

Milk Dealers' Bid for Price Cut Rejected

Salem-AP-The Oregon Agriculture department has rejected a bid by milk dealers to cut the amount they pay to milk farmers. Also denied was their request for Portland dealers to withdraw from the large milk area created by the department last month.

The decision was handed down by Kenneth W. Sawyer, administrator of the 1961 producer milk stabilization act.

The petitioners were the Portland Milk and Ice Cream Dealers association, and 13 individual milk dealers.

The dealers now pay producers $5.72 per 100 pounds of milk and wanted this cut by 12 cents in the Portland-Salem milk shed, and in Central Oregon. They also sought cuts in dealer prices to producers in Eugene, Corvallis and Roseburg.

Based on Hearing

Sawyer's decision was based on a hearing here May 14 attended by several hundred dairymen.

Dealers said they had to have the cut because they were losing money. There were complaints about milk from upstate Washington cutting into Vancouver, Wash., traditionally a market for Portland suppliers.

Oregon milk farmers fought the petition and said dealer losses are due to discounts and rebates they give to retailers, and other factors.

Sawyer said these arguments could be resolved "only by a complete fiscal audit." He added that Washington state milk, in Seattle for instance, has dropped recently by a cut in federal price supports.

Halffield Urges

Opposition To Bill

Salem-AP-Gov. Mark Hatfield has sent telegrams to the four Oregon members of the U.S. House urging them to oppose a Senate bill that Hatfield said would "seriously restrict the use of youth in the harvest of our crops."

It appears there haven't been adequate hearings on the legislation, the governor said.

The bill, which has passed the Senate, would impose new restrictions on the hiring of those between 12 and 14 who help with the Oregon harvest when school lets out.

Hatfield sent the telegram in response to a plea by a group of Dayton farmers and others who said the proposed act would cripple the harvest in Yamhill county, where farmers rely on youngsters from Portland and the coast to help out. The bill would restrict locations of where 12- to 14-year olds could work.
