The patterns will be presented at two public hearings this month.

Phoenix Hearing

Udall Recommends Authorization of Rogue Basin Plan

Secretary of Interior Stewart Udall has recommended that Congress authorize the Rogue Basin projects in southern Oregon.

In a letter to Lt. General Walter K. Wilson Jr., chief of engineers, Department of the Army, Secretary Udall noted that the recommended plan of development provides for construction of three multi-purpose reservoirs at the Lost Creek, Elk Creek and Applegate sites for flood control and other purposes. The project would be constructed and operated by the Corps of Engineers, according to a copy of the letter from Sen. Wayne Morse.

Saturday Senator Morse

notified Ben Hilton, president of the Rogue Basin Flood Control and Water Resources association of Udall's approval of the project. The Interior department was the last of the federal and state agencies to give the required okay.

Goes to Budget Bureau

The proposal now goes to the bureau of the budget before reaching the House of Representatives.

Udall pointed out that operation of the reservoirs deserves further consideration. Recreation, fish and wildlife enhancement, hydroelectric power, and irrigation will provide more than 70 per cent of the benefits, he noted. Use of single purpose storage for flood control is not required.

The bureau of reclamation has been and is currently engaged in comprehensive irrigation development in the Basin. Substantial additional costs of up to $50,000,000 will be incurred in utilizing the water conserved in the reservoirs for irrigation.

Dictated By Requirements

"Under the proposed plan, basic releases would be dictated by fishery requirements. Incidental to this criterion, normal operation of the reservoirs on a day-to-day basis would be determined by irrigation and power requirements. From this viewpoint, operation of the reservoirs by the bureau of reclamation would be desirable," Udall said.

It was also pointed out that the district engineer had suggested that no construction be undertaken until the Interior department had signed contracts for repayment of the cost of irrigation storage capacity. Udall verified the importance of the restriction on construction and recommended its inclusion in appropriate legislation.

Udall advised that the cost of mitigation of damages caused by the projects to fish and wildlife are considered as joint costs and are allocated to all project purposes. Under the Fish and Wildlife Coordination act, such costs on bureau of reclamation projects have been allocated to fish and wildlife and considered nonreimbursable.

Consideration of the mineral resources in the area also has been requested by the bureau of mines.

Morse Attacks Task Force on Lumber Problems

Washington -UPI- An inter-agency task force established last month at President Kennedy's request to study problems of the lumber industry in meeting Canadian competition came under sharp attack today from Pacific Northwest senators.

Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.), who appeared before the Senate Commerce committee, denounced the action as "a run-around" and "a worthless approach."

Might Oppose

Morse said action was needed immediately to prevent "the liquidity of the lumber industry" and served notice he might oppose Kennedy's foreign trade program if the industry were not aided.

The committee, under the chairmanship of Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.), is ending a series of hearings on the impact of lumber imports on the domestic industry.

Bearing the brunt of the criticism was Assistant Secretary of State G. Griffith Johnson, the first of several administration officials called to testify.

Johnson told the committee that the state department was "sympathetic" to the industry's problems but warned against any "precipitous action" in imposing quotas or tariffs on Canadian lumber.

The recommendation was to detour traffic from the mouth of the Columbia past the ferry system. This would route southbound traffic along the

Two U.S. Army Officers Fined, Suspended for Beating Korean

Pair Plead Guilty To Charge, Admit Striking Houseboy

Punishment Could Have Been Stiffer

Seoul, Korea -UPI- A U.S. military court today imposed reprimands and fines of $600 on two Army officers and suspended them from command for six months for beating a Korean theft suspect.

The nine-man general court-martial deliberated more than an hour before announcing the decision against 1st Lt. David W. Swanson, 25, Galesburg, Ill., and 1st Lt. Thomas M. Wilde, 25, Wadsworth, Ill. Both officers had pleaded guilty.

Allegedly Caught

The two officers had faced possible prison sentences and dismissal from the service for beating a Korean houseboy allegedly caught in the act of stealing in the 1st Cavalry Division compound.

Swanson and Wilde said they had followed verbal instructions from higher authorities in trying to discourage theft by Koreans which they described as "beyond belief." Their stand was supported by their commanding officer.

Did Wrong

Swanson, a West Point graduate and former infantry company commander, told the court he thought the beating was justified at the time "but now I realize I did wrong."

He said "everything we tried before to stop thievery was to no avail." He said he thought it was his duty to follow instructions from higher authority to stop theft.

