

Senate Plans To Quiz Estes About His Cotton Allotments

Three Men Appear In Circuit Court

Frank Herbert Standevan, 53, Portland, was sentenced to five years in the Oregon state penitentiary Thursday in Jackson county circuit court.

Standevan, who had been living in the Grand hotel, Medford, at the time of his arrest, pleaded guilty to a charge of obtaining property by false pretenses.

According to court records, Standevan passed a $250 check in a Medford store for payment of a radio and television set.

In other court action, cases involving Lester Delbert Schall and Jesse James Gilmore, 38, were continued.

Schall is charged with grand larceny and is subject to probation revocation. Judge James M. Main ordered a presentence investigation. Schall, a soldier from Ft. Lewis, Wash., is accused of taking a car from a Medford used car lot.

Gilmore's case was continued to Aug. 13 at 9:30 a.m. to allow for him to plead and answer. He is charged with escaping from official detention while an inmate at the Jackson county jail.

TAKES OATH - Lt. Col. Emily C. Gorman is sworn in as the sixth director of the Women's Army Corps in a Pentagon ceremony in Washington. The oath is being administered by Maj. Gen. J. C. Lambert. At the same time the veteran of nearly 20 years of WAC service was promoted to full colonel. (UPI)

Washington - (AP) - Senate investigators were still planning to question Billie Sol Estes in their marathon study of his cotton allotments, but the word Saturday was that little will come of it.

Nor is the testimony from Estes in sight yet in the investigation, which is now more than a month old. Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) ordered a recess in the sessions late Friday until next Wednesday.

McClellan also confirmed that Texas Attorney General Will Wilson, who spotlighted Estes' operations in a series of courts of inquiry, will testify in the Senate investigation. McClellan said Wilson will not appear next week, however.

No date has been set for testimony by Estes. However, committee members have indicated that he will not be called until the cotton allotment phase of the study is nearly completed, and they believe that at least three weeks of testimony remains to be heard.

Doctors Have 6,000 Available Journals

New York - (AP) - Pity your doctor's peepers!

If he's to keep up with medicine he's got a choice of 6,000 medical journals to peruse - compared to a lowly 850 back in 1879. In addition, reports "Patterns" - a publication for doctors - the doctor must decide which of the 3,000 books in medical and allied sciences he has time to read to keep up.

one case and none would know of the others.

"That would have been possible, yes," said Duggan.

Duggan told O'Donnell he assumes the recently announced appointment of an over-all inspector general for the department would bring about better coordination between investigating groups.

William H. Duggan, director of the investigation division of the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service told the subcommittee that Estes referred all inquiries to his attorneys.

Began Study in 1961

Duggan said his division learned in April, 1962 from Charles Cleveland, top investigator for the Agricultural Marketing Service's Internal Audit Division, that the Cleveland group had begun a study of some of Estes' financial operations in September, 1961.

Chief subcommittee counsel Don O'Donnell said there "conceivably could be four or five" inquiries being made in the 16 Agriculture Department subdivisions involving

American Millionaire To Be Deported From Philippines

Manila - (AP) - Philippine congressmen bowed to President Diosdado Macapagal Saturday and agreed to the prompt deportation of American multimillionaire Harry S. Stonehill, 44, for the "higher interests of the nation."

The congressman released Stonehill from an office prison and turned him over to national police despite the fact they still had no answers to questions about alleged widespread bribery of government officials.

The former GI, reportedly worth about $50 million, had been imprisoned in the office of the sergeant-at-arms at the National Legislative building for 29 hours.

Nursing School Subject of Show

The Southern Oregon School of Practical Nursing will be featured on "Adventures in Medicine" at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon over station KBES-TV.

Administered by the Medford Public Schools in cooperation with Rogue Valley hospital, the school will graduate its third class Sept. 12. It has gained statewide attention for its high rating of individual graduates as well as the excellence of its standing as a training school for licensed practical nurses.

A brief resume of what the course consists of, entrance requirements, approximate cost of the course, and other factors will be included in the discussion. The need for practical nurses and career opportunities also will be pointed out.

Appearing on the program will be Mrs. Bertha Morrill, R.N., instructor of the school, Mrs. Frieda Fontaine, nursing office supervisor, Rogue Valley hospital, Lindsay Vinzel, director of adult and vocational education, Medford public schools, and Mrs. Louise Doran, student nurse who will graduate with the present class Sept. 12.

