

Hecla Head lighthouse presents an unusual pictorial study through the arch of Cape Creek bridge along Highway 101.

Political Crisis Said To Be Over in Algeria

Ben Bella Aide Returns From Talks in Paris

Followers Ready To Enter Algeria

Algiers, Algeria—(UPI)—A top aide of dissident Vice Premier Ahmed Ben Bella returned to Oran today from key talks in Paris and said the political crisis in Algeria was over.

Mohammed Khider made the statement after seizure of Algiers by "neutral" troops gave a powerful boost to Ben Bella's efforts to take over control of Algeria.

Khider went to Paris to confer with some 15 members of the National Council of the Algerian Revolution, the supreme revolutionary parliament, and to get their support for Ben Bella's political bureau plan.

There were reports that Ben Bella's followers were prepared to move into Algiers today following takeover of the city Sunday by "neutral troops" of Military District 4.

They said their aim was to restore law and order. Their leaders invited rival Algerian factions to Algiers without bloodshed to settle their differences.

They also sought to reassure the European population which has been hit by kidnappings.

With the troops occupying the main government buildings, the radio station and patrolling the streets, the Ben Bellists called it a welcome maneuver.

Ben Bella announced in Oran he would enter the city and install his seven-man political bureau sometime this week.

Ben Bella announced in Oran he would enter the city and install his seven-man political bureau sometime this week.

Ben Bella announced in Oran he would enter the city and install his seven-man political bureau sometime this week.

Ben Bella announced in Oran he would enter the city and install his seven-man political bureau sometime this week.

Ben Bella announced in Oran he would enter the city and install his seven-man political bureau sometime this week.

Ben Bella announced in Oran he would enter the city and install his seven-man political bureau sometime this week.

Ben Bella announced in Oran he would enter the city and install his seven-man political bureau sometime this week.

Ben Bella announced in Oran he would enter the city and install his seven-man political bureau sometime this week.

Ben Bella announced in Oran he would enter the city and install his seven-man political bureau sometime this week.

Ben Bella announced in Oran he would enter the city and install his seven-man political bureau sometime this week.

Ben Bella announced in Oran he would enter the city and install his seven-man political bureau sometime this week.

Ben Bella announced in Oran he would enter the city and install his seven-man political bureau sometime this week.

POINTS TO ALBA—Pino Dutto, 25, points to his home town, Alba, Italy, during a recent visit to the office of Richard Oakland, director of town affiliation for the American Municipal association, in Washington, D.C. Dutto, who is coming to Medford for a six weeks' visit is expected to arrive here about 9:20 a.m. Wednesday at the Greyhound bus depot. His visit is being arranged under the auspices of the sister city program.

Fire Danger in Pacific Northwest Continues High

Eastern Oregon Blaze Controlled

Continuing high temperatures and the threat of lightning storms kept the fire danger high in the Pacific Northwest today.

An 1,800-acre grass and brush fire on state-protected land in Eastern Oregon was controlled Sunday.

The blaze, which was blamed on smoker's carelessness, broke out earlier in the day 15 miles east of Pendleton. It was fought by 36 men and 13 pieces of equipment.

Firefighters mopped up a stubborn 130-acre blaze in the Mt. Hood National Forest in Oregon. Some 150 men, with 200 other men standing by, drew fire lines around the blaze Saturday.

The fire apparently started from a man-caused spark in a freshly logged-off area.

In Washington, crews mopped up a 400-acre fire in the Wenatchee National Forest near Chelan and a 100-acre fire in the Okanogan National Forest near Omak. The Omak fire was fought by some 400 men from Oregon, Montana and Washington.

All but about 50 firefighters had been released by today on the Colville Indian Reservation in Eastern Washington where some 8,000 acres of timber and rangeland were destroyed by three fires.

More than 300 firefighters brought the blaze under control over the week end.

Retardant was dropped by plane because of the rocky condition of the area and lack of soil. Two fire fighters were sent in today to join the smoke jumpers on Rattlesnake mountain.

