

Mrs. John I. Brennan is the former Marilyn Jean Parsons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Parsons, 2329 East Main street, Medford. The Brennan-Parsons ceremony was held June 17 at First Methodist church with the bride wearing a gown of silk organza over taffeta and a mantilla of lace. (Classic photo)

Two hundred guests attended the wedding of Harriet Lynn Witt to Glen Franklin Kaye June 17 at the Church of the Brethren in Medford. The bride's gown of Alencon lace and taffeta was made with scalloped neckline and bouffant skirt. (Landis photo)

Wedding

Bells Ring

When Grace Allyn Gail was married to Leroy Willard Johnson June 16 at the Community Methodist church in Gold Hill, she wore a gown of silk organza and brocade which she had made. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Norman Gail, long-time Gold Hill residents. (Anders photo)

With the bride's tulle veil flying in the breeze, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lankton Stemple posed for the photographer as they left First Methodist church after their wedding June 17. The bride is the former Billee Kay Mearns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Mearns, Ashland. (Knackstedt photo)

Gregory Earl Milnes and his bride, the former Loretta Ray of Forest Grove, smile for the cameraman from their car as they left the Methodist church after their wedding June 10. They will live in Salem. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Milnes, 15 North Groveland avenue, Medford. (Muir photo)

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Conger, married June 14 at Zion Lutheran church here, are living at 1206 Niantic street. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Bellinger, Grants Pass, wore a gown of Chantilly lace with billowing skirt and carried an orchid on a Bible which was the bridegroom's gift. The bridegroom and his parents, the Homer Congers, are members of a well-known valley family. (Brainard photo)

A gown of classic design made from bouquet taffeta was worn by Miss Linda Luce for her marriage to Dean Weitman, held June 16 at the home of the bride's father, Dr. James C. Luce on the Rogue river near Eagle Point. Her flowers were valley lilies and a white phalaenopsis orchid. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Gene Weitman, Shady Cove, and the newlyweds will live in Medford. (Knackstedt photo)

