

Area Goodwill Tour Delegates to Leave

Mr. and Mrs. Nat Etzel, Eagle Point, will leave Portland July 16 as hosts for the first annual Oregon Future Farmers of America People to People Goodwill agricultural delegation tour of eastern and western Europe.

Etzel is FFA advisor at Eagle Point High school and vocational agricultural instructor there.

The delegation, which includes two Jackson county youths and a total of 16 Oregon FFA members, will visit England, France, Scotland, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Hungary. The People to People program was originated by former president Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Help Finance Trip

Leaving from Jackson county also will be John B. Patrick and Larry F. Richey, Eagle Point and Phoenix FFA members, respectively.

Organizations helping to finance Patrick's trip include the Jackson County Farm Bureau Federation, Pomona Grange, Eagle Point, Central Point, Gold Hill, Sams Valley, Roxy Ann, Lake Creek, Upper Rogue, and Shady Cove Granges, the Eagle Point Lions, Medford Lions, Shady Cove Trail Lions, Antelope 4-H club, Shady Cove Rotary, Eagle Point and Central Point Jayvees, Grange Co-op, Jackson county soil conservation service, Johnny Minor, Harper Logging, both of Shady Cove, and others.

Relatives are helping to finance Richey's trip. Estimated cost per person is $1,347.

Tour highlights will include one of the largest livestock agricultural shows in Europe, "Tunbridge Wells East County Agriculture Show" near London, farm inspection tours near London, visit to a rural youth camp in the Prague area, a dinner meeting with members of the Hungarian Agriculture Society, and inspection of French farming operations near Paris.

Purpose of the tour is "To give the Future Farmers of Oregon an opportunity to carry a message of Goodwill to the farm youth and associated trades people in Europe, especially in the Communist dominated sections; to see and inspect typical agricultural operations; to learn something of the conditions that exist and to have an enjoyable holiday visiting with young people who are delegates of their countries," according to the tour booklet.

Senators Urge Steps To Protect Fruit Exports

Washington - Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) has joined 17 other senators in urging the U.S. State department to take "vigorous steps" to protect foreign markets for U.S. fruit exports.

The bi-partisan group of Congressmen specifically urged removal of non-tariff barriers on fruit exports to Britain, Europe and Scandinavian countries, and holding down of tariffs on U.S. fruit if and when Great Britain is admitted to the Common Market.

The Senators, in correspondence to Under Secretary of State George W. Ball, claimed the major market tariff barriers are seasonal restrictions, quotas and licensing, unreasonable packaging requirements, and delayed announcements of opening dates.

Referring to Great Britain joining the Common Market, the group said, "We want to be sure that the existing commonwealth (tariffs) preferences will not be extended to other Common Market countries and will be progressively eliminated without detriment to U.S. fruit exports."

"The United Kingdom is an extremely important market for U.S. fruit. The present UK market favored national tariffs are considerably below the external tariffs of the Common Market for most of these items."

The Senators stressed that the State Department should act to insure that the "competitive purchase of U.S. exporters in relation to Commonwealth suppliers is not impaired at any time."
