Sullivan-Stelle Rites Held In Catholic Church

An event of Friday, July 21, was the wedding of Miss Karen Lorraine Stelle to DeLore Patrick Sullivan. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Stelle, 610 Clark street, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Burdette Sullivan, 535 Haven street.

The Rev. John Ilg performed the double ring ceremony in Sacred Heart Catholic church. About 25 guests attended the rite, held at 10 o'clock in the morning. Varicolored gladioli decorated the church.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a dress of royal blue jersey with white accessories. Her bouquet was of white carnations, and her short veil was held by a crown of pearls.

Mrs. John Cantrall, Ashland, attended the bride. She wore a brown checked frock with black accessories, and a white carnations corsage.

Michael Sullivan, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man.

The couple traveled to the Oregon coast on their wedding trip. They are making their home at 531 West Tenth street.

The bride attended Medford High school, and is employed by Medford Business Exchange. The bridegroom attends St. Mary's High school. He is employed by Howard Cooper corporation.

Centralia, July 25—Today we emptied our big summer purse and fortnight case and made a stack of the pamphlets, maps, booklets, bits of paper on which we made travel notes and other reading material we accumulated during the first part of vacation. We have a couple of big boxes at home filled with other travel material which we couldn't bear to throw away but which hasn't been looked at—that we can remember—since we brought it home from trips in past years.

As for the maps, Pappy would tell all and sundry that his spouse accomplishes very little by looking at a map. Since he pilots The Doll, we're supposed to be the navigator, but we're probably a very poor one. For one thing, if the car is traveling anything but north, we have the urge to turn the map upside down. We never had the courage to admit this until several months ago Gay Pauley, UPI women's editor, wrote a column about how she argues with her Navy-trained husband over the business of how to hold a road map. Gay points the map in the direction the car is traveling, something which her husband thinks is quite crazy.

As the result of the column, two upside-down maps were brought to the attention of the UPI office in New York City. One was a map of the New Jersey Garden State Parkway, and an explanation that "The southbound route is shown upside down to provide a clear picture of the route south as motorists would be actually traveling it. The town names, route numbers, parkway interchanges, etc., are right side up, and the map route . . . is pointed in the direction you're headed. It obviates the need of turning a map upside down, when going south, to help figure out whether to turn right or left."

Potpourri did not make this up. It came in on the UPI wire to the Mail Tribune office several weeks ago and we hoarded it to use just at the right time. It turned up in a pocket of our traveling bag today. Of course, the time we needed it was back in Nevada when the two of us were trying to find the names of mountains. Pappy kept telling us they would be on the left side of the highway as we traveled, and Potpourri kept insisting they should be on the other side. He was right.

But we digress. The other map was issued by the Esso company and is the Atlantic seaboard states. It was made primarily for New York to Florida drivers, according to the company. So there. Now we can prove that we aren't the only strange motorists when it comes to map reading.

While sitting with mother at Sharon home this afternoon we read a pamphlet given us at the Mormon information center in Salt Lake City and entitled "About Mormonism," and found it highly interesting. The pamphlet has material about the church's early sanction of plural marriages, and the abandonment of the practice. The booklet also describes the church's governing bodies, its welfare, social, recreational and financial aspects, its mission program and Genealogical society.

Of all these, the welfare program is probably the best known among non-Mormons. The booklet says that the church has developed a system whereby the production and preservation of foodstuffs and the manufacture of clothing and other needed items is carried on. "Not only those in need work on these projects, but the entire membership is expected to join hands in producing for the benefit of the less fortunate."

We have heard this system described as a form of socialism, and remembered this when we read in a recent issue of the Deseret News and Salt Lake Telegram a strong denunciation of President Kennedy and his Medicare plan. The editorial writer said the plan was "unnecessary, financially unsound and could have led eventually to outright socialized medicine." The writer also deplored the time the Congress has spent on the Medicare issue and added that it should have spent it on "more vital matters." We know a great many voters who believe proper medical care for everyone—those who can afford to pay for it and those who cannot, is an extremely vital issue. We presume the writer of the editorial does not speak for the Mormons themselves who are dedicated to the idea that the strong and able must help those who are less strong and less able to help themselves.