Webb reported that the 25-man specialized crew stationed at Star Ranger station has returned from Wenatchee National forest. It was sent there Friday to fight a large fire. The crew under foreman Francis (Pete) Gregory, was called on standby for a fire near Bend earlier in the week.

The state forestry department had 14 men on its seven fires.

The State Forestry department extinguished three fires Saturday, each of which burned one-tenth of an acre. Most serious was a hay barn fire on Evans creek rd. at 4:30 a.m. caused by spontaneous combustion, which destroyed 70 to 80 tons of hay. The others were near Howard Prairie at 10 a.m., caused by a holdover from a lightning strike, and in the Butte Falls area at 1:52 p.m., caused by a hay baler.

Happy Camp - A 20-acre forest fire in a rugged, dry area 10 miles west of Happy Camp was contained, but not controlled this morning.

The lightning-caused fire broke out yesterday evening when a thunderstorm hit the Happy Camp area. Rain fell over Happy Camp itself, but not over the fire area.

Planes dropped borate on the fire until a 56-man crew could get to the scene, Reuben Sullivan, Happy Camp district ranger said. This morning 100 men were on the fire lines.

The fire is on Daggert creek near the point where Clear creek enters the Klamath river.

The owner, Steve Arthur Lingren, 2642 Springbrook rd., reported the theft to police about 4 o'clock this morning.

The Oregon Pharmacy board cannot stop prescription drug firms in other states from advertising and selling prescription drugs by mail to Oregon residents. The board's ruling prohibits any Oregon licensed pharmacy from advertising prescription items and thus attempting to meet the competition from national mail-order prescription firms.

He added that persons needing drugs continuously were denied competitive price information through advertising and we soon have an economy that is neither free nor competitive and in many cases it is the start of price fixing.

The Oregon Pharmacy board cannot stop prescription drug firms in other states from advertising and selling prescription drugs by mail to Oregon residents. The board's ruling prohibits any Oregon licensed pharmacy from advertising prescription items and thus attempting to meet the competition from national mail-order prescription firms.

He added that persons needing drugs continuously were denied competitive price information through advertising and we soon have an economy that is neither free nor competitive and in many cases it is the start of price fixing.

The Oregon Pharmacy board cannot stop prescription drug firms in other states from advertising and selling prescription drugs by mail to Oregon residents. The board's ruling prohibits any Oregon licensed pharmacy from advertising prescription items and thus attempting to meet the competition from national mail-order prescription firms.

He added that persons needing drugs continuously were denied competitive price information through advertising and we soon have an economy that is neither free nor competitive and in many cases it is the start of price fixing.

The Oregon Pharmacy board cannot stop prescription drug firms in other states from advertising and selling prescription drugs by mail to Oregon residents. The board's ruling prohibits any Oregon licensed pharmacy from advertising prescription items and thus attempting to meet the competition from national mail-order prescription firms.

American League All-Star Winner By 9 To 4 Score

Wagner's Homer Sparks Victory

Chicago—(UPI)—Leon Wagner, a National league reject, made them rue the day they sent him back to the minors when he blasted a two-run homer that sparked the American league to a 9-4 victory in the second All-Star game today.

The outfielder who was sent to the minors by the New York Giants and was rescued by the new Los Angeles Angels teed off in the fourth inning to send the American Leaguers winging out in front and coast on to a lop-sided triumph before 38,359 sweltering fans at Wrigley Field.

For that blow lifted the American Leaguers from the doldrums of a five-game winless streak in this midseason classic as they unleashed their long-vaunted power with other home runs by Pete Runnels and Rocky Colavito to crush the Nationals with a 10-hit attack.

Herbert Winner The blasting barrage which the frustrated American Leaguers unleashed against five National League pitchers gave the victory to Ray Herbert of the Chicago White Sox, although he and three other pitchers gave up 10 hits, including a ninth inning home run by John Roseboro.

