

Wedding Reception Held At Medford LDS Chapel

Central Point — A wedding reception at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints chapel in Medford July 28 honored Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Henry Miles. Their marriage was an event of July 21 at the St. George, Utah, temple.

The bride is the former Joyce Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert C. Cook, 140 Bigham drive. The bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Miles, are the third generation of the Miles family to live in St. George.

For the reception the bride wore a floor length gown styled on princess lines and long sleeves. The sleeves and front panel were of white silk organza over satin and the side panels were embroidered with lines of the valley design. Her tulle veil was held by a white lace and pearl tiara and she wore pearls belonging to her grandmother. She carried a white gladioli encircling a lavender orchid.

Miss Cheryl Swanson was maid of honor for the eight o'clock evening event. Miss Julie Ashton, Medford, was bridesmaid and Theresa Cook, Grants Pass, niece of the bride, was flower girl. Miss Swanson and Miss Ashton wore emerald green satin frocks and carried sheafs of pale green gladioli tied with lavender ribbon.

Lawrence Cook, Grants Pass, brother of the bride, served as best man. Ushers were James Cook, Grants Pass, another brother, and Wallace Stevens.

For the reception Mrs. Cook wore a green print chiffon frock with white accessories and pink gladioli corsage. Mrs. Miles, St. George, who was in Medford for the event, chose a pale rose lace dress with bone white accessories and green gladioli corsage.

Mrs. James Cook cut and served the wedding cake and Mrs. Carl McQuig presided at the lunch bowl. Mrs. Keith Morgan was in charge of the guest book and the Misses Cindy and Karen Farnham were at the gift table.

Green and lavender flowers were used through the hall for the reception attended by 65 relatives and friends. Mrs. Roland Rosecrans, Gold Hill, was soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Hoyt Hay, Medford.

Speakers were Bishop Dwayne Nelson of the Medford Second ward and Mrs. Frank Josephson.

The newlywed couple will be at home in Salt Lake City, Utah. The bride is a graduate of Crater High school and attended Brigham Young university, Provo, Utah. The bridegroom attended St. George High school, Dixie Junior college, St. George, and Brigham Young university. He is now doing post-graduate work at the University of Utah.

Immediately following the July 21 wedding a family dinner was held by the bridegroom's parents in St. George attended by 50 persons. The couple traveled to Grand Canyon National park and Oregon on their wedding trip, the bride wearing a white brocade suit.

Harold Edd Smith served as best man.

A reception was held in Yreka following the wedding attended by 40 relatives and guests. Mrs. Emma Bellanger and Miss Mamie Smith assisted with the serving. Miss Hazel Outen was in charge of the guest book.

Among the wedding guests outside of the Klamath river area were relatives from the Bay area, Portland, and Redding.

The bride attended Happy Camp schools and Chico State college. Mr. Beidman also attended Happy Camp high school and College of the Siskiyous.

Newlyweds Living In Happy Camp

Happy Camp — Making their home in Happy Camp following a wedding trip to Carmel are Mr. and Mrs. George Lee Beidman whose wedding was held recently in the Sacred Heart Catholic church, Fort Jones.

The bride is the former Georgia Ann Stanford, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Stanford. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Stanley V. Beidman.

The Rev. William Broderick officiated at the double-ring ceremony held June 16. White stock and gladioli decorated the church for the wedding.

The bride wore a gown fashioned with lace bodice, long sleeves, and full nylon skirt. Her veil was shoulder length and she carried a white orchid with Stephanotis. Robert Rutherford escorted the bride to the altar.

Miss Lodeene Perry was maid of honor. She wore a light blue dress of nylon and short blue veil. She carried white carnations.

Benefit Fashion Show To Be Held in Ashland

Ashland — A benefit fashion show will be presented at the Bard's Brook coffee house, 31 Water street in Ashland, Tuesday, August 7, from 3 to 5 p.m.

The show will help provide scholarships for the Oregon Shakespearean festival, and is being co-sponsored by the Ashland Art Gallery-Workshop and Jean Hart, Inc.

