God Hill Teen-Age Party Is Success; Another One Eyed

By MARY KELL
Gold Hill - Ralph A. James, Sams Valley, chairman of the youth activity program here, told God Hill Chamber of Commerce members that the teen-age party held July 31 was a success.

He said at least 60 young people attended the affair which included an evening of games, cook-out, and dancing. James represents the Chamber on this project sponsored by local organizations for teen-agers in this community. James believes another party may be held sometime in August if the young people want one. However, he added no plans have been made because he has not had an opportunity to discuss the matter with other members of the youth activity board. The last party was arranged by Miss Laura Thomas and a committee of young people. It was reported at the Chamber meeting that a great deal of credit is due Mrs. John Thomas who assisted the young people with details that required adult attention both prior to and during the party.

Mrs. Thomas represents the Gold Hill Grange on the youth activity board, and is one of five adults named to serve on the entertainment committee in an advisory capacity.

Richard Abbott, president of the chamber, and fellow members extended a special thanks to Frank Sutcliffe and C. Norman Gail for making it possible for the teen-agers to have the street between Gail's Gold Hill market and Walker's service station lighted for dancing.

Gail provided from his store the electric outlet needed and Sutcliffe, manager of Ideal Cement Company plant, had flood light equipment installed for the occasion.

Mrs. Clyde Kell, secretary, reported that requests for brochures of the Gold Hill area being supplied by the Chamber had totaled 902 by August 2.

Albert H. Harrison, chairman of the board of directors, suggested that the membership committee take over the job of sending to members twice a month the cards announcing meetings. This would relieve some of the work now being done by the Residents of Rogue River Donate Blood

Rogue River - Thirty-two pints of blood were collected when the Red Cross bloodmobile visited this community Aug. 1. The bloodmobile was set up at the school cafeteria for three hours during the evening.

Officials thanked three Rogue River organizations for help during the bloodmobile's visit. The local Lions club bought supplies for the canteen. The Civic club served refreshments to the blood donors. The Lions auxiliary contributed help.

The visit was considered a success, reported Mrs. John Harr, local Red Cross chairman, considering that many regular donors were out of town.

Upon Harrison's recommendation it was agreed that Earl Cox, one of the three on the membership committee, will take over sending cards until January.

Others on the membership committee are Ernest H. Cooper, owner of House of Mystery at Oregon Vortex and the Old Oregon Historical museum, two of the areas tourist attractions, and Norman R. Matteson, judge of the Justice Court, Gold Hill District and owner of the Gold Hill laundromat and dry cleaners.

Cox, former chief of police here, has accepted a position with the federal government at Camp White. His replacement Bill Young, new chief of police for the city of Gold Hill was introduced and extended an invitation by the group to become a member of the Gold Hill Chamber of Commerce.

The next meeting will be held Thursday, August 16 during noon hour at city hall on Second avenue.

Regional Roundup

by Cleve Twitcheil
Mail Tribune Regional Editor

The human race has a remarkable ability to forget. We're grateful to have a man like R. E. Neslon and his "Tablets" column around to act as a memory for us. It was comforting to read in his column last Friday that he remembered an August when it rained for a whole week, following which the sun came back out and there was warm weather again. During those three days of "winter type" rain last week, we were beginning to wonder if the summer had really ended. But sure enough, the temperature was back in the 90s over the week end and the sun was shining.

We hear quite a bit of talk about changes in our planet's weather patterns. And the weather is changing with respect to the last 10 or 20 years. But are these changes bringing about weather completely new to the areas involved? We doubt it. Virtually everything that human beings experience has happened before. People often forget that it has happened before and even ignore the evidence frequently available to show that it has happened before.

We are reminded of the contention that "there is nothing new under the sun." How true that statement may well be. An interesting case to ponder is that of the lost continents of Atlantis and Lemuria. They're considered a joke or a myth by many, but a trip to the library and a scanning of books available on the subject reveals that there is an amazing amount of evidence to support the existence of highly civilized races on both continents ages ago.

