Hatfield Names Paul Kliever as Adjutant General

Salem—Brig. Gen. Paul L. Kliever, Salem, Tuesday was appointed Oregon Adjutant General by Gov. Mark Hatfield to succeed Gen. Alfred E. Hintz who died last week of a heart seizure. Kliever, 52 and a native of Aberdeen, Idaho, has been Oregon's assistant adjutant general since 1959. He takes over immediately. Kliever began his military career by enlisting as a private in the 162nd Infantry in Dallas, Ore., in 1930. He was promoted from colonel to brigadier general last year. The governor's office said it was not certain about whether Kliever would take over command of the 41st infantry division. The 41st is made up of National Guard units from both Oregon and Washington, and the command rotates between the two states. When Hintz died he was the 41st commander. The acting commander now is Brig. Gen. Ralph Phelps, Spokane, Wash. Kliever's elevation creates a vacancy for assistant Oregon adjutant general. Kliever said he has this appointment under advisement.

Talk of Possible Tax Reduction Seen Premature

Washington—UPI—Talk of a possible tax cut to stimulate the economy appeared premature today even though some of the talk came from high administration officials. The Kennedy administration was keeping a close watch on the economy in the wake of the wild gyrations of the stock market during the last few days. Politicians had little doubt that President Kennedy would call for a quick cut in income taxes, if his economic advisers should conclude that the stock market situation heralds the beginning of a recession. A significant boost in unemployment would threaten to imperil Democratic prospects in next November's congressional elections. Some Recovery Made
But Kennedy's top economic advisers are insisting that the economy is in good shape. This view was strongly espoused Tuesday by Chairman Walter Heller of the President's Council of Economic Advisers in a talk to a private gathering of congressional Democrats. "The ironic thing" about the stock market's tumble, Heller told them, is that it occurred "when all the indicators on the economic front were moving up... not a little bit but moving up rapidly."

Huss Talk Halted at Monmouth Campus

Monmouth—UPI—A talk by Walter Huss, director of the anti-communist Freedom Center in Portland, was halted here Tuesday night when Huss criticized Oregon College of Education administrator Ellis Stebbins. The talk was interrupted by Leland Hess, an OCE social science instructor who was acting as moderator of a question and answer session.

Past Discoverer satellites have carried highly sophisticated instruments packages for mapping, navigation and gathering other experimental data for man-in-space programs.

Cries of 'Fix' Start as Odds on Longshot Dropped

Damage Figured At $100,000

Yonkers, N.Y.—UPI—Nearly 1,000 trotting track fans yelling "fix" rioted at Yonkers Raceway Tuesday night, forcing cancellation of the last race and causing an estimated $100,000 damage.

The management of the raceway, one of the most modern and beautiful in the country, refunded all bets on the ninth race which was called shortly before midnight when hundreds of fans invaded the track. Bettors got back about $265,000.

The disturbance began when a rush of betting money dropped the odds on a longshot horse, Miss Chief Moken from 10 to 1 to 5 to 2 shortly before the starting bell for the eighth race. Miss Chief Moken hadn't won a race since last November.

Volume Increases
Boiling started as the tote board showed the diminishing odds. It rose in volume as the race began with Miss Chief Moken in the lead. There was a roar of anger as the longshot finished two and one half lengths in the lead, paying $7.30.

At intermission hundreds of fans lined the track fence shouting disapproval. One man, identified as James Green, New York, burst through the fence beckoning the other men to follow. He was hit by the mobile starting gate which was rolling at 35 miles an hour. The horses got off to a jumbled start and were ordered off the track at the quarter post.

Beer Cans Tossed
The crowd of 31,054 in the stands rained beer cans onto the track, striking the departing horses. Hundreds more angry fans streamed onto the track and set dozens of small bundles of programs and other papers afire.

They ran riot, burning many tribune seats and attempting to set the ultra-modern structure itself afire. Others tore down concessions stands and burned them, wrecking bars, scattered food and china and pulled down light stanchions. Bricks were heaved through windows, fences demolished and tote boards smashed.

Riot Alarm Sounded
The track's 66 private detectives were unable to restore order and sent out a riot alarm to city, state and parkway police and to fire and police departments in neighboring communities. More than 100 authorities responded and quelled the riot.

Police arrested three persons, including Green, for inciting a riot and another man for felonious assault on a policeman. Green was sent to a hospital where his condition was listed as fair.

Pageant Finalist

Indianapolis, Ind.—UPI—A spectacular four-car smashup coming out of the northwest turn into the home straightway today thrilled a vast crowd of nearly 250,000 early in the 500-mile auto race. The crash began when Turner's car went astray coming out of the turn, banging into the inside wall and almost flipping over. Robb, Christie and Crowe all smacked into the wreckage and three of the cars almost blocked the track.

PAVING STARTED—Paving of the section of Interstate 5 freeway from Seven Oaks to Jackson st. in Medford got under way this week as crews, operating a "train" of huge paving machines, laid 1,700 feet of the new roadway. When going full swing, they will put down about three quarters of a mile a day. The picture above, taken from the Seven Oaks overpass looking toward Medford, shows a section of the new paving as it looked yesterday morning. The northbound lane is being paved first and the southbound lane will be paved on the return trip. The machine in the foreground, which appears to make the pavement lighter in color, is applying a curing compound that keeps moisture from evaporating too quickly.

