Art Show To Open In Ashland

Mrs. Ina Pruitt, well-known Oregon artist, will hold an exhibit of her paintings at the Mark Antony hotel in Ashland from June 24 through September 2. A reception and open house will be held Sunday, June 24, to preview Mrs. Pruitt's latest paintings. The public is invited to attend and coffee and cake will be served from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. (PST).

Mrs. Pruitt is bringing her paintings to Ashland from the Springfield, Ore., library where she was honored by a reception and exhibit sponsored by the Willamalane Art League.

Mrs. Pruitt and her husband, Veltie, live in the Steens mountain area in central Oregon for a part of every year and much of her work is said to be influenced by the majestic crags and deep canyons of the countryside. She has also painted the McKenzie river country, and has used horses for several works. Wildflowers and other subjects are used for still life paintings.

Highlighting the Ashland exhibit will be two oils done on black velvet. One is of an Indian girl and the other the head of a coil.

Mrs. Pruitt began her serious painting in 1957 and although she had received some instruction during her college days in Eugene, she had no formal training in art. She is a member of the Willamalane Art League in Lane county and also belongs to the Oregon Society of Artists. Mr. Pruitt assists his wife with the hanging of her shows, and also does all the framing of her pictures. The couple spends the winter months in Leaburg, Ore., and during the summers in the Steens mountains. Mr. Pruitt maintains a ranch from which pack trips and trail rides are made under his guidance, and a camp for boys and girls during vacation periods. A former voice teacher and minister, Mr. Pruitt was forced into retirement by illness and became a river and mountain guide in order to maintain an outdoor life.

These four students will leave Sunday, June 24, for Portland where they will receive orientation training in preparation for a European tour under the sponsorship of the American Heritage association. Making the tour will be (left to right) Miss Beverly Klimko, Miss Marsha Watson, Miss Teresa Six and Miss Charlotte Brown. After training at Portland State college, the young women will travel by bus to the east coast and at George Washington university, Washington, D.C., will be given another orientation course before leaving for New York City. The trip from New York to London will be by air July 10. All four students have had foreign language training and in recent months have had special reading assignments in preparation for the tour. Miss Brown and Miss Klimko will join a French-speaking group which will spend a month in France. Miss Six and Miss Watson will continue with the general European culture group. Part of the tour will be a walking and bicycle trip, with the students spending their nights at youth hostels. Teachers and other adults accompany each group. They will return in September.
