Sabin Vaccine Is Ordered for Area Clinics May 12, 13

Advance Purchase Of Coupons Urged

Sabin oral polio vaccine for next week end's clinics in Jackson county has been ordered, based on the amount used in other areas of Oregon, according to the Jackson County Medical Society, sponsors of the clinics.

Additional vaccine is on a standby basis and will be flown here if necessary. Public response by advance purchase of the coupons will indicate the quantity of vaccine to be distributed to the various clinics.

Advance sales of coupons indicate that Jackson county will have a higher per capita participation rate than other areas of the state, the medical society said.

Persons having questions on the vaccine clinic program may call SPring 3-5407 or SPring 3-5408 daily between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. The telephone service will be staffed by members of the Medford Jaycees.

The clinics will be from noon to 6 p.m. May 12 and 13 at Ashland High school, Phoenix grade school, McLoughlin and Hedrick Junior High schools in Medford, Crater High school in Central Point, Rogue River school and Shady Cove school.

Purchasers of the coupons are asked to fill them out before going to the clinics to eliminate waiting in line. Coupons for minors must be signed by a parent or guardian.

Each set of coupons carries a form to be filled out for the vaccine recipient to give to his family doctor as a part of his permanent medical record.

The coupons are $1 for the series of three doses or a maximum of $5 for a family, and are on sale at all pharmacies in the county, Prospect store, Butte Falls General Store, Town and Country Market in Eagle Point and the Hub store in Rogue River. Coupons also will be available at the clinics.

Five-Year Voyage To Trace Ancient Migration Started

Redondo Beach, Calif.—(UPI)—A crew of six men and two women were drifting down the Southern California coast today aboard the $50,000 raft Lehi V on the first leg of an 18,000 mile, five-year voyage around the world.

The 20-by-40-foot raft was towed to sea from King Harbor here Saturday and set adrift in the Japanese Current. The first stop was scheduled to be San Diego, Calif., some 125 miles south of here.

The head of the expedition is Capt. De Vere Baker, 46, who said the purpose of the voyage was to attempt to trace an ancient tribe believed to have settled in Central America some 2,000 years ago after drifting from Israel on rafts borne by ocean currents.

Baker, a Mormon elder, said the Lehi V would go through the Panama Canal, draft to New York City, and then go across the Atlantic to Europe. It will pass through the Suez Canal before arriving at a point in the Persian Gulf where it will trace the voyage of the ancient Jewish tribe through the Indian Ocean, China Sea and Pacific Ocean.

Also aboard the raft are Baker's wife, Nona, 43, and first mate Joseph Seafert, 63, and his wife; first mate Donald McFarland, bacteriologist Donald Johnson, 48; Seafert's son-in-law, Ed Halfacre, 26, a Long Beach State College student.

Duncan Discusses Lumber, Dunes Park On Washington Trip

By A. ROBERT SMITH
Mail Tribune Washington Correspondent

Washington—Oregon House Speaker Robert B. Duncan visited with President Kennedy at the White House today and said he discussed Oregon's lumber industry problems with members of the presidential staff. The Medford congressional candidate didn't indicate what position the administration will take on various pending bills in the Congress designed to relieve lumber distress.

Duncan also talked with Interior Secretary Stewart Udall about the Oregon Dunes park controversy to suggest a compromise. He suggested that the park be limited to the area between the ocean and the coast highway, excluding the inland lakes and private homes which surround them.

"It could be extended as far as Coos Bay, so it needn't be any smaller than the original park proposal," Duncan added.

Duncan told Udall he favored administration by the National Park Service. He said the cabinet officer thought the idea "showed constructive thinking," apparently because Udall is searching for some middle-ground on which to resolve the park dispute. Udall has been unable to get White House support for the larger and more controversial plan, including inland lakes, championed by Sen. Maurice Neuberger.

The Medford legislator said he hoped Gov. Mark Hatfield would "get behind this because it will draw substantial local support."

Duncan came to Washington to attend a meeting of the advisory commission on intergovernmental relations, to which President Kennedy appointed him last month. The commission includes three cabinet members, six members of Congress, three state legislators, four mayors and four county officials from all over the country.

Duncan said he urged attention to the water rights implications of the Pelton Dam case for ranchers and farmers and a study of the adequacy of state workmen's compensation laws and their enforcement.

UAW Expected To Demand Negroes in All Public Schools

Atlantic City, N. J.—(UPI)—The United Auto Workers Union was expected to demand today that Congress pass a law requiring every public school in the nation to admit Negroes this fall.

The proposal was contained in a wide-ranging civil rights resolution prepared for approval by delegates at the UAW's 18th convention.

