Sen. Mansfield Cautious Over Medicare Plan

Washington — (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield today expressed both optimism and some restraint over chances of Senate approval of a compromise old age health care proposal.

Mansfield said following Democratic congressional leaders' weekly breakfast meeting with President Kennedy that he felt there was sufficient support to pass the legislation.

Later, just before the Senate began to debate a welfare bill which was ticketed to be the vehicle for attaching the Medicare proposal in amendment form, Mansfield mentioned a couple of possible difficulties.

In other developments: Railroads: Three railroad officials testified before the Senate antitrust subcommittee that a bill to block certain railroad mergers until 1964 would be damaging to both the industry and to the country. One witness, Pennsylvania railroad chairman James M. Symes, said the result would be to push some lines to the brink of bankruptcy.

Rusk: Secretary of State Dean Rusk told the House Foreign Affairs Committee in testimony made public today that countries which call themselves neutral are not really "innocent bystanders" in the cold war, but are themselves the issue — they and their future. His statements were made Monday in urging congressional approval of President Kennedy's proposal to buy $100 million worth of United Nations bonds.

Discrimination: Rep. Charles C. Diggs Jr. (D-Mich.) charged that there are many instances of continued racial discrimination in the Air Force and that the Pentagon has failed to do anything about it. The Negro congressman asked President Kennedy to urge his newly-named citizens advisory committee to make a full investigation of "this continuing humiliating discrimination."

Nikita's Pledge To Aid Red China Said Expected

Moscow — (AP) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev's pledge to aid Red China against attack was viewed by Western observers here today as a moderate counterpart to President Kennedy's restatement of U.S. policy on Formosa.

The observers felt that Khrushchev's warning to Nationalist China and the United States Monday was a predictable move. They pointed out that Soviet officials frequently have said an attack on one member of the "socialist camp" would be considered an attack upon all.

In an address to the nation, Khrushchev warned that any attack on Communist China would lead to a "crushing rebuff" from the entire Communist bloc.

Attacks Chiang: The Soviet leader accused Nationalist Chinese President Chiang Kai-shek of preparing an assault on the Chinese mainland with U.S. backing. He said such an "adventurous undertaking... is doomed to complete failure."

Khrushchev's declaration followed Kennedy's June 27 reaffirmation that the United States "would not remain inactive" if the Red Chinese launched an attack aimed at seizing Nationalist-held Formosa. Kennedy noted reports of a massing of Communist forces opposite the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu, which are occupied by the Chinese Nationalists.

Statements Almost Parallel: Kennedy said in his statement that any aggressive actions toward Quemoy and Matsu would be judged in relation to their threat to Formosa and "the peace of the area."

Western observers here interpreted the statements by Kennedy and Khrushchev as being almost parallel. They said Khrushchev's warning was nearly identical in tone to the 1958 Soviet position in support of Peiping when East and West disputed Quemoy and Matsu.

USIA Destroys 10,000 Pamphlets On Space Efforts

Washington — (AP) — The U.S. Information Agency is grinding into pulp 10,000 copies of a pamphlet on U.S. space achievements.

The trouble is that after some of the copies had been distributed to U.S. embassies abroad, it was discovered that they contained descriptions and pictures of two satellites about which the Pentagon does not talk.

Those were prototype versions of the Midas, designed to detect missile launchings by infrared sensors, and Samos, an observation satellite to examine "the nature of the globe."

Decided on Silence: Both have been popularly dubbed "spies in the sky" and as far back as November, 1961, the administration decided it would be better for international public relations purposes not to talk about them.

The pamphlet, "U.S. Satellites—The First 30," was printed for the U.S. government in Manila. It apparently disclosed no government secrets, but U.S. embassies around the world were ordered to kill it.

Somehow, the state department apparently missed word of the cancellation. United Press International picked up a copy from a table in the Public Affairs office. It was apparently the last copy.

