

Term in Jail Awaiting Stolen Stock Holders

New York — More than $1,300,000 worth of stolen blue chip stocks were sought by police today. The hot securities will turn into tickets to jail for anyone who tries to cash them in.

Before authorities revealed they knew of the theft from the Wall Street brokerage firm of Bache & Co., two men allegedly tried to peddle some of the stocks and were caught.

The stock certificate numbers were on file today at brokerage house throughout the U.S. and chances are slim that holders of the stocks could sell them.

The two men in custody—convicted bookmaker Isidore Gorlitsky, 41, and Alan Louis Fisher, 55—had less than $90,000 worth of the stolen securities.

A spokesman for Bache said that the certificates were negotiable before they were stolen but that as soon as the theft came to light the brokerage firm in effect stopped payment on them much in the manner of a check.

New certificates will replace the stolen ones.

Still missing are 1,800 shares of Du Pont; 2,400 of International Business Machines; 100 American Telephone and Telegraph; 100 General Motors; 500 Xerox and 500 Polaroid.

The stocks were taken about three weeks ago from Bache & Co. vaults where more than $200 million in securities are stored.

Jun, 73, born in Algeria, broke publicly with de Gaulle on the Algerian question in 1960. He did not actively oppose the president but did not keep his opinions secret.

Sources said they tried to obtain information on the country's armed forces and the current U.S. nuclear test series in the Pacific.

Honolulu Beauty Wins Miss U.S.A. Crown at Pageant

Miami Beach — A sun bronzed "child of heaven" from Hawaii carries American standards against 51 foreign beauties tonight in the first round of judging for the Miss Universe title.

Shapely Macel Leilani Wilson, 19-year-old typist-receptionist from Honolulu, won the "Miss U.S.A." crown Thursday night from 15 other semi-finalists.

"I feel great," she told newsmen, choking back tears.

She said she had been too nervous to eat dinner before the judging but when she stepped onto the stage, she told herself: "If you're going to be a queen, you have to walk like a queen."

And she walked off with the title, worth $6,000 in prizes and a shot at the bigger crown Saturday night, by parading first in a full-skirted white evening gown and then in a pink swim-suit that showed off a near-perfect 36-23½-35½ figure.

Her first thoughts after she won, she said were for her boy friend, Michael Webster, a Navy electrician from Eau Claire, Wis., stationed at Honolulu, and her parents.

Besides Miss Hawaii, the finalists were: Miss Connecticut, Diane Mary Zabicki of Middletown, first runnerup; Miss Tennessee, Gail White of Chattanooga, second runnerup; Miss California, Marilyn Ann Tindall of Hollywood, third runnerup, and Miss Nevada, Janet Hadland of Las Vegas, fourth runnerup.

Atomic Energy Committee OKs Public Power Plant at Hanford

Washington — The Joint Committee on Atomic Energy Thursday agreed to let a public power company build the world's largest atomic power plant at Hanford, Wash.

The committee, by a voice vote, agreed to allow the Washington Public Power Supply System to build the 800,000 kilowatt power plant to use waste steam from a plutonium-producing reactor under construction by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) said Rep. Chet Hollifield, (D-Calif.) would present the committee's approval of the plan to the House as a committee amendment to the AEC authorization bill. The legislation is scheduled for action Monday or Tuesday.

The House last year rejected an earlier proposal for federal construction of the project.

Rep. James Van Zandt (R-Pa.), who led the successful fight to kill the project then, voted merely "present" in Thursday's closed-door meeting. Rep. Craig Hosmer, (R-Calif.) joined Van Zandt in voting present rather than in opposing the bill.

Major Crimes in United States Set All-Time Record

Washington — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover reported Thursday that major crimes committed in the United States last year rose by 3 per cent to a new all-time peak.

Hoover especially deplored the increase in arrests of youngsters under 18 in recent years. He called it "one of the major problems plaguing law enforcement" and said that unless the trend is reversed, it will result in "serious consequences for the future of our country."

As usual, the crime rate in big city areas was three times higher than the rate for rural areas and twice that of small towns.

Statistics reported by 7,800 law enforcement agencies showed that arrests of boys and girls under 18 increased by 4 per cent in 1961.

These arrests made up 15 per cent of all criminal cases last year, Hoover said.

Only one vote was cast against it, that by Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.).

The amendment, as proposed by Jackson, included a requirement that WPPSS, a municipal corporation, offer at least 50 per cent of the power produced by the project to private utilities.

The FBI chief said his agency's uniform crime reports show there were an estimated 1,926,090 serious crimes committed last year—an average of four every minute.

Crimes against property—robbery, burglary, larceny and auto theft—increased by 4 per cent in 1961. Crimes against the person—such as murder, rape and aggravated assault—showed an average 1 per cent gain.

Outstrips Population Growth

Since the nation's population rose by 2 per cent last year, the national crime rate showed a 1 per cent increase.

But Hoover said the rate of growth of crime has outstripped population growth by nearly five to one over the past five years.

Hoover said the action by the committee had created a basis for proceeding with the proposal, which has been hanging fire for many years.

However, he said all had agreed to accept it in order to help gain approval of the project.

Hurd sent telegrams to the president of six private utilities in Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana offering the power. He said none had yet responded.

Jackson said the action by the committee had created a basis for proceeding with the proposal, which has been hanging fire for many years.

He said the amendment, if accepted by Congress, would meet objections of the General Accounting Office, which had held that a contract between the AEC and WPPSS would require congressional approval.

71 Policemen Killed

Other figures in the 1961 report showed:

—About eight of every 100 policemen were assaulted on the job. There were more than 13,000 incidents of this kind. A total of 71 law enforcement officers were killed in the line of duty.

—The 8,600 murders last year represented a decline of 4 per cent from 1960. Robberies were down by 1 per cent and the number of rapes were unchanged at 16,010.

—Average number of policemen per 1,000 inhabitants was unchanged from 1960.

—An estimated 326,200 auto thefts were reported to police last year—one stolen car every 1.5 minutes.

Hoover, summing up the figures, declared: "We have yet to learn as a nation that law enforcement is everybody's business and that crime can only be curtailed by effective law enforcement agencies backed by aroused citizens."
