Area Firms Support Promotion Program

Nine Medford area businesses are giving financial support to a National Wood Promotion program sponsored by the National Lumber Manufacturers association, Washington, D.C., in an effort to improve lumber sales and services to wood consumers.

Participating in the program are Alley Brothers, Forest Lumber company, Ltd., Smith-Dynge Lumber company, Western Lumber, Inc., Concrete Steel corporation, Crater Lake Machinery company, Rogue Equipment Sales, Inc., Padgham Glass and Millwork company, and Kliever Machine shop.

The program includes a comprehensive merchandising-advertising-technical promotion activity intended to increase acceptance of wood as a modern material and to improve competitive position of wood in the market place.

Openings Noted In Aerospace Program

Career opportunities and steady employment are available to high school and college graduates on the Aerospace team, according to Master Sgt. Harold K. O'Leary, local Air Force recruiter.

O'Leary stated that he will talk with both young men and women about the opportunities of the Air Force. Openings for male officers and airmen are available in such fields as missiles, electronics, and security. Career fields in the female officers include communications, photomapping, education, medical and dental.

The Family Council

Editor's note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, three editors and a women's editor. Each article is a summary of a family disagreement presented to the Council. The Council deals with problems, major and minor, encountered by guidance counselors and social workers. Edited by Mrs. Alma Denny. (Copyright by General Features Corp.)

Marvin D. — I'm in love with a girl who rarely speaks! Mae C. — She'd be a liability to him.

Marvin D. — My family warns me not to get serious with Vicki, but I'm tremendously attracted to her. My sister calls her Lady Sphinx because she can't get more than a Yes or No out of her. But I find her sweet and lovely and not dumb mentally.

With me, she utters the essentials, even to saying she likes me very much. But there's no such thing as conversation, light talk or chatter. We both enjoy dancing, bowling. In fact our tastes are very much alike. But with her so silent, I'm wondering what our social life will be.

She has no speech defect, no language difficulty. But she'd rather nod or shake her head than contribute a word out loud.

Mae C. — I'm Marvin's sister and I think he'd have a lifelong problem on his hands if he married this Mona Lisa who keeps her mouth closed and keeps us guessing.

What sort of help could be to him when they're out socially, at dinner parties or business functions? After three months of dating her, he still hasn't fathomed the riddle of her silence. I can't tell if he likes her in spite of it or because of it. But I know he's puzzled by it, and wondering whether to ask Vicki about it.

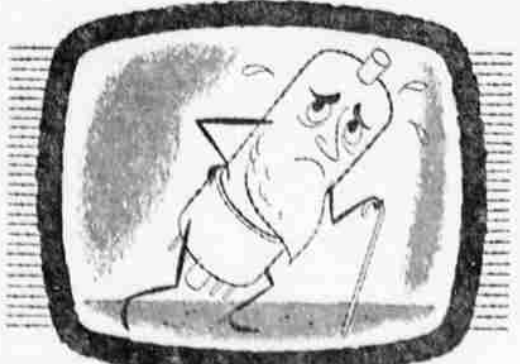

In a restaurant where my husband and I joined them last week, Vicki smiled, gestured and motioned, but said little more than "How do you do?" She seems to have no opinions or ideas.

The Council: Without meeting Vicki face to face or checking her I. Q., we can only guess her to be either mentally retarded or phenomenally brilliant. We advise Marvin to continue seeing her only long enough to determine which — then he should decide whether he wants to marry a girl who can keep her secret so well.

Offhand we can think of a dozen reasons for a girl to act enigmatically. It's intriguing. It's attention — getting. She may be hiding something. She may fear a slip of the tongue. Has she a block — traceable to a childhood trauma — against the sound of her own voice? Is she so withdrawn that she talks only to herself? Or does her job involve so much yak (selling or interviewing) that she rears her tongue whenever possible?
