Table Rock - Mr. and Mrs. Don Gardner, who have operated a meat processing and locker rental business for the past nine years near four corners, are closing the locker business on June 1. The reason given is that there are now too many home freezers to compete with. Lockers require much electricity to maintain the low temperature needed, also extra help is needed on week ends. The slaughtering, processing, wrapping, and curing meats will continue as usual, also the wholesaling and retailing of meats.

The smudging season, which is very likely over for this season, was one of the cleanest we have ever experienced locally. Whether it was brought about by the new pots in some orchards, or the wind, coming mostly from the west, while cats, sheep, and white-faced cattle were not blackened as has been the case during the orchard heating period. So far we have heard no complaints from housewives about the drapes and interior of dwelling being "just simply ruined." If the orchardists had anything to do with this we offer our congratulations.

New Director Elected

Harold Holloway, is the new director elected at the business meeting of the Antioch Cemetery Assn. held Wednesday at the cemetery grounds. Other business transacted included voting to apply for a water right from the Rogue River Development Basin.

Among the many who come out once a year to put flowers on the graves, we heard this expression many times, "I haven't seen you for ages." At the Central Point cemetery, we met many folks we knew many years ago, among them were Bill and Carl VonderHellen, and noticed that Carl don't have as much zip as he did some 30 years ago, but still clings to his old country custom of kissing the ladies hands. We remember when we occupied a seat in the court house, Carl used to come in from his farm and make the rounds kissing the hands of the lady clerks when they attempted to shake hands with him. A young lady in the school superintendent's office had been a victim several times, and we were passing her office when it happened again. She looked him over and said, "Do you have to do that?" Carl looked rather puzzled.

Some 60 persons turned out Saturday for the annual cleanup day at the Antioch cemetery. There were plenty of tools and willing hands to use them. Lawn mowers were skillfully operated by ladies who zipped around so fast that a person had to be on his toes or run the risk of being run over.

Mrs. Norma Moreland taught the Bible class at the local Sunday school last Sunday. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Elder of this community.

Elgin Robinson of Oakland, Calif., visited with home folks last week end at the E. E. Robinson home.

The Table Rock store is now operating its fountain where milk shakes, ice cream, hamburgers, coffee, and pop, and such, can be had on short notice.

Crater High School Baccalaureate Service Set Sunday

Central Point - Baccalaureate service will be held for the Crater High Senior class Sunday at the high school. Invocation will be given by the Rev. Paul Kroon. The choir will sing "O Holy Lord," and "Listen To The Lambs." A sermon "Springs in the Desert" will be given by the Rev. Lochlen Gregory.

"All In The April Evening," by Robertson, will be sung by Ruth Stiehl, Elwin Paulson, Beth Wilcox and Mike Shelley.

The Benediction will be given by Rev. Mr. Kroon.

Richard Hertager Wins OSU Scholarship

Eagle Point - Richard Hertager, an Eagle Point High school senior, has been awarded a four-year industrial arts scholarship to Oregon State University, Rick Traylor, principal, announced today.

The scholarship, worth $100 a year for four years, was awarded by the Oregon Industrial Arts association. Hertager is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hertager, P.O. Box 171.

VILLAGE TO OPEN—George McUine digs the bean pit for baked beans to be served Saturday when Pioneer Village has its grand opening. Mrs. McUine, meanwhile, anticipates the hot coffee to be served during the all-day celebration.

Pioneer Village To Open Saturday

Jacksonville - Early day times will be relived in Jacksonville Saturday with the grand opening of the Pioneer village and stage station at the north entrance to town, according to George McUine, who, with Dick Carter and Walter Hilliard, owns the Jacksonville stage lines.

A top attraction of the day will be the beans served fresh from the hot ashes of the underground dutch ovens. Serving will be from noon until 3 p.m. and proceeds from the lunch will go toward restoration of Jacksonville.

Cooking of the beans will be supervised by Mrs. May Lowe of Talent, mother of Editor Bob Lowe of Jacksonville. Mrs. Wayne Maxon is chairman of a committee of local women assisting with the lunch sponsored by the Lady Lions of Jacksonville. The Campfire girls also will have a concession.

Ron Holloway of KWIN radio in Ashland will be master of ceremonies. Activities begin at 10 a.m. with a flag raising ceremony and parade at 10:30 led by the queen of the celebration, Miss Sue Griffin, daughter of Dr. p.m.

CUTTING THE RIBBON - Joan Cantrall cut the ribbon formally opening the Cantrall bridge last Sunday while Ross Youngblood, district manager of the Bureau of Land Management, looks on.

Many At Cantrall Bridge Dedication

Applegate Valley - A good representation of local people and visitors from other towns gathered Sunday afternoon to witness dedication of the Cantrall bridge across Big Applegate.

Joan Cantrall, eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Cantrall, clipped the ribbon formally opening the $48,000 bridge built by the Bureau of Land Management two years ago.

Dr. Arthur S. Taylor, chairman of the social science division, Southern Oregon college, gave the dedication address. Ross Youngblood, Medford district manager of the Bureau of Land Management, was master of ceremonies. Chairs were placed on the bridge where visitors sat to view the ceremony.

Rodney Keating of Ashland, former county judge and vice president of the O and C land grant committee, told of the time he presented to the Bureau of Land Management and to the county court, the problem of reaching timbered areas west of Ruch with the result that construction of the bridge was granted.

He referred to the bridge as "my bridge," and commended Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Cantrall for granting passage over their private property.

Frank Ross, president of Southern Oregon Pioneer society, paid tribute to the pioneers who were without bridges and first forded rivers over boulders, later using ferries. "They had no snorting bulldozers nor concrete," Ross said, "but would be pleased if they could see the progress of today."

He named a number of the pioneer families of the Applegate. Among descendants of these pioneers attending was Mrs. Edna Buck, who will be 90 in August.

The Rev. Earl Best, pastor of Ruch Community church, gave the invocation. Members of the county court introduced were County Judge Earl Miller, Chester Wendt and Ralph James, commissioners. Other members of the Bureau of Land Management staff, also introduced, were Richard Schlachter, technical district engineer, and A. P. Collins, realty officer, who arranged the dedication program, and also obtained easement rights.