It said 2,000 school districts in the United States still operate segregated schools eight years after the Supreme Court decision calling for integration with all deliberate speed. Two million Negro children are denied access to equal educational opportunities, it added.

"This is the hour of democracy's great decision," the resolution said. "We must find the way to complete democracy's unfinished business at home while continuing to struggle for freedom in the world."

The resolution also urged

President Kennedy to sign an executive order abolishing discrimination in federally aided housing and schools. It also said the AFL-CIO must put its own house in order by insisting that affiliated unions eliminate racial barriers to membership.

Meanwhile, the convention was poised to throw the full weight of the million-member union behind the drive for legislation to provide medical care for the aged under social security.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther, taking note of a "doctors' revolt" against the legislation in New Jersey, declared such action was "stupid and irresponsible."

He said pledges by doctors not to care for patients who might benefit by the medical care programs were certain to boom around and provide more votes for Kennedy's proposal in Congress this year.

The 2,800 delegates also will be asked this week to reject a key part of the Kennedy administration formula for wage restraint.

A policy statement approved by the resolutions committee declared that pay increases must exceed and not be limited by, normal gains in productivity.

It said wage boosts of more than 2.5 to 3 per cent, the ceilings generally advocated by Kennedy's Council of Economic Advisors, must be ignored for the short-range future to bolster consumer demand and avoid recessions.

Fantani Government Declared in Danger

Rome—(UPI)—The five-day parliamentary battle that ended with the election of Antonio Segni as Italian president could cause the fall of Premier Amintore Fanfani's coalition government, observers said today.

Segni, foreign minister in Fanfani's cabinet and a Christian Democrat like the premier, was chosen Sunday on the ninth ballot to succeed Giovanni Gronchi as president. No previous election had gone beyond four ballots.

Fist fights broke out after the eighth ballot and the voting was recessed two hours to let tempers cool.

Schick, who takes over the state post about July 1, is parks director for the city of Salem and Marion and Polk counties.

Schick, 40, has had a long career in the park systems of Oregon and Michigan. He has been regional director of parks for Salem and the two counties since October, 1959. Before that he was with the resource development department of Michigan State university.

French Riot Police Fight Infuriated Moslem Crowd

Terrorists Kill Women; Explode Plastic Bombs

Attempts To Stall Independence Seen

Algiers—(UPI)—French riot police late today fought back an estimated 300 Moslems who tried to storm out of the Algiers Casbah brandishing iron bars in an outburst of fury against European terrorist attacks.

The mob massed after Secret Army Organization terrorists killed more Moslem women in the streets and exploded four plastic bombs on the fringes of the big Casbah Arab quarter.

The day's toll in the terrorist incidents, mostly in Algiers, was at least 16 killed and 21 wounded, bringing the total since Jan. 1 to 4,321 killed and 8,745 wounded.

Panic spread among Europeans in nearby streets as the Moslem mob crashed through barred wire barriers into Government Square, on the edge of the European city, in the first mass Moslem response to OAS provocation in Algiers.

Youth, Beaten, Killed
Hundreds of riot police helped by special Moslem FLN agents dispersed the crowd, but not before the seething Moslems had beat and killed a European youth.

Earlier today European terrorists killed two more Moslem women in what was believed to be a campaign to provoke the population into breaking the shaky Algerian truce.

The victims raised to five the number of Moslem women killed by extremists since the week end.

Deliberate Move
It was the first time that the Secret Army Organization killers have deliberately sought out Moslem women.

The attacks appeared to be another attempt by the OAS to goad the Moslems into bloody reprisals and bring about French troop intervention, stalling Algerian independence.

French troops, determined to halt the terror attacks before they succeeded in disrupting the peace, cordoned off a 12-block area of downtown Algiers today and staged a hunt for OAS commandos and weapons.

It was the third such search in the past four days.

Polaris Submarine Launches Missile
Washington—(UPI)—The United States has successfully test fired its first operational ballistic missile with a live nuclear warhead from a Polaris submarine beneath the Pacific.

The atomic explosion, fifth in the U.S. atmospheric series, was set off at 7:45 p.m. (EDT) Sunday in the Christmas Island area. It was the first missile-carried nuclear weapon tested by this country.

The Polaris was launched from the Ethan Allen, one of the nation's fleet of nuclear-powered submarines each capable of carrying 16 such missiles.

The Atomic Energy commission did not disclose the distance the missile traveled or the altitude of the detonation. But it was believed to have been a full-range test of the 1,200-mile Polaris.

President Gets Faster 'Copter

Washington—(UPI)—President Kennedy has been assigned a bigger, speedier helicopter and plans to use it Tuesday to fly to Atlantic City to address the AFL-CIO United Auto Workers.

