

Southwest Portion Of Nation Shows High Growth Rate

Eugene - Economic growth in the Western states since World War II has topped the national average by some $10.83 billion dollars, due mainly to increased payrolls in specialized manufacturing industries, Dr. Paul B. Simpson, professor of economics at the University of Oregon, said recently.

He spoke before a meeting of the Western Farm Economics association at the University of Nevada in Reno. Title of his speech was "Factors in the Post-War Growth of the West."

In addition, "the actual increase in personal incomes in the west is 20 per cent above what it would have been if the national rate of growth had been achieved," the economist said.

Southern Growth
However, this rapid growth has occurred only in the southern part of the west, Dr. Simpson pointed out, with Arizona and Nevada showing the largest growth rates and California, Colorado and Utah showing "growth rates substantially above the national average." Other western states have failed to keep pace with the national average in growth, he said.

Manufacturing payrolls, particularly in electrical machinery, aircraft, and ordnance, have soared $3.76 billion above the national average, he observed. These products are mainly for export out of the region, as is much of the farm production which has risen slightly above the national average, notably in truck crops and wheat, he said.

"For any region of moderate size... whether a nation or part of a nation, the export basis is a key factor," Dr. Simpson said, in explaining the importance of this increase in export products.

Internal expansion within the region, particularly in building, services, and other items needed to support the increase in manufacturing, accounts for most of the rest of the economic growth recorded since the war, Dr. Simpson observed.

"The west was advantageously situated because it had a less-than-average representation of agriculture and manufacturing during a period when these were declining relatively and because it had an above-average representation of federal payrolls when these were increasing," Dr. Simpson said, in discussing national trends that affected western growth.

Non-Agricultural West
"It was surprising to me to learn that the west was not an agricultural region," he observed. "Indeed, it is, outside of California, but California has a small percentage of incomes derived from farm sources than does the nation, and as California goes, so goes the west, in this regard at least."

In discussing the conditions in individual states, Dr. Simpson pointed out that Oregon "incomes have shrunk because the wood products industries are not growing as rapidly as other industries. Paper is an exception, but this has not been sufficient" to offset the general decline.

The state of Washington had "an exceptionally high stake in the federal payrolls," until "the government saw fit to reduce its payrolls in this area," he said. At the same

Prolonged Sunshine May Dry Ladies' Skin

New York - (UPI) - The female who worries about her lines in the bedroom mirror usually forgets about them when she goes to the beach. She doesn't cover up enough—or use tanning lotions.

But old Sol can be mighty unkind, skin specialists report. Over a period of years, sunburn causes the skin to dry out and lose its elasticity. The skin doctors report an increase in female patients, in their 20s and 30s, seeking dramatic remedies for the sunburned, weather-beaten and wrinkled skin which makes them look older.

Nurse Learns Son Accident Victim

Leicester, England - (UPI) - Two persons who had been seriously injured in automobile accidents were wheeled into the hospital casualty ward together Tuesday.

Mrs. Ethel Pennington, a nurse, was assigned to one, a man, and immediately pitched in to try saving his life.

Other nurses were assigned to the second victim, an 18-year-old boy.

Jet Fuel Is Clean As City Drinking Water

Montreal - (UPI) - The fuel that goes into a jet airliner must be as clean as public drinking water.

The International Air Transport association jet fuel specifications state that the amount of solid impurities in aircraft fuel must be limited to one milligramme per litre—the same limit prescribed in testing municipal water supplies.

ISSUES ORDER
Washington - (UPI) - President Kennedy Tuesday issued an executive order formally making the Peace Corps part of the State Department.

Two Critical After Head-On Collision

Portland - (UPI) - Two persons remained in critical condition today following a head-on collision in Northeast Portland Monday that injured a dozen women and children.

In critical condition at Providence hospital were Mrs. Lena Frerichs, 44, and her daughter, Joyce, 18.

Police blamed the crash on a blowout. They said one of the cars was returning from the bean fields, the other going to the county fair. A doctor who administered emergency surgery at the scene was credited with saving two lives.

Hotel Manager Once Was Popular Bellhop

New York - (UPI) - Joseph J. Van went to work for the Edison hotel 25 years ago and became one of its most popular bellhops.

A guest who hadn't been back to the hotel for more than 20 years checked in recently and asked for Van to handle his bags. Van, now manager of the hotel, smilingly obliged.

A SLIGHT ERROR
London - (UPI) - A railway guard was left standing on the platform Tuesday night when his train left the station. A British Railways spokesman called it a "slight error of judgment."
