

BUILT FOR TWO—Gary Yeager and his sister Sheila of Hornbrook ride a sort of bicycle built for two—a tandem bicycle that Gary built. Gary, a freshman at Yreka High school, and Sheila, seventh grader at Hornbrook elementary, are two of the nine children of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Downey.

"EENY, MEENY . . ."—Martha, a sheep owned by Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Buck of Applegate Valley is the proud mother of triplet lambs, Eeny, Meeny and Moe. When this photo was taken, the little ones were doing fine at the age of three weeks. They're fed by bottle every two-and-a-half hours and have an egg in their milk every day and, mind you, their own vitamin pill daily. Moe is mottled and a little darker than the other two, but for awhile nobody could distinguish between Eeny and Meeny, so one of them wore an X drawn with lipstick for identification. Earle Jossy, county agent, says triplets among sheep are not really rare but that only one ewe in 50 or 100 will have them.

Regional Roundup

by Cleve Twitchell
Mail Tribune Regional Editor

About four years ago a group of 51 women in Josephine county got together for a course in light rescue work. They enjoyed it so much that they decided to continue meeting periodically after the course had ended. Today, the group, known as the Calamity Janes, is a unique type of Civil defense organization. Ted Plummer, Josephine County Civil Defense director, says that to his knowledge it's the only women's civil defense organization in existence.

The women meet once a month and go through training exercises, principally with the county's disaster truck. Forrest Gardner of the Grants Pass Fire department acts as instructor.

"It's a wonderful thing to have in connection with a civil defense operation," Plummer says of the Calamity Janes. The group can be used in any kind of an emergency, he points out, not necessarily one resulting from an enemy attack.

To date, the Calamity Janes organization has not had to be called upon in any type of an emergency, Plummer said. But it has participated in a number of practice exercises. Just last Thursday it cooperated with other county and city agencies in handling a mock chemistry explosion at Grants Pass High school in which some 40 "injured" students were taken to the hospital.

Advertising From Gold Hill

I paid my first visit to the Gold Hill Chamber of Commerce last Thursday night, attending a dinner meeting called for the purpose of initiating cooperative advertising by Gold Hill area merchants on the regional page. Quite a few of them indicated an interest in going ahead with the idea.

While there, I was shown a copy of the new Gold Hill chamber brochure, pointing out the scenic sights and other merits of the area. The five-year-old daughter of Chamber President Richard Abbott, I am told, remarked after reading the brochure about her home town, "Gee, I'd like to go there someday."

Colorful Ballots

I hadn't been a resident of Oregon long enough to vote Friday, but I managed to participate to the extent of picking up the returns from the three Talent area precincts.

I was intrigued to see the sample ballots with candidates' slogans next to each name. This was something new to me. I wonder if candidates hire public relations firms to come up with a slogan designed to have a last minute psychological effect on the voters just as he gets ready to mark his X.

I also got a kick out of the requirement that political advertising include the name of whoever paid for the ad. Somehow I find it slightly hilarious to see an ad that proclaims "Joe Blow is the greatest guy in the world" and then in small type at the bottom "Paid for by Joe Blow."

'Cave City' Idea Is Stymied Again

Cave Junction — Another effort to change the name of Cave Junction to Cave City has been stymied, at least temporarily.

The city council last Monday denied a petition to put the issue on the ballot. Eldwood Hussey, perennial campaigner for the name change, failed to word the heading of his petition properly and did not comply with other legal technicalities, City Attorney Laurence Cushing said.

Twenty registered voters must sign the petition and only 14 of the signers were legally accepted by the council.

Elections on the question of changing Cave Junction to Cave City have become something of a habit here over a period of years. The proposal was defeated in 1958 by 64 to 39.

In other action, the council accepted the resignation of Watermaster A. J. Drews and appointed Herb Falkenhayen to the post. The resignation of Hal T. Ward from the planning commission also was accepted.

Installation of mercury vapor street lights was discussed but no action was taken, pending further studies.

Elected President

Williams — Shirley Sowell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Sowell, Williams and junior at Grants Pass High school, has been elected president of Future Medical Workers of America for the 1962-1963 school year term.

She has been active in the JANS (Junior volunteer hospital aides) performing duties at the Josephine General hospital, Grants Pass.

Hornbrook Girl Wins Scholarship

Hornbrook — Miss Patricia MacKinnon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John MacKinnon of Hornbrook, on Thursday was notified she had been awarded a $400 scholarship to the college of her choice by the California Farm Bureau.

Pat was one of 327 applicants in the state for the scholarship, and was one of 17 students who were called to Berkeley, Calif., last week end for personal interviews. Of the 17, she was one of five selected to receive the award.

Earlier this spring, Miss MacKinnon earned the Bank of America Achievement award in the field of liberal arts, also a Rotary club scholarship, and last week was named the winner of the Outstanding Student award in the program sponsored statewide by the California Savings and Loan League.

She received a cash award and an engraved medallion, signifying leadership in scholastic achievements and extra-curricular activities. She has also been chosen salutatorian of her Yreka High school graduating class.

Locally, Pat is an active member of the Methodist church, where she is a member of the official board and of the choir, and is active in Sunday school work. She plans to enter Chico State college in the fall to prepare for a teaching career.

Annual Visitation for Future 1st Graders Set

Eagle Point — The annual visitation day for all children who will be six years old on or before November 15, 1962 and who will be starting school in September has been scheduled for May 23 at the Eagle Point Grade school.

All beginning first grade children may ride the school bus to school and report to the gymnasium for grouping at 8:30 a.m.

Lunch will be served free of charge to the youngsters at 10:45. Hot dogs, potato salad, buttered green beans, peaches and milk will be served.

Since there is no transportation provided at 11:30 a.m. at which time the children will be dismissed, parents are asked to make arrangements for their child's transportation home.

Coffee and doughnuts will be served to parents in the gymnasium at 11 a.m. Parents will have the opportunity of meeting Mr. Ralph Humphrey, Mrs. Leroy Beddingfield the new Parent Teacher Association president; and the following first grade teachers Mrs. Vera Selby, Mrs. Mabel Copley and Mrs. Charlotte Wisely.

A MATTER OF VIEWPOINT

To some funeral directors, the knight-and-shield symbol of the Order is simply the emblem of one of the older and more highly regarded of the several professional organizations in the field.

To members of the Order of the Golden Rule, the symbol is at once a challenge, a responsibility, and a source of justifiable pride. It is a challenge because the right to use the symbol demands the best that a man can offer. It is a responsibility because each member must so conduct himself that he reflects credit not only upon himself, but upon all other members as well. It is a source of pride because each member knows how carefully he was screened before his application for membership was accepted.

Most important of all, however, is the viewpoint of the general public—your viewpoint!

No matter where you may be, no matter what the time or circumstance, no matter how limited your means may be, the symbol is to you an assurance of service truly . . . measured not by gold, but by the Golden Rule.

It is with humble pride, and a spirit of rededication to the lofty principles of the Order that we announce now that we have again qualified, for another year, as the member of the Order in this community.
