A car driven by Thomas Givings Reams, 36, of 27 Geneva st., Medford, came up behind another vehicle. He applied his brakes and swerved into the northbound lane and in front of the Fortner car, state police said.

Mrs. Fortner was taken to the hospital by Hull and Hull Funeral home ambulance. Heavy damage resulted to both cars.