ADA Urges Lower Bracket Tax Cut

Washington — (AP) — The Americans for Democratic Action, criticizing the Kennedy administration's "conservative economic policies," today urged immediate and heavy tax cuts in the lower brackets.

The liberal organization suggested beginning "with a cut from 20 per cent to 10 per cent" in the tax rate paid by the lowest income group.

John P. Roche, chairman of ADA, said the administration's policies have "already gone too far toward appeasing business complaints by tax concessions."

He suggested cutting off the first $1,000 of taxable income in the lowest tax group. "It is outrageously unjust," he said, "to take nearly $200 in income tax from a married worker earning the minimum wage of $46 per week."

Last Convict Ends Holdout on Tower

Pittsburgh — (AP) — The water tower rebellion that began more than a week ago at Western Correctional Institution ended in the rain early today when the last holdout convict descended from his perch on an 80-foot high catwalk.

Life-terminer Charles Cannon Miller, 32, climbed warily down from the water tank at 5:55 a.m. He was the last of 13 original convict rebels who protested alleged cruel and "inhuman" treatment inside the nearly century-old prison in the city's woods run section.

Prison Officials Hope To Learn Source of Tools

San Quentin, Calif. — (AP) — San Quentin Prison officials moved on two fronts today in investigation of a desperate, but unsuccessful, escape attempt by six Death Row inmates.

The officials hoped to learn where the prisoners got the hacksaw blades they used to cut their way out of their cells and—even more baffling—where the blades now are hidden.

The six men, all convicted murderers, were put in solitary confinement after they failed Monday in an effort to break out of the well-known prison.

Warden Fred Dickson said all attempts to learn about the hacksaw blades from the prisoners have been futile. "They don't talk," he said.

The six men held two guards captive for three hours during their attempted break, but they got no farther than the heavy steel door that seals off Death Row.

The guards, both injured by the prisoners, were released, as were two guns the inmates took from one hostage, when other guards fired about 40 tear gas shells into the cell block.

The convicts tried to bargain for their freedom by telephone with Dickson, but prison policy does not permit the doors to be opened even if the warden's life is at stake. The prisoners finally surrendered.

Ready To Quit: Clyde Bates, a mass murderer from Los Angeles, told Dickson: "Warden, we're ready to give up. We don't want someone to come in here with tommy guns and shoot us like rats."

Besides Bates, those taking part in the escape bid were Luis Moya, 23, Augustine Baldonado, 29; David Bickley, 22; Manuel Chavez, 30; and Willard Winhoven, 51. All but Bickley were sentenced to die, and Bickley's sentence had just been reversed pending a new trial on the death penalty.

Local Children Celebrate Fourth With Patriotic Day

Total registration for the summer program at Howard school playground is now 155. At least 75 children have attended activities each day, according to Miss Patsy Charley, playground supervisor.

The playground activities are under the direction of the Medford City Recreation program, and include boys baseball, girls softball, tumbling, games, arts and crafts, and archery. Swimming is taught Tuesdays and Thursdays at the Hawthorne park pool, and baton lessons are given by Miss Dayle Nesheim of the recreation department.

Fridays are special events days, Miss Charley noted. June 29 was patriot's day, and all children celebrated the coming Fourth of July by dressing as a historical character or in red, white or blue. Grand sweepstakes winner was Shelly Beare, dressed as Florence Nightingale.

First place winners were Shannon Reynolds as Betsy Ross; Sheila Berke as Mrs. Thomas Jefferson; Linda Johnson, Jefferson's daughter; and Dennis Barnard as Jefferson's grandson.

Mary Firman and Darrel Frieson were first place winners in the red, white and blue division.

The Howard playground is open from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m., and is supervised by Miss Charley, Harold Boner and Ben Quackenbush.

Stock List Extends Four-Day Advance On Brisk Turnover

New York — (AP) — Stocks managed a mild extension of their steady four day advance in the first hour today on brisk turnover.

