The Beauties of Scenic Oregon

Crater Lake, formed out of a giant cauldron thousands of years ago, is one of Oregon's most-photographed scenic attractions.

Harvesting Starts For Bartletts And Area Peaches

Some early Bartlett pear picking started today, according to County Extension Agent Don Berry.

More picking will start tomorrow and the bulk of the Bartlett harvest will begin next week, he said.

Some orchardists report large crops. Berry said Bartletts are sizing up somewhat, but the biggest jump in size increase will come from now to the end of the Bartlett harvest season. This area normally packs the largest part of the Bartlett crop for fresh fruit, he said.

The recent cool, rainy weather helped with sizing, washed the trees of dust, dirt and spray and provided good uniform moisture, the county agent noted.

Peach Crop Good
The valley will also have a large crop of good quality peaches, Berry noted. Picking has started on Red Haven varieties and some of the Golden Jubilee. However, the main peach harvest will not start until about Aug. 25. This will include Hales, Elbertas, and Rio Oso Genes. Elbertas are best for canners, Berry said.

Some sour cherries are still available and a few apricots, although they are at the end of their season, the county agent said. Early variety apples are now being picked, he added. They are of good quality for fresh use, but not for keeping, he noted.

County Judge to Check With DA on Zoning Ordinance

County Judge Earl M. Miller this morning was puzzling over which legally should come first—the zoning ordinance for the southwest Phoenix area or the election on it. Miller said he would consult with District Attorney Alan Holmes.

The problem arose when the county court received a letter from Attorney Russell DeForest representing some of the residents of the southwest Phoenix area who want an election first. The county judge originally understood the state law allows the county court to adopt the zoning ordinance for the area and then call an election after that.

However, residents of the southwest Phoenix area have submitted a petition questioning the county court's authority to adopt zoning and land use ordinances. The petition contained verified names representing 27 per cent of the eligible voters in the area. Only 15 per cent is required by law.

DeForest interprets the law as meaning that the majority of area residents must approve the zoning ordinance before the county court can adopt it. George Brenner of the county planning office said that an interim zoning ordinance, which is now in effect in the area, should not be confused with a zoning ordinance.

The last pages of the proposed zoning ordinance are being printed today. The court will consider the ordinance tomorrow during its regular agenda session, Miller said.

Soblen Wins Legal Delay in Britain
London—UPI—Convicted Soviet spy Dr. Robert A. Soblen, 61, won another legal delay today against his deportation to the United States where he is under a life sentence.

A British High Court hearing a move by his lawyers to prevent his deportation adjourned until Wednesday, Aug. 22, without making a ruling. There were indications that a final decision on the Soblen case may not be made until Sept. 6 or later.

Judge John F. Stephenson ruled that a full hearing should be held on the fugitive's application for a writ of habeas corpus. This could open the way for more protracted court actions that might take the case all the way to the House of Lords, which does not convene until Sept. 6.

Preliminary Work Planned On Bridle Trail

Some preliminary work on a bridle trail and stables at Howard Prairie lake may be done this fall, it was decided at a meeting of the Jackson county parks and recreation commission. However, no definite action was taken by the commission regarding a proposed riding concession at the lake.

Commission Member Mrs. Marcel LePinec, Applegate, is spearheading the proposal to use farm buildings in the north end of the Howard Prairie recreation area for a riding concession and hostelry for hikers and cyclists. The commission must also make an agreement with Henry Owens and the Lindsay brothers to use some pasture near the barn for concessionaire Clyde Wilhelm's horses.

Would Improve Trail
Wilhelm now operates a riding concession at Lake of the Woods. He proposes to eventually improve the existing trail from Lake of the Woods to Howard Prairie as a bridle trail. If the parks and recreation commission and the county court approve, a bridle trail would first be built around Howard Prairie. Wilhelm has offered to do some preliminary work on the trail and barn area this fall.

Commission members last night noted a grazing permit may be needed from the bureau of land management for the horses.

Mr. and Mrs. Owens and the Lindsay brothers last night were concerned over a possible increase in vandalism at their cattle operations if the area is opened up to riders, hikers and cyclists. However, Neil Ledward, parks and recreation director, said customarily such groups commit little if any vandalism.

Jackie Kennedy Dances With Count
Ravello, Italy—UPI—Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy slipped aboard a yacht Monday night and visited the Isle of Capri, where she danced the twist and cha cha with an Italian count in a dimly lighted cellar night spot called the "No. 2 Club."

Man Arrested for Five Burglaries

Ashland—An Ashland man has admitted committing five burglaries in this city, Ashland police said this morning. Officers reported that James Leslie Hurd, 28, of 460 Siskiyou Blvd., was arrested yesterday afternoon at a Medford garage. Later he admitted in a signed statement to burglarizing five Ashland firms, police said.

The arrest was made by Medford police at the request of the Ashland police department, which had received information that the suspect was having his car repaired in Medford.

Hurd was scheduled to be arraigned this morning in district court in Medford. His arrest yesterday was on a charge of burglary.