But the Nationals, who fumbled their way to four errors, couldn't save the Phillies' Art Mahaffey from absorbing the defeat.

The two starters, Johnny Podres of the Dodgers and Dave Stenhouse, 30-year-old Washington rookie, both escaped being involved in the decision as the American Leaguers scored their 17th win against 15 National League triumphs.

Podres got through the first two innings without yielding a score and was in position to become the winning pitcher when the National Leaguers got to Stenhouse for one run in the second.

Runnels' homer in the third inning tied the score at 1-1. Wagner put the Americans ahead to stay in the fourth inning with a two-run homer over the ivy-covered left field wall.

Tom Tresh, Yankee rookie, doubled home another run in the sixth to make it 4-1.

Then Colavito put the game out of reach in the seventh when he hit a three-run homer to boost the score to 7-1. The Sox chipped away at the lead with a single run in the seventh, scored by Richie Ashburn of the Mets, and another in the eighth, scored by Ernie Banks of the Cubs after a triple. But the Americans got their final two runs in the ninth with the aid of two errors by Milwaukee third baseman Ed Mathews.

Other bidders included Howard Cooper, Medford, $44,500; Balzer Machinery, Portland, $43,040; Cramer Machinery, Portland, $43,193; Western Equipment, Eugene, $43,475.33; Cal-Ore Machinery, Medford, $46,285; and Clyde Equipment, Portland, $41,500.

For the pickups, Crater Lake Motors of Medford was the apparent low bidder with $3,875.42. Others bidding were Parson's Motor company, Medford, $3,885.50; Courtesy Chevrolet, Medford, $3,956; and International Harvester, Medford, $4,051.86.

Bids on the two items were referred to the county engineer's office for review of specifications.

Neuberger Balks At Satellite Bill Washington—(UPI)—Sen. Maurice Neuberger joined her Oregon colleague, Sen. Wayne Morse, today in speaking against the administration's space communications bill.

Mrs. Neuberger delivered a lengthy prepared speech attacking what she called "monopoly" aspects of the plan.

The legislation would create a privately-owned, government-regulated corporation to operate communications satellites.

Mrs. Neuberger said the bill would give the American Telephone & Telegraph company "domination" of space communications activities by this country.

GRANGE EDITOR Portland—(UPI)—Veteran newspaperman Loren H. Millman of Portland was named editor of the Oregon Grange Bulletin Saturday.

Five-Millionth Visitor Expected at World Fair Seattle—(UPI)—World's Fair officials today expect the five-millionth visitor to the fairgrounds.

Attendance at the fair Sunday was 44,829 for a total to date of 4,948,202 persons.

WEATHER FORECAST: Fair tonight and Tuesday. Scattered evening showers over Cascades and Siskiyou. Low tonight 53-55. High Tuesday 100. Temp. Highest Yesterday 100. Lowest This Morning 53.

Our Skies Tonight Sunset today 7:24 p.m. Sunrise tomorrow 5:02 a.m. New Moon tonight 8:24 a.m. The annular eclipse of the Sun at this New Moon will be visible as a partial eclipse over all of Africa. The next eclipse of the Sun in January will be visible over the South Atlantic Ocean.

BULK OF TAXES Eugene—(UPI)—State taxes in Oregon in 1960 made up 32.2 per cent of all taxes collected by the state and local governments that year, the League of Oregon Cities said today.

Judge Dismisses Woman's Maneuver To Have Abortion Declared Legal

Attorney Says New Action To Be Filed Promptly

Phoenix—(UPI)—A woman's attempt to obtain legal clearance for an abortion was dismissed today in Superior Court but her attorney said a new action would be filed immediately.

Judge Yale McFate dismissed the suit filed by Mrs. and Mrs. Robert Finkbine and Good Samaritan Hospital against the county attorney and the state attorney general.

The action sought a declaratory judgment that the abortion is legal under Arizona law. The mother's doctors say the abortion is advisable because there is a 50-50 chance her child has been deformed by the drug Thalidomide which she took in the early weeks of her pregnancy.