Fashions for men will be shown from Bobbette's store for men. Grace's beauty salon will do the hair style for the models.

During the show tea, expresso and dessert will be served. A small admission fee will be charged.

Models for the show will include Mrs. Marvin Kocks, Mrs. Sidney Ainsworth, Miss Janet Bobbette, Mrs. Robert Anderson, and Mrs. William Dawkins. Mrs. Alvin Reiss, Mrs. Robert Onstad, and Mrs. Frank Grimes will be hostesses.

Reservations may be made and additional information obtained by calling the Ashland Art Gallery-Workshop, 482-9993, or Mrs. Alvin Reiss, 772-9688.

Stamp Group Changes Club Name, By-Laws

During the August meeting of the local stamp club, a general revision of the by-laws passed, making the name the Southern Oregon Philatelic society instead of the Southern Oregon Stamp club. Other changes in the by-laws establishes four classes of membership, active, junior (for persons between the ages of 12 and 17), associate, and honorary; and changes the elections of new officers from every year to every two years.

Other business of the evening was furthering plans for SOPEX '52, the club show to be held on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 29 and 30. On display were a few frames of the size to hold six exhibit pages, which will be allowed under a modification of the exhibition rules.

Stamp Forgeries — The program for the evening was on forgeries on stamps, with a roundtable discussion, and displays of forgeries and counterfeits from many countries. Included were tapes prepared by William Weaver, vice-president, and program chairman of the Tucson, Ariz., stamp club.

Mr. Weaver, a leading member of World Tape Pals, an organization used for furthering friendship through world-wide exchange of information on tapes, is active in a group of the organization that exchanges philatelic ideas by tapes. Part of the tapes were narrated by the late Dick Cohen, who was considered an authority on forgeries.

Following the program, Elmer Binker, president of the club, acted as auctioneer for the stamp auction. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Elsie Sterton, Mrs. E. H. Treen, and William Thompson. Guests at the meeting were Eldred W. Peyton, Medford, and Walter L. Rohlfing, Grants Pass.

Washington Girls Visit In Prospect

Prospect-Miss Carol Whitehead and Miss Laurie Whitehead, both from Stanwood, Wash., are visitors at the Warren Barr home in Prospect. Miss Carol Whitehead is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barr, and she and Miss Laurie Whitehead are cousins.

Guests

Ashland — Guests last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Morgan, 66 North Second street, were Mrs. Morgan's cousin, Miss Margaret Fredrickson, and a friend Miss Carol Young, North Platte, Neb., who stopped in Ashland on their return from the Seattle Fair.

Family Here

Shady Cove — Mr. and Mrs. Bob Welch and children, Steven, Karen and Tobie, Whittier, Calif., have been visiting Mr. Welch's father and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Welch, Medford, and also with friends in the Shady Cove area. Mrs. Welch is the former Baedean Hicks.

"Happy is the bride the sun shines on" is an adage still repeated.

MANOR-ISMS

By ETHELYN EVANS

A note from a fellow Manor member (an excellent musician) reports that Miss Sonja Peterson, who began her musical studies in Medford at the age of four, gave a truly fine piano concert in our auditorium last week. She played Bach, Mozart, Beethoven, Brahms and Chopin with impeccable technique and beautiful tonal contrasts. We are sorry to have been away and thus missed this musical treat.

I've "got a compulsion" to recommend to my Manor and valley friends a trip we took to Mt. Hood via Diamond lake, Bend, Warm Springs Indian reservation and Timberline lodge.

All the way from Bend, snow-capped mountains marched along beside us in constant view — not just a fleeting glimpse now and then. Mt. Jefferson was our best chum until Mt. Hood loomed up ahead and joined us. For many miles, particularly through the reservation, we passed through weird and interesting "flat-tops" — mountains, hills and sheer rock walls, high and low, that were sliced perfectly flat on top as though by a giant's scythe. I must ask Dr. Elmo Stevenson of SOC, "how come?"

