Paul Hornung Seeks Release from Army

By JACK BRANHAN

Ft. Riley, Kan. – (UPI) – Pfc. Paul Hornung patted his bulging duffel bag affectionately, then sat down on his tightly made bunk.

"I'll be mighty glad to get out of here," he said, his gaze sweeping the barracks walls. "There's nothing to do now but wait."

Hornung, halfback for the Green Bay Packers and the leading scorer in the National Football league for the past two seasons, was impatient. He applied two weeks ago for an early release from the Army. His application remains unanswered.

Ready To Go

"Sure, these things take time," he said. "But I've been ready to get out of here for the past week. I'm ready to go, but all I can do now is wait."

Hornung's Army Reserve unit, the 896th Engineers company, was called to active duty for one year last Oct. 15. Horning applied for an early release so he could join the Packers in their training camp this month at Green Bay, Wis. Then the unit received notice that all of its personnel would be released from active duty on Aug. 1, almost three months earlier than expected.

Has No Regrets

"This early release for the unit may have something to do with the delay in my application," Hornung said. "But I don't see why it should. I should be in Green Bay as soon as possible."

Hornung, 26, a former All-American at Notre Dame, said he had no regrets about his military service. He has worked during recent weeks in the company information office, although his first duties at Ft. Riley consisted primarily of driving a jeep.

His Army duties, however, failed to interrupt his play with the Packers. He received regular week end passes during last season so he could join the team wherever it had a game.

Fullmer Upsets Rivero

By JACK CUDDY
UPI Sports Writer

New York – (UPI) – Don Fullmer, younger brother of middleweight co - champion Gene, piled up enough points in the early rounds last night to off-set a drubbing later and win an upset split decision over slugger Juan (Rocky) Rivero of Argentina in their middleweight television fight.

Rivero, favored at 8-5 because of his remarkable record of 37 knockouts in 37 victories, was unable to reach taller Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, with his short-armed swings at Don's head until 23-year-old Don tired in the later going.

Don, weighing 160½ pounds to Rivero's 160, broke Rivero's knockout string at six straight kayoes and tagged him with his seventh defeat in 45 professional bouts.

Referee Jimmy Devlin penalized Fullmer the ninth round for persistent holding. However, Rivero had won that session easily.

Referee Devlin and Judge Joe Agnello favored Fullmer on a rounds basis by the identical count, 6-4. Judge Albert gave each five rounds but favored Rivero on backstopping points, 6-5. Because of two points awarded to the Buenos Aires Bomber in the ninth round.

The United Press International favored Fullmer, 6-4. And A UPI poll of 10 writers favored Fullmer nine to one.

The crowed, estimated at 1,800, in Madison Squar Garden, booed Fullmer because of his holding tactics in the sixth, ninth and 10th rounds.

There were no knockdowns during the bout in which Don fought craftily until he tired. He circled and side-stepped his pursuing opponent round after round and beat him long left jabs and right counters.

By winning his 27th victory in 34 fights, Don clinched a bout with middleweight contender Denny Moyer at Tacoma, Wash., on August 15, matchmaker Teddy Brenner announced.

It was Don's 27th victory in 34 professional bouts, and it was a very pleasant win because it happened on brother Gene's 31st birthday. Gene is recognized as world middleweight champion by the National Boxing association.

U.S. Men Leading Russians 61-45 In Stanford Meet

By HAL WOOD
UPI Sports Writer

Stanford, Calif. – (UPI) – A grimly determined bank of United States male athletes swept through the Russians today and won eight of 10 events in the first day of their international dual competition.

Paced by a world record throw of 231 feet, 10 inches in the hammer throw by Hal Connolly, the Yankees won every event except the 20-kilometer (about 12 miles) walk and 10,000 meter run in a meet that was supposed to be close.

With one day still to go, the U.S. men held a 61-45 point lead. And our American ladies weren't doing too badly either, trailing only 22-30 after their first five events.

There were seven meet records established and one equaled as the grueling competition struggled through 82-degree heat in the Stanford stadium for more than three hours.

A record crowd of 72,500, largest ever to see a dual meet in this country, watched in awe at the power and speed of the athletes and stayed until the final event.

Most of them never had seen a hammer throw before because these competitions usually are held in seclusion because of the danger.

And they got the greatest show of its kind on earth.

Besides his world record heave, which came on the fifth try and climbed so high it appeared it was going to leave the stadium, Connolly got off tosses of 227 feet, 10 inches; 225, 228-10½, 227-2 inches; and 227-7 inches.

"They said I was washed up," said Connolly later, "I had to show 'em."

The other big thrill to the crowd came in the pole vault where Ron Morris of the United States cleared 16 feet, three-quarters inch.

Wilma Rudolph, heroine of the 1960 Olympic games, was the first day's star for the American women. She won the 100-meter dash at 11.5 seconds; and then she anchored the 400-meter relay team to a come-from-behind victory.
