Larger Farms Total 54 Per Cent Figures Reveal

Corvallis — Only 54 per cent of Oregon's farms are classified as commercial, yet they sell 96 per cent of the state's farm products while the other 46 per cent, including part-time and part-retirement, sell only 4 per cent, reports Mrs. Elvera Horrell, Oregon State university extension agricultural economist.

Citing figures from the 1959 U. S. Census of Agriculture, Mrs. Horrell noted that 42 per cent of sales come from 3 per cent of the farms reporting sales of $40,000 or more. Some 7 per cent of the farms reported sales totaling $20,000 to $39,999 or 21 per cent of all sales.

Cattle and calves, wheat and dairy, in that order, account for more than two-fifths of the cash receipts to the state's farmers, Mrs. Horrell stated. On the average, three out of four dollars received were required to operate and maintain the business.

The median or "middle" income of rural farm families in Oregon in 1959 was $4,824 as compared with $6,286 in the cities, she added.

The census also revealed that Oregon farms vary from less than 10 to more than 10,000 acres. The average holding is 500 acres with a value for land and buildings of about $42,000.

Most of Oregon's farm operators are either full or part owners, with more than nine out of ten farmers in this category, she said. A comparison with other years shows that in practically every measurement except farm numbers and farm operators, farming in Oregon is growing, Mrs. Horrell pointed out.

Other information revealed by the census shows that in 1959 some 84 per cent of the farms had telephones; 64 per cent reported home freezers; 71 per cent had trucks; 82 per cent owned tractors; and 87 per cent, automobiles. about half of Oregon's farms are along hard surfaced roads, about two-fifths on gravel roads, and the rest on dirt or unimproved roads.

Building Plans Head Agenda For State Farm Board

Salem – A look at preliminary building plans, a proposal for joint efforts with another state agency to boost agricultural industries and a visit with Vice Governor Saito, of Hokkaido, Japan, will highlight today's meeting in Salem of the State Board of Agriculture.

J. F. Short, director of agriculture, states the architect's preliminary plans for an Agriculture building will be unveiled at this time. They have just been completed by Architect James Payne and this will be the board's first opportunity to view them.

The board decided early this year to undertake a crash building program to relieve the crowded conditions facing the department. It hopes to gain a building appropriation from the 1963 legislature.

Industrial Development

Sam Mallicoat, director of the state department of planning and development, will appear to discuss joint efforts to promote further industrial development hinged on farm crops.

Other matters on the agenda will include organization of an educational program on the need for a building, the current milk stabilization situation and routine reports including preliminary 1963-65 budget estimates for the department.

The meeting was scheduled for 9:30 a.m., standard time, in the department building. Frank Rood Jr., North Bend, is board chairman. Other members: Frank Tubbs, Adams; Ward Spatz, Medford; Hubert F. Willoughby, Harrisburg; Joe Saito, Ontario; Ernest F. Jernstedt, Carlton and R. A. Long, Fort Rock.

Vegetable Crop Field Day Held

Corvallis — What's new in research on vegetable crops was shown to the public by Oregon State university researchers Thursday, Aug. 2, at the 1962 Vegetable Crops Field Day in Corvallis.

Persons interested in vegetable crops observed horticultural trials in new varieties and variety improvement as well as work being done in the related fields of entomology, plant pathology, soils and agricultural engineering, according to A. A. Duncan, OSU extension vegetable production specialist.

Researchers were on hand at the OSU Vegetable Research farm to answer questions and to explain the work which was shown.

Bean growers and processors saw bean improvement trials during the day as well as new research on bean culture and pod set and bush bean irrigation. Those attending saw the bean root rot, yellow mosaic and rust breeding and testing technique area.

Breeding lines of peas were ready for observation as well as crucifer variety, breeding and cultural work. Also on view were much of the weed control work being done at the farm and entomological work on a wide variety of vegetable crops.

Those attending inspected sweet corn hybrids and inbreds and new carrot varieties and hybrids. Onion hybrid and pink root test plots were open to observation.

In addition to the test plots open for inspection, researchers explained a current study of chemical placement in soils and discussed root dips for symphylid control, Duncan added.

FARMER LIKES HORSES

Memphis, Mo.—UPI—Farmer Carrol Rausch has sold his tractor and other mechanized equipment and plans to buy horses, Raush figures it will be cheaper to farm his 197 acres with horsepower. And besides, he likes horses.

Home Fire Fatal To Washington Man

Richland – UPI – A Richland man died Monday night from burns over 90 per cent of his body after a fire in his home Friday night.

R. G. Norman, 54, died at Kadlec Methodist hospital here.

Norman was pulled unconscious from his burning home by two neighbors. Fire Chief Pat Quane said it is believed the fire was caused by an electrical short in the kitchen.

Plea of Innocent Entered in Killing

Wenatchee – UPI – Robert Duncan, 32, Wenatchee, Monday pleaded innocent to first degree murder charges in connection with the death of a Salem, Ore., man.

Duncan is accused of beating to death Wayne Hardin, 36, last July 22.

Corrupt Practices Charge Dismissed

Salem –UPI– A charge of violation of the state corrupt practices act was dismissed in Circuit Court Monday against Lowell Wayne Hembree, an unsuccessful candidate for the state legislature from Multnomah county.

Dist. Atty. Hattie Bratzel Kremen asked the dismissal.

Hembree was accused of making personal campaign expenditures in excess of those allowed by law. Mrs. Kremen told Circuit Judge George Duncan that Hembree made the expenditures from his own funds after his campaign committee failed to raise funds necessary to meet his campaign costs. She said the committee since has raised the money and that an amended campaign expenditures report has been filed with the secretary of state.

THE FIRST MOVE in tic-tac-toe gets you started—but that's all. Skill and experience in the moves that follow decide the winner. It's the same in advertising. Your first move is to develop a strong sales story and express it in a good ad. Nice start. Next...get that ad before a large audience of ready-to-buy prospects. Skilled, experienced advertising men know they can do that best in the pages of the daily newspaper.

Four out of five adults read a daily newspaper on any given weekday, and each reader picks up and looks through his paper not just once, but an average of 2.4 times.* That means more sales messages delivered...more action per message. The next move is yours. Why not score with the daily newspaper?
