

Winston Family Injured in Crash

Seligman, Ariz. — A Las Vegas, Nev., man was killed and five other persons were injured Sunday in a head-on collision between two automobiles on U.S. 66, about 10 miles west of here.

The Arizona Highway Patrol identified the dead man as Jack Roland Montgomery, 54.

Listed in fair condition in the same hospital was Richard F. Gardner, 47, Winston, Ore., the driver of one car. His wife, Edith Marie, 48, and their daughter Wilma, 17, were in serious condition.

Taken to Williams hospital for observation were Montgomery's wife, Louis, 48, and their daughter, Shirley Jean, 17, the driver of the other car.

Of 3.5 million miles of paved roads in the United States about 2.8 million miles, or about four of every five, are paved with blacktop, according to Allied Chemical's Barrett division.

Bobby Kennedy Violates Regulations By Bringing Dog To Work With Him

Washington — Has Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy violated a federal regulation by bringing his dog to work with him?

No one has called the nation's chief law enforcement official on it yet. He appears to be in little danger of being convicted and serving the 30-day jail sentence that could be imposed for breaking the rule.

But the question comes up because a sad-eyed Labrador named Brumus has been accompanying Kennedy to his office at the Justice Department lately.

Brumus is no ordinary dog. At the age of 14 months he is almost as big as a pony and not nearly as graceful. Gets lonely at home.

"He usually stays at home with the children," the attorney general recently explained to visitors. "But the children are away on vacation and he gets very lonely. So I bring him down here and get pretty girls to take him for walks."

Government building regulations issued by the General Service Administration have this to say on the subject: "Dogs and other animals, except for seeing eye dogs, shall not be brought upon government property for other than official purposes."

Anyone found guilty faces a maximum penalty of $50 fine and 30 days in jail.

Brumus, whose shuffling gait and mournful appearance invariably bring surprised smiles from Kennedy's callers, is considered well-behaved — most of the time.

Brumus was the animal star of a film made in Ken-

Bed, Play Pen Only Safe Spots For Baby

Chicago — (UPI) — Baby's bed and play pen are really the only safe places for baby to be left alone, the American Academy of Pediatrics reports.

"Over or off them he may roll over or off something and hurt himself," the academy's committee on accident prevention noted. "Baby wiggles and rolls and is inquisitive, so keep him in a safe place."
