

Rockefeller and Brown Engage in Statistics Battle

Sacramento, Calif. — My state has more new factories than your state, said New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Oh no it hasn't, my state can whip your state in new factories anytime, answered California Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

That, more or less, was the dialogue Saturday in a battle between the governors of the nation's two most populous states. Each man is armed to the teeth with statistics.

Rockefeller made his statement Thursday, saying that more than three times as many new plants have been built or started in New York in the past year than in California.

Brown answered immediately in a letter, whose contents he released Saturday. After citing Rockefeller's factory statement, Brown said: "The reverse is more likely true, although I do not believe either state has an accurate record of new plants."

"A comparison of employment shows, however, that between February 1958 and February 1962 the number of wage and salary workers in New York increased by 3.4 per cent while ours increased 14.2 per cent, four times more than New York. In the category of manufacturing employment, between 1958-62 New York's employment declined 3.4 per cent while California's increased by 11.2 per cent," Brown said.

Brown seemed especially irked by Rockefeller's second contention: that California's indebtedness has been "soaring" while New York's has been dropping.

He said that "one of the reasons our bonded indebtedness is increasing (although it is still the lowest per $100 of personal income of the nine top industrial states, including New York) is that we are spending a great deal more on schools and education than you are."

Blair Hits Nilsen With 'Union' Charge

Salem — The Republican candidate for state labor commissioner, Pat Blair, Salem, has charged that Labor Commissioner Norman O. Nilsen is "in cahoots" with a presidential commission "to sponsor the unionization of farm workers."

In addition to Nilsen, Blair criticized Jack Heathershaw of Washington, D. C., of the Association Makes Motel Suggestions

Several recommendations to motels were made at a recent meeting of the Jackson County Motor Court association.

Among them was a motion to write letters to the Oregon Public Utilities commission opposing the exclusive franchise for electrical power in this area being given to Pacific Power and Light Co.

Also recommended was that a letter be sent to the state highway commission seeking information and correction of highway signs in southern Oregon which omit the mileage to Medford.

A report was made on a meeting of Jackson and Josephine county representatives who are forming ways of welcoming visitors to Oregon. It is planned to purchase window decals and bumper stickers to display in promoting the "Keep Oregon Green" program.

UPI Chairman Scores Noted European Leaders in Speech

Gearhart, Ore. — Leaders of key European countries in the day's news have in common the fact that they are "old men, stubborn men and strong men, to whom most problems are black or white with no intervening greys," Frank H. Bartholomew said in a banquet address to the 75th annual meeting of the Oregon Newspaper Publishers association Friday night.

Bartholomew, chairman of the board of United Press International, returned earlier in the week from a European tour and quoted these "recent and revealing" observations by heads of three nations:

French President Charles de Gaulle, referring to his uncompromising position on U.S. bases and complete cooperation with NATO: "France is not in tow."

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, referring to Washington-London fears that he too may be weaned from NATO toward a Bonn-Paris axis because of his disapproval of U.S. attitude toward negotiating with Khrushchev on Berlin: "When

Canadians Go To Polls Monday

Ottawa — Ten million Canadian voters have only today left to decide whether to return to power Prime Minister John Diefenbaker and his Conservative party or switch to the Liberal banner carried by Lester B. Pearson.

The country's longest election campaign in history came to a virtual standstill Saturday because of balloting blue laws. No radio or television politicking is allowed for 48 hours prior to election day under Canadian law.

Polls will open at 6:30 a.m. EDT, Monday. Voters will choose from 1,105 candidates, including 14 Communists, trying for a place in the 265-seat House of Commons.

Will Be Close

Political strategists were in agreement on one count. The race will be close in selecting Canada's 25th Parliament. This was not the case in 1958, when Diefenbaker's Conservatives took 208 seats in Parliament, biggest landslide in the country's political history.

Diefenbaker, 66, received an 11th hour windfall Friday when the Dominion Bureau of Statistics published the April 30 unemployment figures. These showed that unemployment had dropped to 335,000, or five per cent of the nation's work force. The total is 120,000 below March figures.

The Prime Minister took advantage of the news to predict "virtually full employment" by late summer.

Was Campaigning

Pearson, 65, former External Affairs Minister and winner of the 1957 Nobel Peace Prize, was campaigning in Toronto when the unemployment statistics were released.

He said they showed a reduction only because of "normal seasonal improvement." Government claims of full employment, Pearson charged, are a "cruel hoax for electioneering purposes."

The odds seemed to be with Diefenbaker. His Conservatives held 203 House of Commons seats at Parliament's dissolution last spring. Thus the 15 years ago, this car was nothing to brag about.

The early VW had its problems. It was noisy. Shifting was tough. And it wasn't exactly a powerhouse. But, its shape was functional. The rear engine made for outstanding traction. It was air-cooled. (No boiling over or freezing.)

That old VW may have made a racket, but it also made every new idea work.

And so, the VW people invested 15 years of time and effort into perfecting one basic model.

Result: Engine noise is practically gone. The VW gearshift is one of the smoothest in the world. And you can even accelerate uphill.

Over 3,000 changes have been made on the VW so far. (28 this year alone.) And all to make it work better; none to make it look different.

The VW may still not be perfect. But it's a good 15 years better than the first one.