Macapagal's Deportation Order for a Stonehill Associate

Macapagal's deportation order for a Stonehill associate, Robert Brooks, was carried out earlier. Brooks went to Tokyo by plane.

Brooks was met on his arrival from Manila by a U.S. Embassy official and a Japanese immigration official. He was taken to a room where he apparently underwent questioning for about an hour.

Brooks refused to talk to newsmen except to say "wait until the next man comes through." He said Stonehill would arrive in Tokyo Sunday.

Stonehill and Brooks were arrested last March 3 and subsequently charged with tax evasion, bribery of public officials and illegal financial transactions.

Amassed Millions

Stonehill, alias Harry Steinberg, who grew up in Chicago and came to the Philippines as a soldier in World War II, has reputedly amassed an estimated $50 million during his 17 years in this country.

Macapagal said Friday that under the previous administration of President Carlos P. Garcia, Stonehill was able to transfer vast sums of money out of the country.

Macapagal charged that Stonehill, through his vast economic empire - which included 16 different corporations operating in such diverse fields as oil, tobacco and land reclamation - had spread corruption to every office in the land.

Two Philippine cabinet members were replaced Monday because of their alleged involvement with Stonehill.

54 Patients Receive Care at Farm Home

A total of 54 patients received care at the Jackson County Farm home during July, according to the home's monthly report.

Thirty-seven of the patients were welfare cases, and 17 were paying patients. The report was submitted to the county court last week.

The Family Council

Editors note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a physician, three clergymen, three editors and a woman's editor. Each article is a summary of a family disagreement presented to the Council. The Council deals with problems, major and minor, encountered by guidance counselors and social workers. Edited by Mrs. Alma Denny. (Copyright by General Features Corp.)

Mrs. G. U. - He refuses to go for the complete check-up he's entitled to.

Mr. G. U. - I feel fine. What I don't know won't hurt me.

Mrs. G. U. - My husband is 55 years old and just the right age to take advantage of a new offer presented by his employer. It's a complete physical check-up, X-rays and all, at company expense. And it's open first to the older men, later to the new employees.

I think it's a heaven-sent chance to learn just what state his heart, lungs, stomach, glands and the rest are in. Gerald is middle-aged, and that's when various ailments get started. The examination may show up something that can be treated before it makes any headway.

But he says nothing doing. He intends to turn down his invitation.

Mr. G. U. - Why should I look for trouble and worry? I feel great. If something starts to disturb me, that's time enough to go to a doctor.

And another thing: I think the boss will take all those tests and reports, and use them as an excuse to weed out some of the older fellows. He'll decide they're too frail for the demands of the job. And then he'll save on a few years of pension payments, forcing us out before the payments are due. All those details of our health are none of his business so long as we show up each day and do our work.

If my wife insists, I'll go to a private doctor where the results will be kept confidential. Of course, I'll have to save up for that first.

The Council: If Mr. U. is feeling so good, why should he fear an exam? It may only put his euphoria (sense of well-being) down on paper in terms of blood count and a row of "negatives" on the report. That's merely translating "I feel great" into officialness.

And if there should be something wrong, a sneaking silent condition waiting to spring, the proposed medical "reconnaissance" expedition will spot it, arrest it, check its sabotage. Thus Mr. U. may well be prolonging his life, at the same time as he takes the measures necessary to guarantee that his usefulness to his employer won't be impaired.

We recommend that he heed his wife's urging. The boss's invitation isn't tendered lightly, as a whim, nor is it intended as a whip, a weapon against the older employees. It's a costly item, as anyone who has gone to private doctors for some can testify. And donating it usually bespeaks a social-minded employer who is working out a welfare plan for his help. In order to work out insurance ratings with a carrier, Mr. U.'s boss must ascertain the state of health of his workers. There can't be any discrimination as to age. Although Mr. U. may be among the first invited to participate, all the employees will have the same opportunity.

In this day of fair employment practices, you know, Mr. U., a man can only be fired for cause. So long as he's doing his job, there's no cause. The medical check-up, according to what we learn from physicians and employers, goes into a fresh file, remote from those on hiring and firing.

So to sum up our counter thrusts to Mr. U.'s reasoning: 1) Even though you feel top-of-the-mornin', sir, think of the evening. Indulge your wife and your boss in picking up that ounce of prevention. And 2) Drop your associativeness vis-a-vis your employer's motive. There are still people in this world, believe it or not, who extend bonanzas in good faith.
