Don Drysdale, Purkey Threaten Modern Club Pitching Records

By FRED DOWN

Maybe it is a hitter's game but you can't prove it by Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers and Bob Purkey of the Cincinnati Reds, who are threatening modern club pitching records of their respective teams.

Drysdale, the free-wheeling right-hander who is doing "extra duty" since the Dodgers lost the services of the ailing Sandy Koufax, scored his 18th victory of the season Wednesday night in Los Angeles' 5-2 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Purkey, a World Series hero in defeat last autumn, gained his 16th triumph as the Reds stretched their longest winning streak of the season to eight games with a 13-6 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

With at least 15 more starting assignments left to each this season, Drysdale is a threat to equal or surpass the modern Dodger club mark of 29 victories in a season set by Joe McGinnity in 1900 while Purkey is in a strong position to top the Reds' club mark of 27, which is shared by Adolph Luque and Bucky Walters. Drysdale has lost only four games and Purkey has suffered only three losses.

Drysdale needed the late-inning help of Ron Perranoski and Ed Roebuck plus a 14-hit attack that included a triple and homer by Maury Wills, three hits by Willie Davis and a triple by Frank Howard. Drysdale yielded eight hits in seven innings, including a sixth-inning homer by Stan Musial which enabled the 41-year-old Cardinal star to set a lifetime NL mark of 1,862 runs batted in.

Purkey allowed two homers by Smoky Burgess but was backed by a 21-hit attack that included four hits by Frank Robinson and three each by Eddie Kasko, Don Blasingame, Jerry Lynch and Leo Cardenas. The Reds clinched it with a five-run eighth-inning rally.

The San Francisco Giants downed the Houston Colts, 3-2, the Milwaukee Braves whipped the New York Mets, 11-5, and the Chicago Cubs defeated the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-2, in the other NL action.

The Los Angeles Angels moved to within 2½ games of the American league lead when they beat the Baltimore Orioles, 5-0, and the New York Yankees lost to the Boston Red Sox, 4-2, before scoring a 6-4 victory. The Minnesota Twins nipped the Detroit Tigers, 7-6, the Washington Senators edged the Chicago White Sox, 4-3, and the Kansas City Athletics shaded the Cleveland Indians, 5-4.

O'Dell Won 12th

Billy O'Dell went 6 1/3 innings to win his 12th game for the Giants, whose 12-hit attack included a homer by Jim Davenport, a triple by Felipe Alou and two hits by Willie Mays. Bob Aspromonte homered for the Colts.

Joe Adcock drove in four runs with two homers and Eddie Mathews knocked in five with a pair of circuits as the Braves clobbered the Mets with a 10-hit attack. Bob Hendley won his seventh games for the Braves while Roger Craig, tagged for five runs and seven hits in five innings, suffered his 16th defeat.

Ernie Banks drove in three runs with his 25th and 26th homers of the season to help Bob Buhl win his seventh game for the Cubs. Wes Covington's two-run homer accounted for the Phillies' runs.

Don Lee and Dean Chance combined in a six-hitter for the Angels who have won seven of their last nine games. Earl Averill, batting for Lee Thomas with the Angels ahead, 2-0, in the seventh inning, clinched the victory with a three-run homer. It was Lee's eighth win against seven defeats.

Yanks, Bosox Split

Pinch-hitter Hector Lopez' two run eighth-inning single enabled the Yankees to gain a split with the Red Sox and gave relief pitcher Marshall Bridges his fourth win without a loss. Earl Wilson, aided by Dick Radatz' late-inning relief, won his first game since his June 26 no-hitter in the opener.

Mickey Mantle and Tom Tresh homered for the Yanks in the first game and Carl Yastrezemski and Gary Reiger connected for the Red Sox in the nightcap.

Rich Rollins' third hit of the game climaxed a two-run ninth-inning rally and gave Minnesota relief pitcher Ray Moore his sixth win. Bob Allison and Vic Power homered for the Twins while Chico Fernandez and Steve Boros homered for the Tigers.

Claude Osteen scattered nine hits to win his fifth game for the Senators while Joe Azcue's two-run homer and Bill Fischer's ninth-inning clutch relief pitching saved the Athletics' triumph over Cleveland.