Riding back from Steamboat island yesterday, we remarked again how attractive the roadsides are in this part of Washington. Park-like areas at the edge of the freeway are kept mowed, and are backed by stretches of trees and native bushes that are most attractive. Sister Peg and Henry said that because of the unusually cool summer, the grassy areas along the highway had been green until just the last week or so. It made a most attractive appearance for travelers from near and far on their way to the fair at Seattle.

We heard on the radio this afternoon that yesterday's attendance at the fair had been relatively small—only about 45,000 persons, and that consequently waits for the Space Needle had been only about two and half hours, and only about 20 minutes at the science building. Tomorrow we take our courage in both hands and set forth for the fair. We hope that the attendance will again be small—but then, probably 45,000 people will be just as much of a hazard to this lone reporter as would 75,000. We shall see. O.S.

White-Wood Wedding Held in Alhambra, Calif.

A nuptial mass was celebrated when Miss Donna Dolores Wood became the bride of James D. White, a former Medford resident. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wood, Alhambra, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harland W. White, formerly of Medford and now of Cave Junction.

The Rev. Gerald Winters read the 10 o'clock wedding ceremony in St. Therese Catholic church, Alhambra, Calif., on June 30.

Mr. Wood escorted his daughter to the altar. She wore a floor length gown of silk organza and Chantilly lace, fashioned with fitted bodice, long sleeves, and full skirt. Her veil of imported silk illusion was held in place by a bow, with organza petals and trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white orchids encircled by white roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Mary Ann Gendron, Albany, Calif., was maid of honor. Other attendants were Miss Joanna McGrath, and Mrs. Larry Scheetz and Mrs. Virgil Schnell, sisters of the bride. The attendants wore matching gowns of light blue, with overskirts of white eyelet embroidery. Their head-dresses were held by lilies of the valley, and each carried a nosegay of Ester Reed daisies.

Little Denise Schnell, a niece of the bride, was flower girl, and Ron Miller, a cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

Charles Meyers served as best man and Robert Svendsen, Dean Wood, a brother of the bride, and Robert White, Cave Junction, brother of the bridegroom, seated the guests.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Hickory Hill Inn, San Gabriel.

The bride was graduated from Ramona Convent High school, and is a life member of the California scholarship federation. The bridegroom is a graduate of Medford High school. He has served with the United States Marine Corps, and attended East Los Angeles college. He is now associated with Kaynar Manufacturing company, Los Angeles, where he is production manager.

After a wedding trip to Las Vegas and Lake Arrowhead, the newlywed couple are making their home in Alhambra, Calif.

Portland House To Present 'Julius Caesar'

Portland—Among summer productions of the works of William Shakespeare in Oregon will be the staging of "Julius Caesar" at the Portland Playhouse, 425 Northwest Glisan street.

John Hillsbury is director of the "Caesar" production. It will open at the Playhouse Friday, Aug. 3. The adaptation of the play brings Shakespeare's classic to the modern stage with action and color, while retaining the flowing language and force of the Bard.

Paul Robinson, who has acted on both Armstrong Circle theatre and DuPont Show of the Week on television, has been cast in the leading role as Brutus.

Co-starring will be Larry Eastman, LeBaron Amacker, Peggy West, and Gwynne Warner. Cecil Matson will play the title role of Caesar, and Allen Wanless will be featured in a dual role.

A limited engagement of 12 performances of "Julius Caesar" will be presented. They will be held Friday and Saturday nights at 8:30 p.m., and Sunday at 6 p.m., at the Portland Playhouse.

Welcome Wagon Clubs To Meet In Grants Pass

Welcome Wagon club will meet Thursday, August 2, with the Grants Pass Welcome Wagon club in Grants Pass for a picnic. Those needing transportation may contact Mrs. Kenneth Russell, 773-3862.

Guests at a recent meeting of the group, held at the Girls Community club, were Mrs. Dennis Skinner, Mrs. Jerry Steckler, Mrs. Paul Beals, Mrs. Edward Dandurand, Mrs. Pete Swinn, and Mrs. James Green.

