Germany Convicts U.S. Businessman

Karlsruhe, Germany—(UPI)—American businessman Harold Noah Borger was convicted today of attempting to spy for Communist East Germany and sentenced to two and one-half years in prison.

Borger, 42, who was born in New York City but has lived for several years in Europe, was the first American sentenced for espionage by a West German court. He was tried by the Supreme Court here, which handles major espionage cases.

The former Air Force major had pleaded not guilty to the charges. He said he came to Germany to buy television cable for an American firm and went to Communist East Germany on business.

But the court found him guilty of having served as an agent of the East German military intelligence from February, 1960.

He was convicted largely on the testimony of an East German defector, Guenther Maenel, who was a top official of the Communist intelligence before he fled to the West several months ago.

Five American soldiers, all stationed near Nuernberg, testified during the trial that Borger tried to obtain military data from them, including details of an evacuation plan for U.S. military dependents and information on atomic warfare plans.

Ike Concerned by Concentration of Presidential Power

Washington—(UPI)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower expressed concern today over growing concentration of federal power and said the trend poses the "real threat to liberty in this republic."

In a Capitol Hill news conference, the former president cited five current proposals for increasing presidential powers. He said the objectives underlying many of them are noncontroversial but disputed the need for more presidential power.

"I believe the problem of the presidency is rarely an inadequacy of power. Ordinarily the problem is to use the already enormous power of the presidency judiciously, temperately and wisely," Eisenhower said.

Eisenhower met the press in the Senate Caucus Room after conferring with Republican Senate and House leaders. He said the discussions "ranged the spectrum of governmental concerns from foreign affairs to pressing problems here at home."

Attacks Heavy Spending

In the field of domestic affairs, he specifically listed what he called strenuous efforts by the Kennedy administration to "increase greatly the power of the executive branch" and the administration's "insistence upon increasingly heavy spending on all fronts."

His opening statement, however, dealt largely with the question of concentration of power in the federal government. He said:

"It has long been my judgment that the real threat to liberty in this republic will come not from any sudden, calculated assault; rather, the threat to our liberties will be primarily found in a steady erosion of self-reliant citizenship, and in excessive power concentration, resulting from the lodging of more and more decisions in an ever-growing federal bureaucracy."

Cites Five Proposals

The five Kennedy administration proposals cited by Eisenhower were the administration's request for:

1. "Authority for the President to modify income taxes whenever he should so decide;
2. "Authority for the President to finance, wherever and whenever he pleases, large-scale emergency public works by diversion of funds dedicated to the other purposes by the Congress;
3. "Authority to regiment all agriculture, more sweeping and repressive than any authority ever before sought over any segment of the nation's economy;
4. "Authority for the federal bureaucracy to take over a whole host of state and local responsibilities, notably including the proposal for a Department of Urban Affairs;
5. "Authority to dilute the independence of the Federal Reserve Board by presidential appointment of its chairman."

Eisenhower, tanned and looking fit after a long winter vacation in California, planned morning and afternoon meetings with the party's Capitol Hill leaders.

Mystery Hill Caves May Outdate Vikings

North Salem, N.H.—(UPI)—Mystery Hill caves here have intrigued residents of the area for hundreds of years.

Only theory is the caves date from pre-Viking era explorers. The caverns contain basements, walkways and what appear to have been sacrificial platforms. Route 28 straight north from Boston to Canobie Lake, where you turn right.

Cadillac

No place to tell a secret!

Take it from us, you'd better not try to exchange confidences in a new 1962 Cadillac.

For the car is so silent in operation—even at the legal limit of the road—that even a whisper can be heard.

But while that wondrous quiet might make it difficult to trade secrets—it speaks volumes about motor car quality and goodness.

For the silence of the Cadillac car is as unique as the circumstances that produce it.

Cadillac cars, for instance, are built in only one place—and they are built by men who build nothing else.

They are crafted to unbelievably fine tolerances. Some engine parts must be machined to an accuracy of one ten-thousandth of an inch.

They are styled so scientifically that wind noise is reduced to a lullaby—and they are constructed so well and insulated so thoroughly that outside sounds are virtually eliminated.

They undergo more than 1400 inspections in the course of their manufacture and assembly—and are then subjected to the most authoritative final inspection in the industry.

You ought to visit your Cadillac dealer soon and sample the results for yourself. And while you're at the wheel—listen to the eloquent quiet.

It's one more example of why only a car that's designed like a Cadillac and built like a Cadillac can ride like a Cadillac.