Sandy Koufax To Be Permitted To Suit Up Friday

Los Angeles – (UPI) – The Los Angeles Dodger pennant drive jumped a few points today with word that injured Sandy Koufax will be permitted to suit up with the club Friday but the strikeout ace won't be allowed to throw until early August.

Koufax will be allowed to throw by the end of the coming Dodger home stand – either the first or second week in August – if he continues to improve at the same "much more rapid" pace, said Dr. Robert Woods, team physician.

This would mean Koufax, ailing from constriction of the blood vessels in his left index finger, might be able to rejoin the club sooner than the six weeks originally feared.

Hull succeeds Tom DeSylvia, who resigned last week and reportedly will become head coach at Portland State college. Hull has been an assistant at Jefferson for 10 years, but earlier this year was named head coach at Benson Tech.

National League Overpowers AL In City Baseball

More than 100 people saw the National league defeat the Americans 10 to 2 Wednesday afternoon in Medford Recreation Sandblower baseball action.

The game, played at Hawthorne park, is sponsored annually by the City of Medford recreation department. It is held between the first and second rounds of league action. League play was to resume today.

Each team used its starting lineup for three and a half innings. Members of the two teams were then completely changed for the remaining innings. The leagues consists of youths 8 to 10 years old.

Indianapolis Makes AA Race 1-Club Affair

By United Press International

Indianapolis was turning the American association race into a one-club affair.

The Indians stomped Dallas-Fort Worth 8-5 last night to move three and a half games in front of Omaha, about the only contender left for first spot.

The Dodgers split their twin bill at Oklahoma City, dropping the 12-inning opener 5-4 but grabbing the finale, 5-3. In another extra-frame affair, Louisville right-fielder Jim Bolger singled in the winning run in the 10th as the Colonels nicked the Denver Bears, 4-3.

The schedule tonight had Indianapolis at Dallas-Fort Worth, Omaha at Oklahoma City and Denver at Louisville.

Yogi Berra Named To All-Star Team

Boston – (UPI) – Yogi Berra, whose 1959 homer helped the American league to its last All-Star game victory, heads for additional players named for next Monday's second All-Star game.

American All-Star Manager Ralph Houk of New York made Berra one of his choices while planning a breakthrough of National league domination in recent All-Star competition. The Nationals, once far in arrears of the American leaguers in the All-Star won-lost records, have won four and tied one in the last five meetings.

Joining Berra, named for the 14th successive season, were Boston first baseman Pete Runnels, the current American league batting leader, and pitchers Jim Kaat of Minnesota and Ken McBride of Los Angeles.

Houk also repeated a first game move in which Baltimore pitcher Milt Pappas replaced ailing teammate Hoyt Wilhelm on the American league pitching staff.

To make room for the fourth additional player, Houk was forced to drop Boston pitcher Bill Monbouquette from his first game mound staff. Under the rules, the All-Star manager may add only three players for the second game but is permitted to make changes in his pitching and reserve choices.

The remainder of the American league squad will be the same which lost a 3-1 decision to the Nationals two weeks ago at Washington. The National win pulled the league to within one victory of tying the American league's once-dominant 16 victories in All-Star competition.

Cincinnati – (UPI) – Art Mahaffey, whose 13 victories with the seventh-place Philadelphia Phillies stamp him as one of the majors' brightest young pitchers, and three top sluggers were named today to the National league squad for the season's second All-Star game in Chicago, July 30.

Mahaffey was named to replace the ailing Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers while outfielders Frank Robinson of the Cincinnati Reds and Billy Williams of the Chicago Cubs and Milwaukee third baseman Eddie Mathews were added to the squad which beat the American League All-Stars, 3-1, in the first All-Star game at Washington, July 9. Both the NL and AL squads will have 28 players for the second meeting of the game's top stars.

Manager Fred Hutchinson also named managers Birdie Tebbetts of the Braves and Harry Craft of the Houston Colts to replace first-game coaches Casey Stengel of the New York Mets and Johnny Keane of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Mahaffey, a 6-2, 200-pound fastballer, has compiled a 13-9 record for the Phillies.

This is the ninth time Mathews has been chosen, the fifth time for Robinson and the first time for Williams.
