New Federations Plan To Fight AAU

Chicago — (UPI) — Newly-organized federations in track and basketball will offer passive resistance to the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) in their campaign to gain international recognition in control of sports in the U.S.

The AAU has international recognition in both sports now.

Organization of the federation, the Basketball Federation of the United States and the U.S. Track and Field federation, was completed this week with election of officers, approval of budgets, and decisions to name executive directors and set up offices.

Cliff Fagan of the National High School federation, newly-elected secretary of the basketball group, said the AAU would not be able to use NCAA athletes in international games against the Russians this November without recognizing the federation. W. W. Russell, new president of the track group, said its athletes would not be permitted to compete in AAU sanctioned events.

Jack Nicklaus Favored In Canadian Open Meet

Laval-Sur-Le-Lac, Que. — (UPI) — Canada's annual blue-ribbon golf attraction, the 53rd Canadian Open, starts today at the lush Laval-Sur-Le-Lac layout with freshman pro Jack Nicklaus touted as the man to beat.

Almost without exception, the touring pros agree this short 6,555-yard, par 36-72 course is built for the "long hitters."

"I'll be very surprised if Jack Nicklaus doesn't win," said Gary Player, the South African who won the PGA championship last week at Newtown Square, Pa.

"The big hitters have a tremendous advantage here."

Player, playing in his first Canadian Open, more or less discounted himself as a potential winner, saying that the PGA "was the toughest tournament I have ever played... and I don't see how I can get that charged up again so soon."

Art Wall Jr., the quiet man from Pocono Manor, Pa., and a winner in this $30,000 event two years ago in Toronto, was asked to pick a winner.

"The big hitter," he said, "the guy that can reach those par-5's in two-holes like one, five and 18—are going to have a big edge."

In addition to Nicklaus, Player and Wall, some of the more highly rated pros in this event are big George Bayer, from Miami, Bob Goalby, a runner-up to Wall two years ago; Doug Ford, from New York who is also a former Canadian Open champ; and defending champion Jack Y.

queror of Ray Senkowski, Detroit, will play Allen Fox of Los Angeles, who beat Eugene Scott, St. James, N.Y., 6-4, 6-4. Bond defeated Roger Werksman of Los Angeles, 6-3, 6-4, and Neely eliminated George Sokol of Bryn Mawr, Pa., 6-2, 6-3.

bourne, Australia, holder of the Australian, Swiss, French and Italian titles, will take on Judy Alvarez of Tampa, Fla., in the women's quarter finals. Miss Smith eliminated Marilyn Montgomery, San Antonio, Texas, 6-4, 6-0, while Miss Alvarez downed Carole Caldwell of Santa Monica, Calif.