Ashland police said they recovered a major portion of the merchandise taken from the five local firms, which were Western Auto, White House Grocery, Copeland Hardware, Pioneer Cabinet Shop and Perrine's Department Store. The merchandise was recovered from Hurd's car, officers said.

The burglaries were all committed within the last two months, and items taken included radios, tools, clothing, guns, ammunition and some cash.

CASH STOLEN
Portland—UPI—Bernard Brown told police today that $8,000 in cash was stolen from his home here while he visited in Seattle.

Bloodmobile Donations Under Way By Red Cross

More than 200 persons had reported to the Red Cross Bloodmobile to donate blood by 11 o'clock this morning. Red Cross spokesmen said that 155 donors contributed a total of 134 pints of blood yesterday. Some 51 persons visited the Bloodmobile in the first hour of donations today.

It was noted that not all of the donors were accepted due to medical reasons, but public support of the program has been "wonderful," according to Mrs. J. W. Burba, blood program chairman.

Action To Curb Talkathon on Satellite Bill

Vote in Favor Of Closure 63-27

Washington—UPI—The Senate today invoked its anti-filibuster rule for the first time in more than 35 years and voted to limit debate on the administration's space communications bill.

The vote in favor of closure was 63-27, three more than the two-thirds needed. The action came on a leadership motion to curb a determined Democratic talkathon against the stalled bill. The dramatic vote brought the first successful use of the closure rule since February, 1927, when a prohibition measure was being debated.

Days of Debate
Even with closure, the Senate still faced days of debate and voting to clean up action on the bill. Each senator still is entitled to one hour to speak on the bill and all amendments combined. More than 200 amendments have been introduced.

The closure vote marked the first showdown in the angry controversy over the communications bill which has snarled the Senate in dispute for more than a month.

Private Space Company
The bill, opposed by a bloc of filibustering liberals, would create a privately owned but government-supervised corporation to operate a space communications system exemplified by the recent success of the Telstar satellite.

The long-awaited vote posed a trying test for many senators who traditionally have opposed cutting off debate.

More Caught Up
The Senate narrowly escaped its longest session of the year Monday night when supporters of the bill found a chink in the parliamentary armor of Sen. Wayne L. Morse (D-Ore.). They rammed through an adjournment at 6:33 p.m. (PST).

Morse, a determined foe of the bill, was threatening to talk on for hours when he inadvertently lost the floor by asking that a series of new amendments be read.

Morse and Sen. Maurice Neuberger (D-Ore.) voted against closure.

Decision Against Tax Cut Wins Support From Public

Medford Teacher Elected Head of Kiwanis District

E. Ron Rice, Medford school teacher, today was unanimously elected 1963 Pacific Northwest Kiwanis District Governor at the group's annual convention in Yakima, Wash.

Rice, a music teacher at McLoughlin Junior High school and a member of the Medford Kiwanis club, succeeds Floyd Weldon of Seattle, Wash.

At the same meeting Dr. Merle Foland, Medford, was elected lieutenant governor of Division 15A of Kiwanis. The division includes southern Oregon and Yreka, Calif.

Rice joined Kiwanis in 1934. In 1945 he joined Medford Kiwanis and has served since at the club's secretary-treasurer with the exception of 1953 through 1957 when he served on five district committees.

He served as president of the Medford club in 1953 and was lieutenant governor twice of Division 13 in 1956 and Division 15A in 1959.

Rice has had 16 years perfect attendance in the Medford club, attendance at 7 international conventions and 13 district conventions.

Community service in Medford includes board of directors of Southern Oregon Philharmonic society, board of directors Salvation Army and Medford School Board chairman.

The Pacific Northwest Kiwanis district includes Alaska, British Columbia, Washington, Oregon and Idaho.

In other action at Yakima, Anchorage, Alaska, was designated the site of the 1963 district convention. Representatives from most southern Oregon Kiwanis clubs are in attendance at the convention which ends Wednesday.

Youths Injured in Second Accident

Wilderville—A pickup truck went out of control and flipped over on Highway 199 half a mile east of here last night, severing the ear of one of its two teen-age occupants.

Losing an ear in the accident was Charles Pryor, 17, of Wilderville. He was treated at Josephine General hospital.

Suffering minor injuries was Paul Youngblood, 18, of Fish Hatchery rd., Wilderville. The truck was demolished. It was the second such accident in this area in as many days. Two 15-year-old Wilderville boys escaped serious injury Sunday night when their car overturned on Slate Creek rd.

President Sees No Justification For Prompt Steps

Request Promised For Next Year

Washington—UPI—President Kennedy won immediate public backing for his decision to delay a reduction in federal taxes until next year when Congress can enact the "right kind" of legislation, the White House said today.

Kennedy offered the nation a detailed economic review Monday night, saying an immediate tax cut could not be justified by economic conditions or enacted in Congress.

But he said federal taxes are too high and a tax cut is needed.

Telegrams Arrive
White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said "several hundred" telegrams of reaction to the President's speech arrived during the night.

"They are running about two to one in favor of his stand," Salinger said.

A story on reaction to President Kennedy's decision to put off a request for Congress to reduce taxes until next year is on page 2A.

