

Russia Hikes Food Prices; Says Move Caused by U.S.

Moscow—UPI—The Soviet government raised the prices of meat, butter and milk in Russia today because of shortages. It blamed the United States for the move.

An announcement from the Communist party, which controls the government, set the increase on meat at an average 30 per cent, and 25 per cent on butter. The increase in milk prices was not specified.

The notice was published in this morning's newspapers and broadcast over Moscow Radio. It sent housewives scurrying to stores to stock up on the scarce items.

The price boosts are aimed at stimulating the lagging production on collective and state farms, the announcement said.

Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev admitted at a Party central committee meeting in March that farm output goals for 1961 were far from fulfilled. He cited widespread deficiencies in grain, meat and dairy products, and warned that the farm failures were endangering the seven-year development plan.

Moscow Radio said this morning that more money is needed to stimulate farm production, and that state funds cannot be diverted from heavy industry and defense expenditures. It blamed American-led "international reaction" for the need to maintain defense development.

"The government considers it necessary to talk frankly about the difficulties which arise in supplying the cities with meat," the party announcement said. "It is easy to see that the difficulties in question were created by our fast economic growth."

Incur Losses

The party said that in order to cut down the losses incurred by the state "while selling meat, meat products and butter to the population," retail prices have been increased 31 per cent on beef, 34 per cent on mutton, 19 per cent on pork, 31 per cent on sausage products, and 25 per cent on butter.

In explaining the action, Moscow Radio said "the Soviet people eat and dress better every year. Nevertheless, the level of production of livestock is still insufficient."

The broadcast said the Soviet government had spent many millions of rubles to improve agriculture, but added that "in order to interest the collective farms materially in increasing livestock produce, there must be an increase in government purchasing prices for meat and butter."

Requires Funds

"But this requires enormous funds," it said. "These funds cannot be sought at the expense of defense potentials or industry."

"International reaction, with the U.S. in the lead, is now conducting a frenzied drive for armaments and is hatching plans for surprise nuclear and missile attacks on the U.S.S.R. and other socialist countries."

Reaction Hints Adolf Eichmann Deserved Fate

By United Press International

Early reaction to the execution of Adolf Eichmann indicated general belief today that the former SS officer who played a leading role in the Nazi extermination of Jews deserved his fate.

Authorities in Argentina, the country from which Eichmann was kidnaped by Jewish agents in 1960, anticipated a hostile reaction, but there were no immediate reports of trouble.

Anti-Semitic attacks on synagogues and other Jewish institutions had been reported in half a dozen Argentine cities in the past week, and police posted special guards at the Israeli Embassy and other Jewish centers today.

Fair and Just

West Germany received the news of the execution calmly. Government sources in Bonn said they were satisfied that Eichmann had had a fair trial and that his sentence was "just."

Individual Germans said "Good riddance!" or "He had it coming."

Eichmann's widow, who is in West Germany, could not be reached for comment. A government spokesman said, however, that she had not asked President Heinrich Lübke to intervene in her husband's behalf.

The hanged man's three sons, who live in Argentina, maintained to the end that their father was merely a cog in the Nazi machine whose only offense was obedience to orders.

Believe in Guilt

Recent polls in West Germany indicated that nearly two-thirds of its people believe Eichmann should be punished for his offenses—34 per cent that he should be hanged and 29 per cent that he should be imprisoned for life.

Newspapers in Japan front-paged the news of Eichmann's execution but did not comment editorially.

Man Fired Over Estes Case Appeals

Washington—UPI—William E. Morris, fired last month from the Agriculture Department job in connection with the Billie Sol Estes case, has appealed his dismissal to the Civil Service Commission.

Morris was one of several Agriculture Department employees figuring in charges that Estes gave gifts to federal officials. Morris has served as assistant to former Assistant Secretary James T. Ralph, who was demoted from that post last February after policy disputes not connected with the Estes case. Ralph was later fired when it was learned he had charged telephone calls to Estes' credit card.

A Civil Service Commission spokesman said Morris' appeal was received Tuesday. The spokesman said Morris next will be given an opportunity to review his file and to decide whether he wants a formal hearing in connection with the appeal.

Wall Streeters Preparing To Wind Up Hectic Week

New York—UPI—Wall Streeters prepared today to wind up one of the most frenzied weeks of trading in the stock market's history.

