Grange News

Shady Cove Grange
 The Shady Cove Grange honored the mothers on Mothers' day with a fried chicken dinner served by the men before the regular meeting.

Grange Sunday was observed with many members attending the Community Church in Shady Cove. Those receiving the first and second degrees of the Grange were Jan and Lan Dusenberry, John and Wilma Patrick, Howard and Laura Murphy, Richard, Chester and Phyllis Calloway and Gary and Glenda Kaiser. They are to take their third and fourth degrees at Roxy Ann.

The Grange property on Long Branch has been sold and the money placed in the building fund. The May HEC meeting was held at the A. B. Clark home on Butte Creek. The June meeting will be held at Mrs. Mary Cassals home on Crater Lake highway.

During the lecturer's program, William Ruben Peston, overload, $23.

Central Point Grange
 Central Point Grange will meet Friday, June 15. The lecturer is preparing a varied program.

During the business session, final plans will be announced for the pancake breakfast to be open to the public Sunday, June 17.

The Oregon State Grange will convene Monday morning in Grants Pass. The state lecturer's program will be Monday June 18, at 8 p.m. This is open to the public. The sixth degree will be given later in the week.

Burbage, England - (EP) - Yorkmen investigating why the parish church clock stopped found three bird's nests and enough straw to fill two buckets.

'FAIREST OF THE FAIR' - Judith Downing, 17, Miss Vista, was named San Diego County's "Fairest of the Fair." The hazel-eyed brunette will reign over Southern California Exposition and County Fair at Del Mar on June 29. (UPI)

Won't Give An Inch

Congressman Gross of Iowa Noted For Standing Firm on Convictions

By DICK WEST
 United Press International
 Washington - (EP) - Rep. H. R. Gross of Iowa has the reputation of standing firm on his convictions.

Once he takes a position for or against something, he won't give an inch. Or, putting it another way, he won't budge 2.54 centimeters.

Last month, Gross became an unmovable object in the path of a bill to provide $500,000 for a study on whether it would be practicable for the United States to adopt the metric system.

The bill came to the House floor requiring unanimous consent for approval, and Gross was not in the mood for unanimity.

Therefore, sponsors of the measure are now seeking to circumvent this obstacle by bringing the bill back to the floor under a rule requiring only majority approval.

Gross says he will continue to oppose it.

His opposition is not based so much on adoption of the metric system as on spending $500,000. He figures that is a sizeable chunk of money regardless of how it is measured.

Gross contends that the National Bureau of Standards already knows everything there is to know about the metric system. Giving it $500,000 for a further three-year survey would in his view be superfluous.

It remains to be seen how the issue will be resolved, but one doesn't need to know as much as the Bureau of Standards to know that the metric system would greatly alter the pattern of American life.

The machinist's union recently looked into the situation and reported these findings:

Many familiar advertising slogans would need revision. Prune juice, for instance, would no longer be sold in the "giant half-quart" size. Under the metric system, it would be sold in the "giant half-liter" size.

Steaks, chops, roasts and other meat would be sold by the kilogram, plus, of course, the weight of the butcher's thumb. A kilogram equals 2.20462 pounds, of which perhaps the five digits behind the decimal point would represent the thumb.

Department stores would no longer sell yard goods. They would sell 91.44 centimeters goods.

Eventually, I suppose, all of us would become accustomed to the new measuring system as it would apply to most of our everyday activities. But there is one aspect that disturbs me deeply.

The machinist's union has figured out that under the metric system the ideal feminine measurements would be "85, 59, 85."

I don't think I could ever learn to enjoy girl-watching in centimeters.

Wilderness Area In Heart of N. J.

Trenton, N. J. - (EP) - New Jersey is the most urbanized state in the union, yet it contains a vast primitive wilderness abounding with Revolutionary history and with activities for the vacationer.

Situated in the middle of South Jersey, a two-hour drive from New York and an hour from Philadelphia, lies the 96,000-acre Wharton Tract which embraces swamps, forests, ghost towns and backwoodsmen.

The area may be reached by traveling south from New York on the Garden State Parkway and then west on Route 542 or east from Philadelphia on Route 30.

The tract is interlaced with lakes and the Mullica River and its tributaries. This plentiful water supply provides abundant fishing grounds, swimming areas and accommodations for boating.

Its stunted forests and swamplands contain an abundance of game for hunting. Camping, hiking trails and botanical rarities are enjoyed by vacationers who visit the tract each year.

Jobless Benefits Cut Being Studied

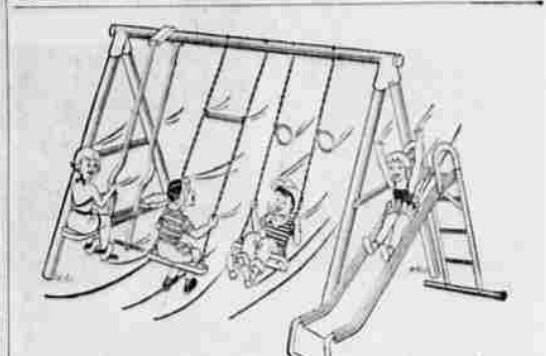

Salem - (EP) - The advisory committee to the Oregon Department of Employment has under advisement a suggestion that unemployment insurance benefits be curtailed for short term seasonal workers who draw benefits.

The suggestion was made in Portland Monday by Irvan Congleton, general manager of Associated Oregon Industries, and John T. Matthews, chairman of AOI's unemployment insurance committee.

A restriction on the period that seasonal workers could draw benefits was proposed.

They said employers with stable wage earners are subsidizing the payment of benefits to employees of seasonal industries.

ISSUE 'SERIOUS WARNING'
 Tokyo - (EP) - Communist China Tuesday charged that an American warship entered its waters. It issued the country's 206th "serious warning" against the alleged violation, according to the Communist New China News Agency.