Speaking by television and radio from his White House office, Kennedy called on Congress to approve a series of previously recommended economy boosters before adjourning next month.

And should the economy worsen after Congress leaves, he promised to call the House and Senate back into session.

Top to Bottom
The tax cut which the President will request next year will be a "top to bottom, across-the-board" reduction in personal and corporate income tax rates. He will ask that the reduction be dated from next Jan. 1. Kennedy said leaders of both houses had promised to steer the bill to speedy passage.

Congressional reaction with few exceptions followed party lines. Democrats generally approved but Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon thought the President should announce now that he will recall Congress after the November elections to consider what Morse described as a "long overdue" tax reduction.

Speaks of Savings
Mindful of the powerful economy bloc within his own party on Capitol Hill, Kennedy spoke of billions that could be saved by closing down federal installations and services "that are not essential."

He also urged Congress to pass pending legislation to raise postal rates and thus end the $600 million annual postal deficit, closing of current tax loopholes to save $1 billion annually and legislation to make possible annual saving of another $1 billion on farm surpluses.

The President said the economy had strengthened overall since his administration took office, but he was far from satisfied with the rate of growth, continued unemployment and insufficient plant expansion.

County Bat Found To Have Had Rabies

A bat found at route 1, box 68A, Medford last week was rabid, according to a report from the state public health laboratories, County Public Health Officer A. Erin Merkel said today.

He urged parents to instruct their youngsters not to handle or pick up sick or injured animals since they may be rabid.

Soviet Cosmonauts Setting Records With Every Orbit

Moscow—UPI—Russia's twin cosmonauts hurtled through space today, setting new records with every orbit but giving no indication of when they would be brought back to earth.

Moscow Radio reported that Maj. Andrian Nikolayev, 32, now in his fourth day aloft, and Lt. Col. Pavel Popovich, 31, in his third day in flight, sent a joint message at 4:52 p.m. (5:52 a.m. PST) saying "we are feeling excellent."

At that time, Nikolayev had completed 52 orbits and Popovich 36, each completing one orbit about every 88 minutes at a speed of 17,500 miles an hour.

Systems 'Working Well'
They said all systems of their space ships—Nikolayev in Vostok III and Popovich in Vostok IV—were "working well."

They thanked the fatherland, the Soviet people, the Communist party of the Soviet Union and Premier Nikita Khrushchev for the "fatherly solicitude" being shown them by everyone.

"We are a short distance from each other and maintaining reliable communication between ourselves," the message said.

The message did not specify just how close the two space ships were to each other. Estimates have ranged widely. Some have said they were from 6 to 125 miles apart. Swedish experts said their calculations indicated the ships were 1,300 miles from each other and it was unlikely they could stay in space another day. But Sir Bernard Lovell, director of Britain's Jodrell Bank Radio Astronomy Station, said he believed they would remain in orbit for at least one more day.

Woman Fined for Damaging Magnolia

Central Point—Blanche Marie McMillan of 712 Cedar st. was fined $58.50 in Central Point Municipal court yesterday on a citation for destroying a Magnolia tree.

The fine consisted of $50 plus the cost of the tree, $8.50. The tree was one of 44 set out along Pine st. last March by the Central Point Lions club as a community beautification project.

A Central Point police officer cited the woman Aug. 10, reporting that he had observed her break off the top of one of the trees.

Believed Own Decision
Most observers believed Nikolayev and Popovich were being permitted to make their own decision on when re-entry should begin. All official statements and broadcasts stressed their continued well being.

About an hour before the joint message was sent, Nikolayev made another appearance on Soviet television and, the announcer said, sent "greetings to all" in a direct transmission from space. It was the 13th space broadcast since Nikolayev was sent into orbit last Saturday.

Money Approved For Talent Project

Washington—UPI—The House Appropriations Committee recommended today a $4.6 billion public works bill to finance more new construction starts than the administration recommended, but with less money than was requested.

President Kennedy's public works budget, which envisioned 36 new starts, added up to a grand total of $4,745,332,000. The committee pared $19,424,100 off that sum, but approved all the recommended new starts and added another 13, for a total of 49.

The committee recommended the following appropriations for the public works projects in Oregon:

- General investigations—Chetco river $14,000; Coquille river $8,000; Tillamook Bay $12,000; Umpqua river $77,700; Willamette river $31,000.
- Construction—Columbia river mouth (with Washington) $2,130,000; Columbia river, John Day river $20,000; Coos Bay $1.6 million; Coos and Millicoma rivers $23,000; Cougar reservoir $9.1 million; Fall Creek reservoir $1.9 million; Green Peter reservoir $6.1 million; John Day lock and dam (with Washington) $43 million; Lower Columbia river bank protection (with Washington) $400,000; Lower Columbia, Beaver drainage district $516,000; Siuslaw river 720,000; Tillamook Bay and Harbor $500,000; Umpqua river $2,160,000; Willamette river basin bank protection $600,000; Yaquina bay and harbor $130,000; Klamath project $15,000; Rogue River project $1,765,000; Tillamook project $439,000; The Dalles project, western division $1,025,000; Vale project, Bully creek extension $1,765,000.
