Projects Reported

Project reports will be given by the club at its meeting Thursday, June 28, at 7 p.m. in the Medford hotel. A dinner will be held prior to the business session.

It was reported that the new map to be printed on the Altrusa place mats is nearly ready for circulation and that a few spaces are still available. Persons interested may contact the club president, Mrs. Victor Peterson, 773-5841.

Fifteen thousand of these place mats are printed locally each year and distributed free to churches, granges, clubs, conventions, lodges, public meeting and other events as well as to restaurants, motels, hotels, filling stations and the Medford Chamber of Commerce.

In addition to the advertising by local firms on the mats, is a map of the area showing recreation spots and shopping areas. Money from the project supports the local and international projects of the club.

Among the club's projects is the vocational grants given each year under the supervision of the vocational committee of the club. At the recent meeting Mrs. Lucine Miles, chairman, reported that four older women had received these grants which made it possible for them to retrain themselves so they could find employment and support their children. Two of the women have attended Robertson School of Business for one year and the two others took refresher courses in the adult education program at the high school.

Mrs. Young, the club's delegate to the 12th District Altrusa conference held in May in Spokane, Wash., reported on the new regulations passed by the clubs from Washington, Oregon, Idaho, and the three western provinces of Canada.

Mrs. Bessie Babcock, Moscow, Idaho, district governor, presided at the sessions, she said. Among the speakers was Dr. Loretta M. Miller, past district governor and chairman of the public relations committee of the International board of Altrusa. She spoke on her recent tour of the Far East where she visited foreign scholars who had received Altrusa international grants to complete their education in this country.

Grant Recipient

Another speaker was one of the recipients of a grant from India who expressed her gratitude for the assistance and friendship she received in this country. She commented that life in the United States is greatly misunderstood in India and when she returns she plans to promote a clearer picture of American ideals and attitudes.

At the conference Mrs. Young was selected as assistant to Mrs. Dorothy Hollingsworth, first vice governor of the district, and acted as expeditor of the conference.

At the close of the meeting Mrs. Mohr and Mrs. Carl Beebe served refreshments.