Two days of rising prices wiped out the $20.8 billion in paper losses suffered in Monday's selloff. A total of 710,000 shares were traded during Thursday's session.

Closing prices, available at 6:25 p.m. (EDT) nearly two hours after the market closed, showed the averages up again.

Dow Jones' 30 industrial stocks stood at 513.36, up 9.40 points on the day. Standard and Poor's index of 500 stocks was 59.63 up 1.55.

On the basis of Standard and Poor's indexes, the gain in paper values was just over $8.1 billion Thursday. Stocks on the "Big Board" gained about $13.5 billion Tuesday. Total gain for the two days was $21.6 billion, wiping out Monday's loss of $20.8 billion.

Most Issues Advance

Issues traded totaled almost as many as in Tuesday's trading, 1,357 against 1,399. Advances were recorded for 1,071 issues, 190 declined and 96 were unchanged. Only six of the issues reached new 1962 highs.

Thursday's volume had been surpassed only four times in the history of the New York Stock Exchange. Three of those days were during the bleak month of October in 1929 and the fourth was last Tuesday.

Monday, Tuesday and Thursday of this week were second only to Oct. 28-29-30 of 1929 in volume. In the earlier year 36,349,000 shares changed hands during the three days. This week the total was 34,810,000.

From Montgomery Street in San Francisco, LaSalle Street in Chicago and in the American Exchange across Trinity Churchyard at Hanover Place, the story was the same Thursday. Continued high volume and higher prices.

Orders To Members

In anticipation of another heavy day of trading today, the exchange board of governors took the unusual step of telling member organizations to have representatives on the trading floor Saturday—although there will be no trading—to clear up the loose ends left by the "short" week of hectic trading.

Member organizations were told to have at least one floor member and an "adequate number" of telephone clerks on the trading floor from 9:30 a.m. (EDT), to at least 12:30 p.m. Similar orders went to specialists units.

Stock Exchange member organizations outside New York were told to staff wire connections and have their offices staffed. New York firms were told to pass along the orders to their out-of-town correspondents.

Stocks Easier as Trading Continues

New York—UPI—Stocks were easier during the first today in continued heavy trading.

Electronics and steels featured the downside while some chemicals and foods recovered slightly.

American Telephone fell more than 2 but Du Pont and Eastman Kodak added at least 1 apiece. U.S. Steel, Johns Manville, Union Carbide and Jones & McLaughlin shed a point or more.

Polardoid featured the downside with a loss of more than 1, followed by Motorola, National Cash, National Lead, Zenith, IBM, United Carbon, Kellogg, Litton and Friden—down at least 2 each.

Sunshine Biscuit, Houston Lighting, Newmont Mining, Forboro, Max Factor, and Beckman rose 1 or more.

Hodges Speaker At Dedication

Priest Rapids, Wash.—UPI—Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges will be the main speaker at dedication ceremonies Saturday of the $8 million Priest Rapids dam on the Columbia river.

The dam, one of two in the Priest Rapids project being built by the Grant County Public Utility District, was financed through sale of a 49-year $166 million revenue bond issue purchased by a syndicate of more than 200 bond underwriters.

Construction began in 1956 by Merritt Chapman and Scott, New York, and all 10 generators went into production in 1961.

The second dam in the project, Wanapum, is under construction 18 miles upstream from Priest Rapids. Completion is scheduled for late 1964.

Twelve public and private Northwest electric utilities signed power contracts with the PUD in May of 1956 for purchase of a percentage of power from Priest Rapids, and for an option for the same percentage from Wanapum.

The purchasers also agreed to be responsible for the same percentage of the annual cost of the dam. Under the contracts, Oregon, Idaho and Montana receive 35 per cent, Washington utilities 28.5 per cent and the PUD 36.5 per cent. The dam will have a 788,500 kilowatt initial installed capacity.

Listing Lumber Barge Will Be Unloaded

Astoria—UPI—The Coast Guard said today a listing barge carrying $90,000 worth of lumber probably will have to be beached for unloading.

The crippled barge, towed by the tug Restless, was docked here Thursday night after a bulkhead on the barge broke, causing it to take water.

Coast Guard patrol boats stood by. The barge was bound from here to Coos Bay.