Attorneys were seeking a speedy settlement. Physicians say they must perform the operation within the next two weeks or they will have to resort to a Caesarian section.

Wants Assurance Attorney Walter Cheifetz said if he is given assurances his client will not be prosecuted he will advise Mrs. Finkbine, a local television personality on a children's show, to proceed with the operation immediately.

Thalidomide was never approved for use in the United States, although it is believed to have caused as many as 5,000 deformed births in Europe.

Mrs. Finkbine's husband, a high school teacher, bought the drug for use as a tranquilizer while in England.

Changes Due in Meat Inspection Salem—(UPI)—The Oregon Agriculture department said today it will hand down an order changing the state's meat inspection regulations within a month, the first changes since inspection of the program in 1957.

The last of three hearings on the subject was conducted here Friday.

One phase of the department's proposal is to follow federal standards on hamburger more closely. A witness, however, objected to one federal standard that is already part of the state code.

That standard permits the addition of two ingredients to hamburger—ascorbic acid for color retention and monosodium glutamate for flavor enhancement—with proper labeling.

MEANS OPPOSES ACROSS-BOARD CUTS Washington—(UPI)—AFL-CIO President George Meany told congressional tax writers today that taxes should be cut, but not across the board as the Kennedy administration is reported considering.

Meany said tax relief should be temporary and confined largely to low and middle-income groups. He opposed cutting either the 52 per cent tax rate on corporate profits or the 91 per cent rate that applies to personal income in the top tax bracket.

Meany's testimony was given to the House Ways and Means Committee. The group is holding closed sessions officially billed as a study of "the status of the economy." Actually, they are designed to test tax-cut sentiment.

Faulty Track Possible Cause Of Train Wreck

Accidental Deaths In Oregon Total Five On Week End

Steelton, Pa.—(UPI)—Pennsylvania Railroad authorities today investigated the possibility that a misaligned track caused the crash of a nine-car "baseball special" Saturday night.

The train bound from Harrisburg to Philadelphia plunged into the Susquehanna river killing 19 persons and injuring at least 120 more.

The "special" carrying baseball fans, including women and children, was traveling about 63 miles an hour when the last three cars tore loose and somersaulted down an embankment into the river.

Many of the victims were killed instantly. Others were trapped and died in the wreckage, some underwater. It took rescuers hours to remove the dead and injured from the twisted steel.

The six cars of the electric powered train which remained atop the embankment, ironically were empty. They were to have been filled by passengers picked up at later stops.

It was the nation's worst rail disaster since Sept. 15, 1958, when a train plunged through an open drawbridge into Newark Bay at Bayonne, N.J., killing 48 persons.

Court Decision Seen Home Rule Landmark Eugene—(UPI)—The League of Oregon Cities said today last week's Oregon Supreme Court decision on creation of local civil service systems "may well become a landmark in development of municipal home rule in Oregon."

The high court ruled that the city of Milwaukee could not be compelled to set up a civil service system for firemen.

Indications have been that the United States would soften its demands for an on-the-scene detection system, relying to a greater extent instead on newly developed long-range detection apparatus.

With a crowded agenda of momentous issues ahead of him, Kennedy relaxed with his family over the week end at their summer home in Hyannis Port.

Hyannis Port, Mass.—(UPI)—Invigorated by a breezy vacation week end on Cape Cod, President Kennedy returned to the White House today for a week of big decisions on the nuclear test ban issues.

Kennedy planned to meet early this week with Arthur H. Dean, chief U.S. negotiator at the disarmament talks in Geneva, and with other top military and diplomatic advisers to chart this country's further course in seeking a test ban agreement with Russia.

Indications have been that the United States would soften its demands for an on-the-scene detection system, relying to a greater extent instead on newly developed long-range detection apparatus.

With a crowded agenda of momentous issues ahead of him, Kennedy relaxed with his family over the week end at their summer home in Hyannis Port.