Most of the blue chip issues cruised within levels. Steels, autos and oils showed little change and oils showed little change, featuring Du Pont up 1 1/2 and Union Carbide ahead 7 1/2. Owens-Illinois gained a point.

Lincoln Justice Declared Guilty

Newport, Ore. — (AP) — A Lincoln County Circuit Court jury Monday found North Lincoln Justice of the Peace Lambert Benson guilty on two counts of forgery.

The jury deliberated more than three hours before finding Benson guilty of forging checks for $100 and $300. Benson was found innocent on another count charging him with forging the name of Thomas Bates on a $104 check.

Benson also has an appointment with Delake, and bookkeeping and accounting work for the Phillips and Homes Logging Co. Inc.

His attorney indicated an appeal will be filed. No time has been set for sentencing, but Benson could receive up to 10 years in prison on each count.

Fire Damages School Auditorium

Portland — (AP) — Fire caused extensive damage to the auditorium of the St. Rita's elementary school early today. Damage was estimated at $30,000.

Fire officials began an investigation into the cause of the fire which was believed to have started in the stage area of the building.

The fire did not damage the school which is adjacent to the concrete and wood auditorium.

Parkrose Fire Chief Ken Hickey said fire resistant glass which had recently been installed between the auditorium and the school was credited with saving the school from damage.

He said that normal glass would have melted from the intense heat.

Republican Governors Threaten Floor Fight To Win Civil Rights Resolution

Hershey, Pa. — (AP) — Republican governors threatened a floor fight at the National Governors' Conference today in an effort to win adoption of a strong civil rights resolution.

This move was discussed at a breakfast caucus of GOP governors a mid indications that the resolutions committee would report a fairly bland resolution to stave off a flare-up by dissenting southern Democrats.

The Republicans discussed offering a toughening amendment if a soft resolution is reported. It was reported that they would be almost unanimous in supporting any such amendment.

Govs. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, Mark Hatfield of Oregon and Elmer L. Anderson of Minnesota all were sponsors of stronger civil rights proposals than the one the resolutions committee was expected to approve.

Other Issues Due: The civil rights issue was but one of the controversial ones headed for the session this afternoon at the final business session of the 54th annual Governors' Conference.

The governors appeared ready to give the Kennedy administration support on the medical care issue and to condemn its proposed cutbacks in National Guard strength. They also were prepared to call for reversal by constitutional amendment of last week's Supreme Court decision outlawing prayers in public schools.

They were compressing their normal three days of business into two to free them for a trip Wednesday to Philadelphia to hear a Fourth of July address by President Kennedy at Independence Hall.

Democratic governors reported that they appeared to have the votes to adopt a resolution giving a general endorsement to the President's program for financing medical care for the aged under the Social Security system.

Oppose Guard Reduction: Republicans and Democrats, however, were presenting a solid — or almost solid — front against the Pentagon's plans to reduce the manpower in the National Guard and Army Reserve units.

The governors went through a procedural wrangle marked by some snappish exchanges Monday while voting to send a resolution over the Supreme Court's prayer decision to the resolutions committee. The conference amended a rule adopted only last year to allow last-minute resolutions to be referred to the committee by a two-thirds vote instead of requiring unanimous consent.

Sponsors Prayer Resolution: Govs. John Reed of Maine, chairman of the resolutions committee, and Farris Bryant of Florida sponsored the prayer resolution. It expressed regret over the court's decision and asked for a constitutional amendment to permit prayers in public schools.

Hatfield circulated a petition which had collected the signatures of 29 governors by Monday night. Addressed to Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and congressional leaders of both parties, the petition asked for a constitutional amendment to nullify the high court's decision.

Discussion of the prayer resolution was interrupted Monday for an address by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, who defended the administration's plan to cut the authorized strength of the National Guard and Army Reserve from 700,000 men to 642,000.

He tried but failed to convince the governors that the proposed reorganization would make for a more effective defense establishment.
