Bible Readers Lack Adequate Understanding, Says Scholar

By CLAIRE COX United Press International New York—The Bible is more revered than read because most people do not know how to read it with understanding, says a leading Bible scholar.

The Rev. Dr. Leander E. Keck, assistant professor of the New Testament at the Divinity School of Vanderbilt university, said that as a result, the Bible is the most neglected resource of modern times.

"Taking the Bible seriously involves more than simply reading it piously," he said. "It may be better to argue with the Bible than to shrug it off."

One way to participate actively in reading the Bible, Keck said, is to write comments in the margins. Another way is to check the Bible from time to time, going back to historical material and various references.

"There is no need to argue that many people find the Bible to be a problem," Keck wrote. "The fact that year after year it manages to top the best-seller list hides the fact that most readers have serious difficulties with it."

Keck pointed out that the Bible is not the only scripture available to mankind. The Koran is the scripture for Islam, he said, and the Buddhist religion has the Gita.

Despite a flood of modern translations and paraphrases of the Bible, Keck said, the average English-speaking person still does not understand it. He finds the basic trouble is the language—strange words and phrases. Another difficulty he cited lies in the fact that the Bible continues to be our scripture," he asked. "Can we take it seriously enough for it to affect our lives and shape our culture? Or has the modern world made it both incomprehensible and unbelievable?"

In other words, can the Bible continue to be our scripture? he asked. "Can we take it seriously enough for it to affect our lives and shape our culture? Or has the modern world made it both incomprehensible and unbelievable?"

Mr. Bridges will speak Sunday at 7 p.m. on the subject "What All Farmers Know." Due to the Thursday night program featuring Mr. Elder, the service will be no Wednesday evening service this week.

Mr. Heberling's topic at the 7:30 p.m. service will be "What is Your Life?"

The junior high fellowship will meet Thursday at 3 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Johansson, 2133 Deilwood ave. After swimming there will be a hotdog barbecue supper. Incoming seventh grade students will be welcomed, and outgoing ninth graders will be graduated.

Major William Ricken will speak at both the 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. services of First Church of the Nazarene, 520 North Holly st., Sunday. The pastor, Harold M. Sanner, is on vacation. Major Ricken is commanding officer of the local unit of the Salvation Army.

Perry Christiansen, minister of music for the church, announced that the Fishermen male quartet and Jackson Phillips will sing. For the evening service music will include a soprano solo by Ruth Brewster, a number by a quartet of Rod Newman, Walter Vail, John Finkbeiner and Perry Christiansen, and a clarinet solo by Judy Arnold.

The worship service will be held at 9:30 a.m. During the worship hour, pre-school children will be cared for in Pilgrim house. First through fourth grade young people will meet for their class in the parsonage from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m.

Lunch will be served by the Women's Missionary society of the local church.

The Rev. Thomas Balch will speak at the morning service and the Rev. John Sills Jr. will speak at the evening service Sunday. The Rev. Troy Hall is in Washington state on vacation.