Hyannis Port, Mass.—(UPI)—Invigorated by a breezy vacation week end on Cape Cod, President Kennedy returned to the White House today for a week of big decisions on the nuclear test ban issues.

Kennedy planned to meet early this week with Arthur H. Dean, chief U.S. negotiator at the disarmament talks in Geneva, and with other top military and diplomatic advisers to chart this country's further course in seeking a test ban agreement with Russia.

Indications have been that the United States would soften its demands for an on-the-scene detection system, relying to a greater extent instead on newly developed long-range detection apparatus.

With a crowded agenda of momentous issues ahead of him, Kennedy relaxed with his family over the week end at their summer home in Hyannis Port.

Hyannis Port, Mass.—(UPI)—Invigorated by a breezy vacation week end on Cape Cod, President Kennedy returned to the White House today for a week of big decisions on the nuclear test ban issues.

Kennedy planned to meet early this week with Arthur H. Dean, chief U.S. negotiator at the disarmament talks in Geneva, and with other top military and diplomatic advisers to chart this country's further course in seeking a test ban agreement with Russia.

Indications have been that the United States would soften its demands for an on-the-scene detection system, relying to a greater extent instead on newly developed long-range detection apparatus.

With a crowded agenda of momentous issues ahead of him, Kennedy relaxed with his family over the week end at their summer home in Hyannis Port.

Hyannis Port, Mass.—(UPI)—Invigorated by a breezy vacation week end on Cape Cod, President Kennedy returned to the White House today for a week of big decisions on the nuclear test ban issues.

Kennedy planned to meet early this week with Arthur H. Dean, chief U.S. negotiator at the disarmament talks in Geneva, and with other top military and diplomatic advisers to chart this country's further course in seeking a test ban agreement with Russia.

Indications have been that the United States would soften its demands for an on-the-scene detection system, relying to a greater extent instead on newly developed long-range detection apparatus.

With a crowded agenda of momentous issues ahead of him, Kennedy relaxed with his family over the week end at their summer home in Hyannis Port.

Kennedy Returns From Vacation

Hyannis Port, Mass.—(UPI)—Invigorated by a breezy vacation week end on Cape Cod, President Kennedy returned to the White House today for a week of big decisions on the nuclear test ban issues.

Kennedy planned to meet early this week with Arthur H. Dean, chief U.S. negotiator at the disarmament talks in Geneva, and with other top military and diplomatic advisers to chart this country's further course in seeking a test ban agreement with Russia.

Indications have been that the United States would soften its demands for an on-the-scene detection system, relying to a greater extent instead on newly developed long-range detection apparatus.

With a crowded agenda of momentous issues ahead of him, Kennedy relaxed with his family over the week end at their summer home in Hyannis Port.

Hyannis Port, Mass.—(UPI)—Invigorated by a breezy vacation week end on Cape Cod, President Kennedy returned to the White House today for a week of big decisions on the nuclear test ban issues.

Kennedy planned to meet early this week with Arthur H. Dean, chief U.S. negotiator at the disarmament talks in Geneva, and with other top military and diplomatic advisers to chart this country's further course in seeking a test ban agreement with Russia.

Indications have been that the United States would soften its demands for an on-the-scene detection system, relying to a greater extent instead on newly developed long-range detection apparatus.

With a crowded agenda of momentous issues ahead of him, Kennedy relaxed with his family over the week end at their summer home in Hyannis Port.

Hyannis Port, Mass.—(UPI)—Invigorated by a breezy vacation week end on Cape Cod, President Kennedy returned to the White House today for a week of big decisions on the nuclear test ban issues.

Kennedy planned to meet early this week with Arthur H. Dean, chief U.S. negotiator at the disarmament talks in Geneva, and with other top military and diplomatic advisers to chart this country's further course in seeking a test ban agreement with Russia.

Indications have been that the United States would soften its demands for an on-the-scene detection system, relying to a greater extent instead on newly developed long-range detection apparatus.

