Winter Steelhead Count Largest in Years Over Gold Ray Counting Board

Portland — Winter steelhead runs in the Umpqua and Rogue rivers showed a considerable increase in numbers over the past several years according to reports of district fishery biologists of the game commission.

Winter steelhead tallied through the counting station at Winchester dam on the Umpqua totaled 7,170 fish for the season, an increase of 38 per cent over last year. The tally was about a 13 per cent increase over the parent run.

On the Rogue, winter steelhead poured over the counting boards at the Gold Ray dam in the greatest numbers in years, according to the report, reminiscent of the fine runs of the 1940's. The total count numbered just over 11,000 fish, which was about a 15 per cent increase over the counts of last year and 45 per cent greater than the average for the past 10 years.

only two runs since 1948 exceeded the run last winter, and these by only a hundred or so fish.

The report also indicated that the spawning population of steelhead in the Applegate river to be one of the largest observed since the game commission began studies in the Rogue basin in 1941. These observations are of interest and importance, biologists said, since it wasn't too many years ago that the Applegate supported only a bare trickle of steelhead, so few that anglers passed it by as unworthy of their efforts.

According to past records, the Applegate did support excellent steelhead runs once, but unscreened irrigation canals of 20 to 30 years ago almost wiped them out. Although a number of factors contributed to the steelhead's comeback in the Applegate, the most significant was the screening of all irrigation ditches by the game commission. Following completion of this project some 15 years ago, records show a gradual build-up in the runs with the greatest number observed this past winter.

80 Carded By Marlatt

Davenport, Iowa — (UPI) — Jim Lopakka of Lewis and Clark qualified with a 75 and teammate Bob Cantin with a 76 Tuesday in the first annual NAIA golf tournament here.

Golfers To Aim At Littler 75

Newtown Square, Pa. — (UPI) — A 75 is the score an estimated 100,000 weekend golfers will be shooting at to gain a bronze medal from the Professional Golfers' Association as part of National Golf Week. They will be helped by handicaps and other stroke advantages.

The score represented the round turned in Tuesday by Gene Littler, U.S. Open champion, in his exhibition victory over Jerry Barber, PGA titleholder, at the Aronimink Country Club, site of the PGA championship next month. Barber fired a seven-over-par 77 in the rain over the tough course.

The amateur golfers will pay $1 each for the privilege of beating Littler's score, with proceeds going to charities supported by the PGA. Each golfer uses his club handicap, plus three strokes for a man and 10 additional for a woman. Golfers without a handicap use the Callaway system.

Last year the target score was 69 and 10,000 amateurs won medals. With Littler's flighty 75, the PGA expects to hand out 50,000 this year.

MONTREAL DRAFTS JONES

Montreal — (UPI) — Art Jones, co-winner of the most valuable player award for the Portland Buckaroos hockey team last year, was drafted by Montreal of the National Hockey league Tuesday. Portland will get $20,000 for Jones, the standard draft sale price.

Big Game Rules To Be Finalized After Hearing

Portland — Sportsmen are reminded that the big game regulations for the 1962 season will be set by the game commission following a public hearing Friday, June 8. The meeting will be held at the commission's Portland headquarters, 1634 S.W. Alder, and is scheduled to convene at 10 a.m. (PDT).

Any changes in the hunting regulations as tentatively proposed by the commission on May 22 will be made at this hearing. Season dates, bag limits, and other regulations pertaining to this fall's hunts for deer, elk, antelope, and bear will be given final approval by the commission.

The game commission urges all interested individuals to attend and voice their comments and recommendations.

Charlie Sifford Paces U.S. Open Qualifying

By JOE SARGIS

New York — (UPI) — Cigar-smoking Charlie Sifford, five-time national Negro champion, wound up as the best shooter among the nation's 131 qualifiers for the U.S. Open golf championship with a 66-70-136.

The 39-year-old native of Charlotte, N.C., now playing out of Los Angeles, put together his four-under-par 36-hole total at the Ravisloe Country club to lead nine players at Chicago who qualified for the tourney proper, which gets under way at Oakmont, Pa., next Thursday.

Sifford's 136 was a stroke better than four others among 497 competitors in the final qualifying rounds at 13 sites on Monday and Tuesday, which whittled an original entry field of 2,502 to 131 plus 19 exempt players for the Open.

Include Former Winners
The 19 who were exempt from all qualifying included the last five to win the Open, headed by defending champion Gene Littler, Masters champion Arnold Palmer, Bill Casper Jr., Tommy Bolt and Dick Mayer.

Former United States and British amateur champion

Deane Beaman of Silver Springs, Md., shot a 69-68-137 at the Manor Country Club in Washington, D.C., the same site where Dick Whetzel of Pikesville, Md., carded a 72-65-137, while veteran pro Claude Harmon of Mamaronck, N.Y., paced a tough field qualifying at the Montclair Country Club in Montclair, N.J., with a 70-67-137.
