Edith Green Plans Amendment To Migrant Children Proposal

By YVONNE FRANKLIN
Mail Tribune
Washington Bureau
Washington (Special)—Legislation designed to protect the children of migrant laborers, but which many Oregonians feel overprotect their own, will be amended by Rep. Edith Green to meet the special needs of Oregon.

Franklin

As passed by the Senate, S.1123 forbids 12 to 14-year-old children from traveling over 25 miles to pick crops. Mrs. Green said she is considering such alternatives as increasing the distance to 50 miles, or requiring employers to pay the youngsters for the time it takes to travel to and from the job, without any precise mileage limit.

S.1123 is now in the House Rules Committee with no clue as to when or if it will be reported to the House floor for a vote. This is but one of a series of ambitious bills which a subcommittee spokesman says were designed to give the American agricultural worker as decent standards of work as the Mexicans who are brought in to work the large corporation farms on contract.

The primary purpose of S.1123 and companion bill S.1124 is to physically protect and foster the education of children of migrant workers throughout the nation especially in states less sensitive to their needs than Oregon which, among other things, has set up programs to educate them in the summertime.

Attempt To Bridge Gap
Very few states have child labor laws governing agriculture, and the federal child labor laws do not cover children outside of regular school hours. The pending bill is an attempt to bridge the gap.

Mrs. Green has received over 250 letters in the past month protesting the bill. She supports it and explains its purpose to those writing her. She said that testimony indicated that there have been great abuses of children throughout the country.

A committee spokesman listed the physical hazards to children who are immature physically and mentally, stressing that farming is the third most hazardous occupation after mining and construction. Thousands of accidents befall children un-equipped to handle the machines on the increasingly more automated corporation farms.

A concomitant of automation is the acute need to educate migrant children, not only for their own well-being, but to keep them off the heavily swollen welfare and unemployment rolls.

Traveling from state to state, which may or may not have classroom space to enroll them, or ignoring enforcement officials who generally wink at compelling attendance, the children find themselves from two to four years behind their schoolmates. The shame of this, as well as the physical size of teenagers in classes with ten and eleven-year olds, forces them to drop out.

Would Pay Costs
S.1124 provides that for two years the federal government would pay 100 per cent of costs to State educational agencies to help defray the cost of educating migratory children during the regular school session. Thereafter it would be matching grants. It also provides $300,000 in grants for each of five years for summer schools for migrant children.

Also in the works are S.1130, a Health Bill which would provide certain public health services, such as the mobile treatment and inoculation clinics. Migrants usually have no health care, and states which have used mobile units have effectively cut the rate of communicable disease and misery.

S.1131 provides Day Care or nursery service to mothers who go into the fields.

S.3382 requires that adequate sanitary facilities be provided migrants.

Forest Visitors Are Cautioned of Fire In Mountain Areas

Visitors to Rogue River National forest areas have been asked to use caution with fire because of a drying trend during the past week.

Fishing was reported good in many places with improved weather, according to the weekly recreation report from Rogue River National forest.

By districts, the recreation report is:

Ashland district: Fishing at Fish lake was good last week end. Fish lake campground and the facilities at the Fish lake resort were filled to capacity. Stream fishing is improving.

The woods are now dry enough for fires to spread rapidly. Smokers and persons building campfires are reminded that good judgment must be applied to the use of fires.

Governor Hatfield has announced that the Ashland Watershed is closed to entry because of fire danger. However, the Ashland Loop road and the Tolman Creek rd. will remain open for through traffic. Detailed information concerning this closure may be obtained from the district ranger at Ashland.

Construction activity on the new highway between Lake of the Woods and Fish lake may cause delays in travel. The road is extremely rough. The road from the Dead Indian road to Fish lake has been graded, and is in fairly good shape. The Mt. Ashland Loop rd. still is blocked by snowdrifts.

Butte Falls District: All district roads are open and in good condition. Motorists are cautioned to watch for heavy logging traffic during the week days.

Willow Prairie and Snowshoe campgrounds have been enlarged. The new campgrounds are now open as are the other campgrounds. The nights are still chilly and campers are advised to take warm clothing.

Ice is gone from Grass lake in the Seven Lakes basin. Snow still covers most of the trail into the area.

Prospect district: This week the roads on the Prospect Ranger district are clear of snow, except for the Umpqua Divide rd. All roads are in good condition except the Elk Creek (Buzard Mine) and Gray Rock rds, which have not yet been graded.

Fishing in the Rogue river and the streams is normal now, which means you might catch fish and you might not. The fish are there and willing to bite if you give them the right bait at the right time in the right way.

Temperatures are running 10 to 12 degrees cooler at Prospect than at Medford. The nights are still cold.

Union Creek district: Forest roads on the Union Creek district are closed by snow at elevations about 5,000 feet. Tourists are advised to use caution on the lower portions of the Huckleberry Mt. and National-Wizard access roads because of heavy logging truck traffic.

A welcome change in the climate has brought warm weather and clear skies, making fishing conditions ideal. Reported catches are many and good.

With the exception of Huckleberry Mt., all campgrounds are now open.

To provide additional facilities at the Union Creek campground, road construction will continue throughout this month, Monday through Friday.

Beckies Cafe is open 6:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. standard time. Tourist accommodations are available at the Union Creek resort. Supplies and gas may be purchased from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. standard time.

Savage Hail Storm Pounds Idaho Falls

Idaho Falls—UPI—A savage hail storm pounded Idaho Falls for 10 minutes Thursday, the first day of summer, punching holes in the wings of an airliner, and blanket-ing the city in winter-like white.

A West Coast Airlines DC-3, scheduled to fly to Pocatello and Boise at 5:15 p.m. was knocked out of service while parked at the Idaho Falls airport.

The hailstones, about the size of olives, mowed down backyard gardens, and stripped foliage from trees and shrubs.