The President previously has used helicopters mainly for flights to and from downtown areas to airports where he has switched to winged aircraft.

Big Gen. Godfrey T. McHugh, the President's Air Force aide, said Kennedy would make Tuesday's flight in a twin-turbine Sikorsky helicopter. It is similar in appearance to the single-engine ones he has used in the past but is much larger, faster and is considered safer.

State To Relocate Navy Bomb Range

Heppner—(UPI)—The state of Oregon within the next few days will start relocating the Navy's Boardman bombing range, Sam Mallicoat, director of the State Department of Planning and Development, said today.

Mallicoat told the Heppner Chamber of Commerce relocation of the Navy was one of the final steps necessary to give Boeing Co. of Seattle occupancy of a 100,000-acre tract for testing and research work.

The Navy will be moved to the eastern part of the Boardman range. Authority for the move was granted last week by the Defense Department, Mallicoat said.

The Navy will have approximately 48,000 acres plus a flight corridor.

Senator Recalls Belief Infante Being Discharged

Francis Reminds Nilsen of Meeting

Dayton, Ore.—(UPI)—State Sen. Carl Francis (R-Dayton) said today that State Labor Commissioner Norman O. Nilsen gave him the impression in 1958 that Mark M. Infante was being fired, but then Nilsen didn't do it.

Francis and Nilsen—among others—have been feuding in recent weeks over the hiring of Infante in 1957 as an inspector of migrant worker conditions in Nilsen's department.

Infante ruled up a number of Oregon farmers and left the labor bureau in 1960.

It has since been determined that Infante had a police record, although Nilsen and the Oregon Civil Service Commission indicated they didn't know this when he was hired.

Nilsen said Infante left for a better paying job. The Oregon Farm Bureau says Infante was fired—and properly so.

Meeting Recalled
In a letter to Nilsen released today, Francis said "have you forgotten our meeting in my office which we had, at which time I related to you the disturbing information I had about Infante? I really believed after you left my office that you were leaving to discharge him."

Francis said the "disturbing information" involved some Mexican migrant workers who got into trouble with the law in western Oregon, an area where Infante was operating.

"Whether these individuals were victims of Infante's machinations is perhaps moot at this time," Francis said.

U. S., Great Britain Confer on Laos

Washington—(UPI)—The State Department said today it is consulting with Britain "in an immediate effort to have the cease fire re-established" in Laos.

At the same time the United States repeated its charge that the week end Communist seizure of Nam Tha, a provincial capital of 4,500 in northern Laos, was a "serious violation" of the cease-fire that had been in effect since May, 1961.

U.S. officials said they had no reports of continued fighting today.

Officials also said that after studying second day reports they still had no confirmation of rumors that Chinese Communist troops participated in the action at Nam Tha or at nearby Moung Sing earlier in the week end.

France Explodes Nuclear Device

Paris—(UPI)—France set off an underground nuclear test explosion in the Sahara May 1, a spokesman for Defense Minister Pierre Messmer said today.

The Paris afternoon newspaper Le Monde said the blast was in the "weak medium range."

Pro-Communist Forces Capture Three Outposts

Second Offensive Said Taking Shape

Vientiane, Laos—(UPI)—A high Laotian government official said today that Soviet aircraft already are landing payloads of supplies for pro-Communist forces in newly captured Nam Tha and Moung Sing in northern Laos.

Acting Foreign Secretary Sisouk Na Champassak said the Red sweep through the two northwestern towns near the Chinese Communist border would have "formidable political consequences." He added that a second Communist offensive was shaping up in southern Laos.

Outposts Captured
Sisouk told a news conference that pro-Communist forces had captured three outposts east, north and west of the southern Laotian provincial capital of Saravane and had cut one of two important roads leading from the town.

The royal government official insisted that Nam Tha was taken Sunday by forces which included four battalions from Red China's 43rd Division and seven battalions from Communist North Viet Nam.

Sisouk said occupation of Nam Tha was an "insult" to American diplomats who had received personal promises from the pro-Communist rebel leaders that the town would not be taken.

Critical of United States
He lashed out at the United States for allegedly trusting Russia's ability to keep the pro-Communist elements in Laos under control.

"What can we say about our friends who have confidence in the Communists?" Sisouk asked angrily.

Sisouk's outburst was the first top level reaction here to the rebel thrusts because the entire inner circle of the Laotian government was out of the country when Nam Tha fell, seeking outside support against the cut-off of U.S. financial aid.

Sisouk, who rushed back here today said that he had received "confirmation" that further cuts in American assistance had been planned for early this month if his government did not enter into a coalition with the pro-Communist and neutral rebels in Laos.