The Occult Explanation
According to occult stories, Atlantis and Lemuria were occupied by races more highly developed than our present-day civilization who got into a nuclear war and destroyed each other and their respective continents. There's no evidence to prove that? Neither is there evidence to discount it. We are talking of a long-age age and legends and myths are all we have to go on. We do recall, however, reading some years ago that scientists had discovered fused green glass in amongst so-called Stone Age remains—green glass similar to that formed by nuclear explosions. This poses an interesting consideration: did the caveman really come UP from the apes, or did they come DOWN from civilized human being who degenerated after a nuclear war? Perhaps we have been blind to the events of the present day before.

Anti-Climax
Bertha Hanscom, our Phoenix correspondent, completed her trip across the United States to New York and Maine and back without incident, not even a flat tire. Then 24 hours after her return she was involved in a bad accident on South Stage rd. a week ago Saturday night that sent six people to the hospital, one in which a car stopped for a cat crossing the road, causing an auto behind to swerve across the center line and strike the vehicle in which Bertha was riding head-on. The pickup, which had crossed the country both ways without incident, was demolished. Bertha was in Rogue Valley Memorial hospital for several days, but now is resting at home.

Costas Stathatos Of Greece Visits Eagle Point Family

By DOTTIE HARBISON
Eagle Point-Costas Stathatos of Athens, Greece, is visiting at the home of Miss Molly Gregg and her parents Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gregg, 811 South C Street, Eagle Point this week.

Miss Gregg and Mr. Stathatos started corresponding in 1958 while he was still in Athens. He also corresponded with Miss Teena Leuvenburgh, now living in Medford prior to this with the two getting their names through an international pen pal group.

Costas came to the United States in 1961 via the New York port and has attended Davidson College in Davidson, North Carolina on a Richardson International Scholarship. Prior to this he attended the University of Athens for three years.

Costas said he liked the United States generally speaking. People are the same in the world over, he indicated, some you like and some you don't care so much for. He quickly commented that he was very impressed with the hospitality he was receiving from Eagle Point Mayor and Mrs. Gregg and their two daughters, Molly and Connie since he arrived in Eagle Point last Friday.

At the present time, Costas is employed by the Green John company at its pea canery in Washington. He plans to spend 90 per cent of his time next year in Eastern Oregon College at La Grande.

His main emphasis is placed on a c a d e m i c procedures. While he maintains his high grade point average, he is happy to give lectures, appear at clubs, organizations, and other groups as a good will ambassador and to learn the way of life here in the United States.

He compares the first two years of our college to the last two years of high school in European schools and the last two years of college here to the first two years of college there.

From approximately 2,000 candidates, only 500 were accepted at the University of Athens last year. "We have no choice in subjects there. We have to take 12 courses (depending on the school) both in high school and the University. If we specialize or major in a subject the courses required are the ones we take," Costas noted.

Youngsters are required to go to school until they are 14 years of age but the greatest percent strive to attend the universities.

A teacher has no retirement age there and the turn over is not as great as it is here. To become a professor in the Universities, a teacher must prove himself starting at the high school level and work up as advancements are received in most businesses in the United States.

'Stormy Boss' Nominated for Oregon Derby Races in 1963

By MARY ALICE BRUSHA
Central Point - "Stormy Boss," a thoroughbred chestnut roan quarter horse, son of Valinda Boss and Pretty Socks by Servaajo, a descendant of the famous "Sea Biscuit," and owned by Frank Wooldridge, of 663 Gibbon Rd., has been nominated for the Oregon Derby races in 1963.

He was two years old in April and stands 15 hands and 2" high, weighing 1050 pounds. The white star on his forehead extending into the wide white stripe on his nostril add greatly to the handsomeness of this horse. In September he will be entered in the Portland Meadow races in Portland.

Great things are expected of "Stormy Boss," with all the many champion winners behind him. With the training given him by his owner, it looks as though he may bring home a few honors himself.

Wooldridge has been a breeder and trainer of horses for 50 years. A native of Jackson county he was born in the country. The huge logs are so constructed they will withstand the weather for many years to come.

Wooldridge has always been quite active in rodeos and in many other activities pertaining to horsemanship. With all the other fine horses he has on his ranch, it is obvious he will continue to train and care for them for some time to come.

NOMINATED-Stormy Boss, who has been nominated for the Oregon Derby races in 1963, stands here with his owner, Frank Wooldridge of 663 Gibbon rd., Central Point.

BUILT CORRAL-Wooldridge stands by the log corral he built on his Central Point ranch.
