Jacksonville Council Approves $2 Sewer Charge

Jacksonville—Starting July 1, every Jacksonville water user will have to pay a $2 monthly sewer charge, the Jacksonville city council determined last night. Money raised from this charge will go into a sinking fund to pay costs involved in preliminary work on the city's proposed sewer system. The $2 charge will not be applied against front footage assessments as the council had previously hoped. Councilmen were advised by their city attorney that such a plan would be illegal.

John Mayfield is the Neil Mayfield's son. Mrs. Reka Jonson, mother of Mrs. John Mayfield, has gone to Coalgide to care for her daughter and two other children.

Prospect Man Visits Daughter in Alaska

Prospect—David Neville of Prospect is spending a well earned vacation of one month in Alaska visiting his daughter (Mary Lou), son-in-law, Jim King, and granddaughter, Sara, whom he had not yet seen. He left here May 18 and went to Seattle, while in Seattle he visited the World's Fair and reports it is the greatest sight he'd ever seen and well worth the time spent there. At Seattle he boarded a plane bound for Fairbanks. Just out of Anchorage there was a bomb threat on the plane and it had to return to Anchorage for thorough inspection which caused a two hour delay. King is a "bush pilot" and works as a state conservationist in Alaska and expects to spend the summer in Fort Yukon, which is on the Arctic Circle. His wife and baby will accompany him. Before he returns home, Neville and King plan on a fishing trip out in the Alutian islands. Neville will return about June 18.

Regional Roundup

by Cleve Twitchell
Mail Tribune Regional Editor

State Senator Randolph Collier, who represents Siskiyou and Del Norte counties in the California Senate, is apparently so well known that some people in southern California think he's their senator, or so the story goes. The way I heard it, people in San Diego were interviewed at random and asked to name the state senator from that area, to which many replied Randolph Collier. I asked the senator the other day if that story was true. He wasn't certain either. The way he'd heard it, a certain percentage of students in high school civics classes in San Diego had indicated they thought Collier was that area's senator. Whatever the case, Collier, now the senior member of the California senate, is well known. His name figures to gain more exposure when motorists start using the Randolph Collier tunnel on highway 199 this fall. Dedication ceremonies for the tunnel are set for Oct. 13 of this year, the senator informed me last week. I was presented with a photograph of the plaque that will be displayed at the tunnel. It appears with this column. The tunnel will replace a stretch of highway that now has something like 177 turns. Although it will shorten the route by only 2.8 miles, it is expected to represent a considerable saving in traveling time, as motorists will be able to buzz through at 65 miles per hour instead of slowing down at all those turns. "My Tunnel"

Senator Collier appears to be getting adjusted to the idea of a tunnel named for him. At one point during our conversation he referred to it as "my tunnel" in a fatherly sort of tone. The California legislature at its 1961 session voted to name the tunnel for Collier in recognition of his efforts as "Father of the California Freeways." The senator was co-author of the California-Burns act of 1947 which opened the way for the start of the state's freeway system. "It is nice to know that your hard work has been appreciated during your lifetime," Collier commented concerning the legislature's action. The tunnel is particularly pleasing to him inasmuch as engineers originally told him that it couldn't be built. He looked the area over himself and told them that it could.

Tidbits: Congratulations to the motorist in front of me as we were approaching Phoenix going south on highway 99 Memorial Day. He came to a halt while a mother goose and her family of tiny little goslings scampered safely across all four lanes. I was returning from the newcomer's picnic in the Applegate valley when the goose incident occurred. The picnic was a very pleasant event,—incidentally—a fine idea.

Ashland Council Gives SOC Option

Ashland—The city council last night voted to give Southern Oregon college a 120-day option to buy the old Ashland General Hospital property. A price in the neighborhood of $45,000 was mentioned. In other action, the 1962-63 city budget was adopted. It calls for a levying tax of $174,370 on all property in the city that is subject to assessment. By a 3 to 2 vote, a class A liquor license was granted to the Carousel, 25 North Main st. Paving of North Main st. and Fox st. on the north end of the city also was approved following a lengthy hearing. An ordinance was passed changing from 65 to 70 the number of days prior to an election that a city candidate must file.

Crater Student Is Given Art Honor By University

Central Point—Beverly Klimko, senior at Crater High school, won honorable mention in the graphic arts division of the Oregon award for Creative art, sponsored by the University of Oregon recently.

Miss Klimko was the only graphic arts winner from Oregon. The entrants included students from Oregon, California, Washington, Idaho, Montana and British Columbia. The graphic arts division included either a water color or a pen and ink drawing. Miss Klimko entered a pen and ink drawing of her brother.

The criteria for judging were promise of future development of the individual talent, high artistic quality, originality and breadth of work. The first place winner was awarded full tuition scholarship to the University of Oregon.

Miss Klimko is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Klimko, Old Military road, Central Point.

SCHOOL'S OUT...CHILDREN PLAYING...DRIVE CAREFULLY...

Most of the boys and girls in Medford and the Rogue River Valley will be out this week to enjoy a summer of fun. PLEASE help them to keep enjoying it! Youngsters will still be going to school playgrounds and playing at home... they are apt to dash into the street anytime... into the path of YOUR car. The Medford Traffic Safety Council urges YOU to make SAFE DRIVING a very personal responsibility. Have your car thoroughly checked for safety... be doubly careful to observe traffic signs and regulations... watch out for children everywhere — and give them the right of way!
