

College Official Heads Ashland Soroptimist Club

Ashland - Symbolic candle-light ritual marked the installation ceremonies June 22 when Mrs. Mabel W. Winston became president of Ashland Soroptimist club. The installing officer, Mrs. Montana Trites, a past president, used the club pledge as the basis for her charge to the incoming executive board and to the members. Mrs. Winston is registrar of Southern Oregon college.

Mrs. Mabel W. Winston, registrar and dean of women at Southern Oregon college, was recently installed president of Ashland Soroptimist club.

Mrs. Winston succeeds Mrs. Ruby Minear, who conducted the after-dinner program and assisted in the installation. The annual social meeting held in Trinity parish hall was attended by more than 50 members and guests and by five Klamath Falls Soroptimists. The Klamath Falls club organized the Ashland women's service club in 1946 and continues to keep an affectionate eye on its "child."

The new president, also dean of women at Southern Oregon college, has many professional associations and honors including executive posts in the American Association of University Women. She will represent the Ashland Soroptimist club as its delegate to the 17th biennial convention of the Soroptimist Federation of the Americas, Inc., convening July 8-13 in San Francisco.

The retiring president thanked chairmen and committees for efficient work during the past year, mentioning the outstanding achievements of successful projects to raise money for scholarships to the Shakespeare Festival and to Southern Oregon college. The two special events are the annual style show and the summer-time pillow and blanket rental concession in the Festival theatre.

Mrs. Winston's first official act after accepting her new honor was to confer life membership upon Mrs. Mildred Klum with congratulations in acrostic form using Mrs. Klum's first name.

Sub-Teens Rebelling On Styles

The rebellion of 10 and 12 year old lassies over wearing little girl styling is having a strong influence in the garment industry. More and more of the fashions for the in-betweeners are pint-sized editions of big sister's clothes - including shirtwaisters and skirt and shirt combinations.

A floral influence is taking root in dresses for the four to 14 set. Flowery prints and colors straight from the garden abound. It isn't the kind of flower that matters so much as the size - and the contrast with vibrant backgrounds. The posies range from large, splashy ones to tiny flowers no bigger than a fingernail. Floral stripes in the peasant manner also are favorites. The solid color dresses get away from the pale tints of late season. In their place are shocking pinks, vivid blues, traffic-light greens and vibrant yellows.

Next fashion fad - copies of the Navy pea jacket. Watch the jacket, first copied by Yves St. Laurent, sweep the necks of the fashion world.

The all-weather laminated coat has broadened its fabric horizons to denim, chambray, duck, seersucker, burp, silk plus blends of wool and orlon or nylon. Each weathers the rain. Summarized fabrics in faded blues, citron yellow and showy awning stripes are heading for the fashion front.

Start Punch Night Before, Is Advice

New York - Sparkling pink punch will taste better if you start it the night before the wedding reception. Combine 3 packages of frozen raspberries with 1/2 cup of fine granulated sugar and 1 1/4 quart bottle of rose wine. Stir to blend. Cover.

Refrigerate several hours or overnight. Strain through a sieve, pressing lightly. Discard seeds.

Combine juice and wine blend in punchbowl with 3 (4/5 quart) bottles of rose wine, 3 quarts (2 large cans) of pineapple or pineapple-grapefruit juice, 2 (6-ounce) cans of frozen lemonade concentrate and a small block of ice. Just before serving, add 2 large bottles of pink champagne.

Here

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Adlfinger and son, formerly of Medford and now of Sacramento, Calif., have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Trautman, 2249 Siskiyou boulevard, in raincoats with foam backing.

British accented clothes are the newest on the fashion horizon for males. These put slightly more emphasis on the shoulders. Lapels are slightly broader than those associated with the Italian and other Continental influences. There is a bit of suppression at the waist and a little flare in the skirt of the jacket. The length of the jacket just covers the seat of the trousers which continue to be straight cut and slim, with or without pleats.