With a crowded agenda of momentous issues ahead of him, Kennedy relaxed with his family over the week end at their summer home in Hyannis Port.

Hyannis Port, Mass.—(UPI)—Invigorated by a breezy vacation week end on Cape Cod, President Kennedy returned to the White House today for a week of big decisions on the nuclear test ban issues.

Kennedy planned to meet early this week with Arthur H. Dean, chief U.S. negotiator at the disarmament talks in Geneva, and with other top military and diplomatic advisers to chart this country's further course in seeking a test ban agreement with Russia.

Indications have been that the United States would soften its demands for an on-the-scene detection system, relying to a greater extent instead on newly developed long-range detection apparatus.

With a crowded agenda of momentous issues ahead of him, Kennedy relaxed with his family over the week end at their summer home in Hyannis Port.

Hyannis Port, Mass.—(UPI)—Invigorated by a breezy vacation week end on Cape Cod, President Kennedy returned to the White House today for a week of big decisions on the nuclear test ban issues.

Kennedy planned to meet early this week with Arthur H. Dean, chief U.S. negotiator at the disarmament talks in Geneva, and with other top military and diplomatic advisers to chart this country's further course in seeking a test ban agreement with Russia.

Indications have been that the United States would soften its demands for an on-the-scene detection system, relying to a greater extent instead on newly developed long-range detection apparatus.

With a crowded agenda of momentous issues ahead of him, Kennedy relaxed with his family over the week end at their summer home in Hyannis Port.

Hyannis Port, Mass.—(UPI)—Invigorated by a breezy vacation week end on Cape Cod, President Kennedy returned to the White House today for a week of big decisions on the nuclear test ban issues.

Kennedy planned to meet early this week with Arthur H. Dean, chief U.S. negotiator at the disarmament talks in Geneva, and with other top military and diplomatic advisers to chart this country's further course in seeking a test ban agreement with Russia.

Indications have been that the United States would soften its demands for an on-the-scene detection system, relying to a greater extent instead on newly developed long-range detection apparatus.

With a crowded agenda of momentous issues ahead of him, Kennedy relaxed with his family over the week end at their summer home in Hyannis Port.

Hyannis Port, Mass.—(UPI)—Invigorated by a breezy vacation week end on Cape Cod, President Kennedy returned to the White House today for a week of big decisions on the nuclear test ban issues.

Kennedy planned to meet early this week with Arthur H. Dean, chief U.S. negotiator at the disarmament talks in Geneva, and with other top military and diplomatic advisers to chart this country's further course in seeking a test ban agreement with Russia.

Indications have been that the United States would soften its demands for an on-the-scene detection system, relying to a greater extent instead on newly developed long-range detection apparatus.

NEWS BRIEFS

WEATHER FACTOR IN RETRIEVING BODY Grand Teton National Park, Wyo.—(UPI)—Chief Park Ranger Russ Dickinson today called weather the chief factor in an effort to retrieve the body of Steven Smith, 21, of Holden, Mass., from a 12,000-foot snowfield on rugged Grand Teton Mountain.

Steven Smith, 21, Holden, Mass. died of exposure when he and nine other eastern mountain climbers were marooned three nights by a surprise snowstorm which trapped them on the treacherous Otter snow field.

AIR CRASH INVESTIGATION PLANNED Everett, Wash.—(UPI)—An Air Force board of inquiry today was preparing to investigate the crash of a twin-engine T38 jet transport at Paine Air Force Base south of here Sunday.

The crash claimed the lives of Col. Kearie L. Berry, 43, Paine Base commander, and Lt. Col. Leroy D. Tate, 41, an Air Force plant representative at North American Company in Los Angeles.

POTATO PROGRAM PROPOSED Washington—(UPI)—Spokesmen for California, Arizona, Oregon and Maine potato growers today urged Congress to place potatoes destined for canning or freezing under the federal marketing agreement program.