"But I certainly didn't mean to be cruel," he said.

Wilde, a reserve officer who served as Swanson's executive, said the beating incident occurred because of "great frustration" on the part of his unit to control theft.

Stocks Continue Downward; Approach May Record Lows

By JESSE BOQUE - UPI Financial Editor

New York -UPI- Stock prices continued on the downward Wednesday, approaching last month's near-record lows.

But former broker Douglas Dillon, now secretary of the Treasury, said he believes the market is "pretty sound" and has fallen about as far as it will go.

Dillon, at a Senate Finance committee hearing in Washington, said he thought the market's decline came because "the investing public just decided that the prices were too high."

Closed Near Levels

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange Wednesday was 5,850,000 shares. So-called "blue-chip" issues declined for the third straight session and both the Dow Jones industrial average and Standard & Poor's index of 500 top stocks closed near levels where they stood 17 days ago.

All of the 10 most active stocks on the exchange showed losses. American Telephone and Telegraph was off $2.88; International Business Machines lost $12.50. Polaroid dropped $5.88 per share and Xerox lost $7.13.

Dillon told the Senate committee that some stocks prior to the recent decline had been selling at 23 times current earnings. Some "glamour" stocks, he said, were selling at 40 to 50 times earnings.

"Stocks priced at about 15 times earnings are 'on a pretty sound basis,'" Dillon told committee chairman Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) and prices two or three times this level were "unjustified."

Most Wall Streeters were not surprised by the market's performance. They said there was nothing in recent news events to make prices rise and noted predictions made last month in which they said the market might continue its slump for a while.

Biggest state project affected is the $1.2 million dormitory building at Columbia Park State home, The Dalles. It is shut down completely.

"Violation of this section is punishable as a misdemeanor providing upon conviction a fine of not more than $1,000 or imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year, or both," Holmes said.

Flight Engineers Reject Kennedy's Plea to Arbitrate

Major Strike Now Appears Likely

Washington -UPI- Negotiations between the flight engineers and three major airlines collapsed today despite a last-minute appeal by President Kennedy. The union's president said a strike appeared likely.

Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg announced that the engineers rejected Kennedy's plea to submit the 2-year-old dispute to arbitration.

Mediation Efforts

After the break-up of around-the-clock mediation efforts, Ron Brown, president of the union was asked whether a strike would be called.

"It would certainly appear so at this time," he replied. Brown added that no further bargaining sessions were planned.

The chief issue in the dispute was the airlines' plan to reduce jet cockpit crews from four to three men. But a union spokesman said Wednesday night there had been no agreement on wages, hours, working conditions, or crew qualifications, either.

Full Report

Brown set no time for a walkout on grounds he and other union officers wanted to make a full report to the membership even though a strike authorization has been voted.

The union has warned that its 1,700 members who work for Pan American, Eastern and Trans World airlines would strike unless the current contract talks produced a settlement.

Ashwer Schwartz, counsel for the union, said arbitration of all issues as proposed by Kennedy, would be "industrial suicide." He added that the union had offered to arbitrate on economic issues but not the key questions of crew make-up.

North Entrance To Park Opens

The north entrance road and west rim road in Crater Lake National park are now open, according to Park Superintendent W. Ward Yeager.

Yeager said the early opening was due to warm weather and favorable equipment operating conditions in the park.

Visitors can now enter and leave the park by the north entrance road, which connects with Highway 230 and Highway 97.

However, motorists are advised to use caution in traveling the west rim drive from Discovery Point overlook to the north entrance because of the narrow road.

Facilities operated by Crater Lake Lodge, Inc., are scheduled to open Friday, June 15. Included in the facilities are the store, cabins, cafeteria, and lodge at Rim Village, and transportation service to and from Medford and Klamath Falls.

Launch trips around the lake are scheduled to begin about June 23, and conducted tours around the lake on Rim drive will begin about July 4.

Quarantine for Animals Is Noted

All dogs or other animals which have bitten any individual must be placed in quarantine for 10 days, according to state law.

Jackson County District Attorney Alan B. Holmes quoted this section of the law to County Dog Control Officer Chris Hagler recently after a Medford resident refused to have his dog quarantined after it had bitten a child.

Animals which had or develop clinical rabies during the 10-day quarantine period must be subject to laboratory examination as outlined in further administrative rules of the Oregon state board of health, Holmes stated.

"Violation of this section is punishable as a misdemeanor providing upon conviction a fine of not more than $1,000 or imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year, or both," Holmes said.