Evening Wedding Held In Ashland

Ashland—Miss Mary Linda Rhodes became the bride of Robert Frank Wasner in a ceremony held at Calvary Baptist church in Ashland.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Parker L. Davis, 78 North Mountain avenue. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Wasner, 180 Lincoln street.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Troy Hall at 7 o'clock on the evening of June 30. Thomas Balch was soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Balch on the organ. Mrs. Gerald Enrich also sang.

Mr. Davis gave the bride in marriage. The bride wore a gown of silk organza, fashioned with long sleeves and a portrait neckline. The floor length skirt was paneled in front with Alencon lace covered with silk organza, and the bodice was also designed of Alencon lace. Her veil, covered with lace and seed pearls, was of illusion net.

Something new for the bride was a pearl necklace, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a wedding ring belonging to the mother of her stepfather for something old. A white orchid, encircled with pink rosebuds and stephanotis, formed the bride's bouquet.

Miss Billie Jean Collins was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss June Wasner, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Sharon Greenwood. Their sheath frocks were of pink tulle with pink chiffon collars. Circlets of pink flowers with veils formed their head-dresses, and they carried cascade bouquets of white gladioli.

Verne Speirs was best man. Kenneth Bohn, Eugene, and Aaron Ferguson, Medford, served as groomsmen. Guests were seated by John Rhodes, a brother of the bride, Charles Wood, and William Mickle, Salem.

Lynn Martin and Lars Nashlund lighted the candles. Little Deborah Ann Martin and Robin Schmelzer, dressed in pink nylon frocks, were flower girls. They carried baskets of white gladioli petals. Sandra Lee Martin and Freddie Beck were ring bearers.

A reception was held in the church after the ceremony. The mother of the bride wore a princess style dress of beige lace with pink accessories and a corsage of white carnations and stephanotis. Mrs. Wasner wore a two-piece blue lace over tulle gown with white accessories. Her corsage was white carnations.

Mrs. Harold Johnson, an aunt of the bridegroom, served the wedding cake. Miss Linda Weber and Miss Beverly Hartford poured coffee and punch. At the guest book and gift table was Miss Tracie Fontaine.

Mrs. Harold Fricke, Kimball, Neb., an aunt of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Eric Neilsson, Ornskoldsvik, Sweden, were among the out of town guests.

The couple traveled to San Francisco on their wedding trip. The bride wore a two-piece beige shantung suit and white accessories. They are residing at 161 Walker avenue, Ashland.

The new Mrs. Wasner is a senior at Ashland High school. Mr. Wasner was graduated from the same school in 1960.

Yreka Club Installation Held

Yreka—Mrs. James Sullivan was installed as president of the Yreka Garden club day group at a ceremony in the Yreka city park recently. Installing officer was Mrs. Ray Penney. Thirty members and guests had a brunch preceding the installation.

Other officers installed were Mrs. L. B. Waters, vice president; Miss Ethel Ackerman, secretary; Mrs. Effie Butler, treasurer; Mrs. Harvey Foster, historian; Mrs. Dennis Broderick, flower arrangement chairman; Mrs. Ray Kelly, civic affairs; Mrs. Frank Lathrop, conservation; Mrs. Harry Friedman, hospitality; Mrs. Ralph King, yearbook; Mrs. Roy Townley, horticulture, and Mrs. Roy Pruet, publicity.

During the business session a discussion on the floriculture booth at the fair was held. It was decided that on August 13 the group would hold their meeting in the morning at the fairgrounds and club members would work in the booth following a coffee hour. An article entitled "I Am a Sick American" was read by Mrs. Sullivan.

Make Tour
The evening section of the Yreka Garden club met the same day and toured the garden at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Deter south of Yreka, prior to its business session. There were 60 varieties of trees and a large variety of flowers and other plants viewed at the Deter home.

A business session was held at the home of Mrs. Ray Penney following the garden tour and the hostess served refreshments. A discussion of the floriculture booth was held as all members of the garden club will assist.

Horticulture chairman, Mrs. Ernest Johnson, read articles on cascading chrysanthemums and how to build a rock garden bank.

Mrs. Sullivan and Mrs. James Elsea were guests at the meeting.
