

Ailing McKinley Eliminated In Wimbledon Tennis Match

Wimbledon, England—UPI—Chuck McKinley, 21, St. Ann, Mo., shackled by a pulled muscle in his right arm, was eliminated from the Wimbledon Tennis Championships today by Mike Hann, an unheralded Englishman, 6-3, 6-2, 6-2.

McKinley said nothing about an injury before the start of his match, but he was in obvious pain and his game was far off form as he bowed out of the tournament in straight sets.

Wimbledon, England—UPI—Chuck McKinley of St. Louis, Mo., led a reduced field of seven American survivors into second round action today in the men's singles division of the Wimbledon tennis championships.

Eight Yanks were knocked off in Monday's opening round. This shaped up as an easier day for the survivors, with six of the seven Americans favored to wrap up berths in the third round.

McKinley, second ranked amateur in the United States and fifth seed in this tournament, faced Mike Hann of England. Last year, the Texas collegian lost to Rod Laver of Australia in the final.

Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., unseeded here although he is ranked No. 1 in the U.S., also was expected to ease into the third round at the expense of Fred McMillan of South Africa.

Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., back in the good graces of the U.S. Lawn Tennis association, drew the center court for his match against Russia's Sergei Likhachev; Chris Crawford of Piedmont, Calif., met Dr. John Fraser of Australia; Frank Froehling of Coral Gables, Fla., took on Bill Bowery of Australia; and Don Dell of Bethesda, Md., opposed India's Jaidir, Murkerjee.

Faced Tough Task

The day's toughest task was drawn by Mal Fox of Baltimore, Md., who faced a tough struggle against Alan Mills of England.

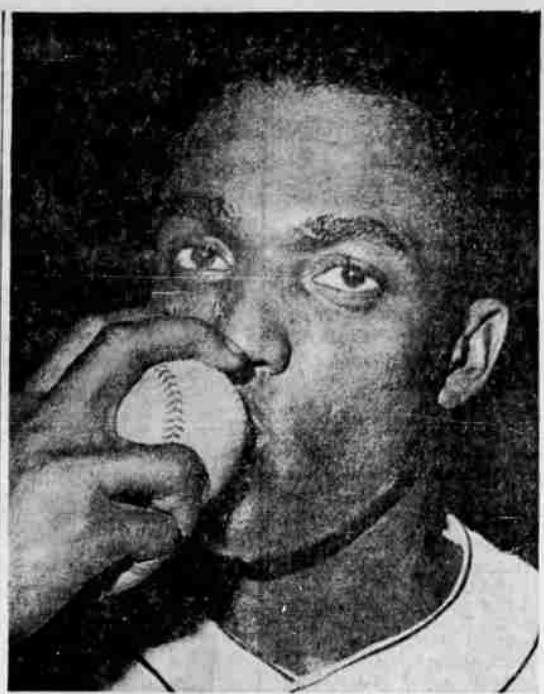

Laver, considered by many experts to be a better player now than he was last year, drew Tony Pickard of England as his second-round opponent. Second-seeded Roy Emerson of Australia met Wilhelm Bungert of Germany and third-seeded Neale Fraser of Australia opposed compatriot Geoff Parks.

With four representatives already assured of third round berths in the women's singles, the U.S. hoped to add another four today.

One American girl faced elimination when Justina Bricks of St. Louis met Judy Alvarez of Tampa, Fla. In other matches, Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman of San Antonio, Tex., opposed Pat Hird of England; Gwyneth Thomas of Shaker Heights, Ohio, took on Elizabeth Starkie of England; and Nancy Richey of Dallas, Tex., was matched against Mary Hawton of Australia.

The four U.S. girls who drew first-round byes and then won second-round matches Tuesday are Billie Jean Moffitt and Darlene Hard, both of Long Beach, Calif.; Vicky Palmer of Phoenix, Ariz.; and Carole Caldwell of Santa Monica, Calif.

Miss Moffitt was the author of one of the greatest upsets in Wimbledon women's history by beating top-seeded Margaret Smith of Australia, 1-6, 6-3, 7-5, Tuesday. The 19-year-old, stocky Californian trailed 2-5 in the final set before rallying to eliminate Miss Smith, who had been regarded as the world's top women's player.

Red Sox No Hit Pitcher Receives New Contract

By DICK DEW

Boston—UPI—Boston pitcher Earl Wilson and millionaire club owner Tom Yawkey have a $1,000 paper-ripping date today.

The $1,000 will be the end result when Wilson and Yawkey get through ripping up Wilson's near-maximum contract with the Red Sox that called for a 1962 salary of about $8,000.

Yawkey called the new contract meeting minutes after Wilson authorized the second no-hitter of the major league season Tuesday night. The big 26-year-old Negro right-hander stopped the Los Angeles Angels, 2-0, for his sixth victory of the season.

Yawkey congratulated Yawkey, on one of his rare visits to the Red Sox dressing room was among the first to greet the six foot, three inch, 220 pound fastballer.

"Congratulations, you bugger," the portly Red Sox owner told his new pitching ace. "You pitched a hell of a game. I was thrilled as I've ever been."

For Wilson, who hit his second major league home run and second of the season in his own cause, the no-hitter was "the greatest thing that has ever happened to me."

"I knew all along that I had a no-hitter," he said. "I didn't know that I was throwing late in the game and on the last batter I just closed my eyes and threw. This is the thrill of my life."

Belinsky gave up only two singles and Wilson's healthy homer in the seven innings he pitched.

Cerv Sold To Houston

New York—UPI—Outfielder Bob Cerv, served three hitches with the New York Yankees during an 11-year American league career, will try to carve out a new career for himself with the Houston Colts of the National League.

The 36-year-old, 240-pound right-handed hitter was sold by the Yankees Tuesday night for the $20,000 waiver price. It was the third time the Yankees traded him despite the fact that he once was considered one of the hottest prospects in their farm system.

SL Bees In Front By One-Half Game

By RAYMOND L. ANDREWS

United Press International
Even the rain got into the act Tuesday night in the torrid battle for first place in the Pacific Coast league.

It rained at Vancouver to wash out the San Diego-Vancouver game but not at Seattle where Salt Lake City downed the Rainiers, 3-1.

The Salt Lake victory gave the Bees a half-game edge over the Padres in their two-team scrap for the top rung.

Tacoma thumped Portland, 12-5, and Hawaii topped Spokane, 6-4, in other action.

Salt Lake City struck for two runs in the ninth to nip Seattle and erase a good pitching job by the Rainiers' Billy Spawick.

Billy Williams led off the the eighth to topple Spokane. Tom Satriano sent one over with his eleventh homer of the year. Then Stan Palya hit his second double and crossed on a passed ball and a wild pitch.

runs in the fourth when the Spokane third baseman booted Carlos Bernier's grounder with the bases loaded.