Driving through the Mt. Hood National forest was worth the trip, so shady, beautiful and fragrant. Fortunately, we can trust the Forest Service, if permitted, to preserve a strip on either side of the road, at least, so that future generations may enjoy a brief and fleeting delusion of traveling through one of nature's wonderlands.

The abundance of clear and sparkling water impressed us. What wouldn't our former home section of southern California give for just Oregon's waste water! One wonders why artificial state boundary lines make citizens of "have" states so reluctant to share with "have not" states. Do they forget that Old Glory always floats ABOVE all state flags, and that a benefit to one section must surely benefit all?

Timberline lodge, a Forest Service project, was built by the PWA, entirely with individual labor; hand hewn timbers, hand carved woodwork, handmade chairs and tables. It seems substantial enough to last forever. We ate a delicious luncheon, seated before a large window with an unimpeded view of the mountain. It was mid-week but there were crowds of sightseers. Again it was obvious to us that a Muumuu, capri pants and short-short shorts so often land on the wrong "figures." Oughta be a law!

There were also many climbers and skiers. We neither climb nor ski; but we are ardent sportsmen on the chair lift and snow-go trips.

The snow-go is a ride up the side of the mountain in a 10-passenger snow cat made by Tuckers right here in Medford. We went through White Water glacier — an altitude of more than 9,000 feet. The snow was soft and the ride a bit rough but thrilling. The young driver predicted snow enough to make trips possible during the next three weeks.

Hard to drop from cloud 9 to the practical, but I should tell you that all roads were excellent and the traffic mercifully light — even the ubiquitous log trucks and house or camp trailers were scarce.

We backtracked to Bend for the night, because we like the Riverside Motel. Fortunately, we were in one of the new units "spang" on the bank of the Deschutes river, with both highway and business center out of sight and sound across the river from us. The room was attractively and comfortably furnished with two — repeat — two lounge chairs. Nearly all the modern motel rooms have one more or less comfy chair, and the other half of the couple must sit upright in a small, hard chair or go early to bed-irked and disgruntled.

The river at that point is a delightfully gurgling, chuckling, chattering stream, merrily bouncing over the rocks. Other spots are so calm and smooth as to be well-named "Mirror Lakes." There are three parks along the river and another nearby for civic celebrations, etc., and the privately owned grounds in-between are beautifully landscaped to match the park areas. Bend is a neat, bright little city with trees and flowers even on the business streets. They must have an active and influential women's club and/or a garden club.

One should not miss trips out of Bend through the Deschutes National Forest. One, out Century Drive, leads to Bachelor Butte (where they are still skiing) and Broken Top mountains with the other snow-caps also in view. One passed numerous lakes for fishing and camping. The largest, Elk lake, has cabins, a lodge, docks and boats. There were many vacationers about but no feeling of being in a mob, and everything is left in its natural state. A second trip we took leads through the village of Sisters to Metolius springs, river and recreational areas, with ALL the mountains constantly in view. We found camps, lodges and miniature dude ranches with horses and swimming. So many delightful places for vacations and all within one day's drive from Medford. We hope to go back for a week next summer.

I returned just in time to take my turn pouring at a lovely tea given by Mrs. Laurence McDaniel, member from St. Louis, Mo., for her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Colbert. Mr. Colbert is a publisher in St. Louis, and two grandsons — Bill Colbert, St. Louis, and Air Force Lieut. L. W. Colbert and his wife from Springfield, Mass. They were en route to the Fair and we found we had mutual friends in Seattle, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Scurry, who called on us and enjoyed a tour of the Manor while they were houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Bender, Medford.

Housewarming Party Given at Montague

Hornbrook — Members of the Bray family from this area and Colton, Calif., gathered at the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bray in Montague Tuesday evening for a housewarming party. The couple had recently completed their home.

Attending from Hornbrook were Mr. and Mrs. Henley Clawson, Mrs. Allie Tyrer, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cummins and Mr. and Mrs. Loren Cummins; and from Yreka, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wedin, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Seaman, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bray, Gene Bray, and Mrs. Stanley Bray; and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Kraft, Colton, who are visiting in this area. A gift was presented to the Walter Brays by the group of relatives.