Americans Honor War Dead; Autos Clog Highways

By United Press International
Americans honored their war dead today and took to the highways to enjoy the first spring holiday at parks, beaches and mountains.

For some, the Memorial Day holiday was their last. During the early hours of the holiday, highways leading away from major cities were clogged with the mass exodus to the country.

In Maryland, five persons were killed outright when their car missed a curve along Maryland 416 at Sunderland and crashed into a tree. California reported eight dead, Ohio four and New York and Nebraska three each.

120 Deaths Predicted
The National Safety Council said that holiday traffic could claim 120 lives during the 30 hours between 6 p.m. local time Tuesday night and midnight tonight.

At 9:30 a.m. (PST) a United Press International count showed that 42 persons had been killed in traffic accidents since the holiday began. The breakdown: traffic 42, drownings 5 and miscellaneous 3, for a total of 50.

Wall Street Uses Holiday To Counsel Befuddled Patrons

New York—UPI—Wall Street was able to assume a holiday mood today and used the Memorial Day breather to clean up from the most frenetic trading in 33 years.

Investors Tuesday recovered more than $13.5 billion of the paper values lost on Monday and checked a downward trend of six days in spectacular fashion.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange, the nation's largest securities trading mart, was 14,750,000 shares. Brokers were happy to give up leisure time today to staff their offices and provide counsel for befuddled patrons.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks ended at 603.96, up 27.03 points on the day, a recovery of about 70 per cent of the 34.95 point drop Monday. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index was 58.08, up 2.58.

But it was hours after the gong sounded to end trading to the cheers of investors on the floor, before the statistics could be assembled.

Gospel Mission to Move Its Location

The Medford Gospel Mission, 33 South Front st., is expected to move from that location sometime within the next three weeks, mission officials reported today.

The structure, which has housed the mission since it was started here in March, 1959, will be razed in June along with several other buildings on Front st. between Main and Eighth sts. to make way for a Park and Shop lot. The final building to be torn down will be Otto's Tavern, 39 South Front st., which will be demolished after Nov. 3, when the lease expires, according to Fred Robinson, Park and Shop officials.

Although mission officials would not announce immediate plans at this time, it was learned that a lease is being negotiated on a structure on North Grape st. between Sixth and Main sts.

A campaign is under way to construct a mission on property on North Front st. near Third st. The new structure is not expected to be completed until sometime in 1963.

Pierce Freight Sale Announced

Salem—UPI—Jonel C. Hill, Oregon Public Utility Commissioner, Tuesday authorized Valley Motor Lines of California to take over the Oregon operating rights of Pierce Freight Lines, Portland. A spokesman for the veteran Pierce Lines said the firm is going out of the trucking business.

Valley Motor's new permit allows service along U.S. 99 between Portland and the California border. Hill said Valley Motor is also acquiring Pierce's entire fleet of 350 vehicles and other equipment.

Beekman Home In Jacksonville Opens to Public

Jacksonville—About 75 persons attended ceremonies at the official opening of the old C. C. Beekman home in Jacksonville this morning.

The home of the early-day Jacksonville banker will be open each week end until schools in the county close for vacation, then it will be open daily.

Officials of Jacksonville and the Siskiyou Pioneer Sites Foundation, which is sponsoring the home, were disappointed in the small initial crowd, but hoped more people visit the home today.

Arrival of Stage

The opening was preceded by the arrival of George McOne's mule-drawn stage coach carrying the four Jackson county dairy princess contestants, Barbara Gysin, Coal Mine rd., Medford; Karen Jossey, Eagle Point; Georgia Hubbard, Eagle Point; and Connie McDonough, Sam's Valley.

They were introduced and gave brief talks on their dairy farm backgrounds and the need for promotion of the dairy industry.

Jack Sutton, Grants Pass, president of the Siskiyou Pioneer Sites Foundation, briefly related the background of Beekman as the first successful banker in southern Oregon. He served as Jacksonville agent for Wells Fargo and company from 1863 to his death in 1915.

County Commissioner Chester Wendt explained the one-year temporary lease of the home from the University of Oregon. "It (the home) is valuable to Jacksonville county and to Jacksonville," he noted.

Eichmann Asks President Of Israel To Spare Life

Jerusalem, Israel—UPI—Government sources said today former Nazi SS officer Adolf Eichmann has asked President Itzhak Ben-Zvi to spare him from hanging for his part in the wartime slaughter of six millions Jews. The sources apparently thus scotched earlier reports that Eichmann was resigned to going to the gallows and would not seek a presidential reprieve. (In Rome, Eichmann's attorney, Roberto Servattini, arrived from Jerusalem and said he had "presented this morning a request for clemency for Eichmann to the President of Israel." He declined further comment.)

The sources said Eichmann signed a four-page clemency petition just before his transfer to Ramle prison. They said the plea was "written in Eichmann's own hand."
