

This Week's Ranch and Modern Home

By HIAWATHA ESTES, A.I.B.D.
 For the family with a limited building budget, this design offers the advantages of a much more expensive home. The cost and square footage of this house belies its spaciousness and livability.
 Behind the handsome ranch style exterior—which would be a complement to any community—lies a "houseful" of convenience. A used brick planter at the front of the bedroom wing plus the continuation of the roof along the sides of this wing and around the front until it reaches the bay window, is a real eye-catcher. The diamond pane window pattern has been repeated in the design of the garage door.
 Sunlight passes through the glass panes in the front door and lights the center hall entry. From this entry, one can enter the family room, kitchen, living room or the short hall leading to all the bedrooms.

Wardrobe Space
 By properly locating the wardrobes in all bedrooms, there is an abundant amount of wardrobe space totaling 30 feet. There is also a guest and linen closet in the bedroom wing. A shoulder high sliding window in the front bedroom provides cross ventilation and a bed or other piece of furniture can still be placed beneath the window.
 The rear living room with its adjoining patio is conducive to entertaining and outdoor living. This is one of the highlights of this workable ranch plan—the generous use of glass where it counts the most.
 The hub of this handsome dwelling is the open area that encompasses the family room, kitchen. The U-shaped kitchen is only partially separated from the family room with cabinets and an eating bar. This large open area meets the old fashion concept of the kitchen as a friendly gathering place with plenty of space to move around. It has been adapted here to today's ideas of efficiency.

 The laundry plus broom and pantry closets are in the service. There is direct access from the service to the garage.
 An efficient horizontal forced air furnace is located in the attic but could be placed in the garage if preferred.
 Complete working drawings for this plan can be purchased at a cost of $1.50 for the first set and $5.00 for each additional set when ordered at the same time. This plan will be available at these prices until Dec. 4. Please allow two to three weeks for delivery. If the above home does not entirely meet with your approval, a new home plan book, Ranch and Modern Homes, can be purchased for $2. Send all orders for either plans or books to: Hiawatha Estes, P.O. Box 104-T, Northridge, Calif.

Stalin Reference Removed From Red China Publication

Hong Kong —(UPI)—References to Stalin have been removed from an important Chinese Communist publication, the official Peiping Press has disclosed.
 The patience of the Chinese when confronted with a clear-cut challenge, such as Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's unequivocal de-Stalinization campaign, may account for the change.
 There is no indication that China has changed its basic policy on world affairs to conform to the more moderate Soviet line. Recent propaganda attacks on the Laotian settlement approved by the United States and Russia have made this clear.
 The omission of Stalin's name was considered a tactical move on the part of the Chinese and not a switch from their strategy of pursuing the tough policies of the late Soviet dictator.
 It was noticed in the Peiping Daily, official newspaper of the Chinese Communist party. The paper appears to have devoted the bulk of its Aug. 1 issue to publishing the full text of a book entitled "How To Be a Good Communist."
 It was written by Liu Shao-Chi, Communist China's chief of state and second-ranking party theoretician. Liu wrote the first draft in 1959, when the Communist armies were defending what was left of northern China from the Japanese invaders and Stalin was the unquestioned leader of the entire Communist world.
 "How To Be a Good Communist" is divided into nine sections. The title of the second section seems to have undergone a significant alteration in the latest revised edition.
 Formerly the title was: "To Be the Best Student of Marx, Engels, Lenin and Stalin."
 Now it is: "To Be a Good Student of Marx and Lenin."
 Older text omitted.
 The older text exalted the "words and deeds, career and quality" of the four men as models to be imitated. This has been omitted now.
 Also, many quotations from Stalin's works which formerly constituted important supports for Liu Shao-Chi's argument have been deleted.
 The omission of Stalin's name is regarded by observers of Communist affairs here as significant. Up to now, there has been no indication that Peiping has conducted a "de-Stalinization" campaign as has been done in Russia.
Portrait Appears
 In fact, Stalin's portrait has been appearing at important state rallies and anniversaries. Moreover, Liu Shao-Chi is well known as being Mao Tse-Tung's heir-apparent to the all important post of party chairmanship. He is one of the few men Mao trusts completely. It was Liu who headed the Chinese delegation to the 1960 meeting of Communist parties.
 Basic differences in outlook remain, as evidenced by the recent opposing statements by China and Russia on the Laos settlement, and by continued maneuvering for influence in North Viet Nam.
 But China appears to have made a minor concession that should help make the differences between the two giants less obvious to the casual observer.

Humphrey's Take In Dividends Told

Washington — (UPI)—Former Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey collected more than $2.3 million in dividends and the value of stock he held in a company with a lucrative government contract increased by $5.7 million in eight years, it was disclosed Wednesday.
 This was brought out at a hearing of the Senate stockpile investigating subcommittee.
 The span of time during which Humphrey's wealth increased by roughly $8.2 million included the years from 1953 to 1961 when he served as President Eisenhower's treasury secretary, according to today's testimony.
 Walter H. Henson, a supervisor in the General Accounting Office, said that most of the dividends and stock appreciation were attributable to a government contract signed four days before Humphrey took office.
