Marilyn Monroe Estate Said to Exceed ½ Million

New York – (UPI) – Marilyn Monroe left an estate in excess of $500,000, her will disclosed Saturday.

The blonde actress' estate was left to Lee Strasberg, her drama coach and longtime friend, her sister, her former secretary and two friends.

The will, filed for probate in Surrogates court, provided that all personal effects and clothing go to Strasberg to be distributed by him "in his sole discretion among her friends, colleagues and those to whom she was devoted."

Berniece Miracle, Miss Monroe's sister, receives $10,000 and $5,000 was bequeathed to her close friends, Norman and Hedda Rosten, for their daughter's education.

The will provided a $100,000 trust fund out of which $5,000 a year is to be provided for the maintenance and support of her mother, Mrs. Gladys Baker, who is confined in an institution.

Former Teacher

An annual payment of $2,500 goes for the support of her friend and former teacher, Mrs. Michael Chekhov.

The balance of the $100,000 trust fund was bequeathed to Dr. Marianne Kris to be used for the continuation of work among such psychiatric institutions or groups "as she shall select."

May Reis, Miss Monroe's former secretary and close friend, was left $40,000 or 25 per cent of the total remainder of the estate "whichever shall be the lesser" and an additional 25 per cent goes to Dr. Kris to be used for psychiatric purposes.

Cobra's Venom From Cage Nearly Blinds Workman

New York (UPI) – A warehouseman nearly lost the sight of his right eye Friday when a hostile cobra greeted the youth's staring face with a strong dose of venom.

The deadly poison landed in the right eye of Joseph Licata, 20, but serious damage to his sight apparently was averted by quick medical action and a motorcycle race.

The attack occurred at Idlewild Airport, a few moments after a shipment of poisonous snakes arrived here from South Africa.

The snakes – three cobras, a python and two mambas – were enroute to a zoological garden in Eldon, Mo.

Spotted Reptiles

Licata, an employe of Intra-Mar Transport Corp., spotted the reptiles which were caged in a wide enclosed crate. As he peered into the crate, the spitting cobra, apparently in no mood for visitors, unleashed its venom and Licata reeled back in pain.

The youth was rushed to the Far Rockaway section of Queens to be treated by an eye specialist, Dr. Milton Greenberg.

Greenberg called the Bronx Zoo for some antivenom serum and Motorcycle Patrolman John Russo raced across the city to deliver the serum to Greenberg's office.

Licata was treated and told to report back for examinations for the next two or three days. Greenberg said he appeared to be out of danger.

Canada May Balk At Voluntary Cut In Lumber Export

Ottawa – (UPI) – The United States will run into a stone wall in any attempt to have Canada place voluntary quotas on its lumber exports south of the border, informed sources revealed.

The sources said the government is "firmly opposed" to any proposal to cut back Canada's $250 million a year lumber sales to the United States and will fight any attempt by Washington toward that end.

The issue will be discussed here later this month by top government officials from both countries at a meeting arranged at the request of President Kennedy.

Discuss Situation

"We'll certainly sit down and discuss the situation with them," an informant said, "but import restrictions are out, particularly in our current economic situation.

"About the best the Americans can hope for is a sympathetically - worded communique."

Kennedy suggested Canada consider some form of voluntary restriction last month in announcing a six -point government program to aid the U.S. lumber industry.

The key point in the program — and one the Canadian experts maintain would relieve any disadvantage U.S. producers face in competition with this country — involved repeal of a law requiring U.S. mills to use expensive American carriers in moving their lumber from the west to east coast.

Portland – (UPI) – Plans for six-story, full block garages with parking space for 600 cars each were disclosed Thursday by Downtown Portland Inc.

Hatfield Names Eugene Lawyer To Withycombe Inquiry Board

Salem, Ore. (UPI) – Gov. Mark Hatfield said Saturday a special board of inquiry which is probing the disappearance of supplies from the National Guard's Camp Withycombe near Clackamas will have the services of Oregon National Guard Judge Advocate General Maj. Edward V. O'Reilly, a Eugene attorney, in its studies.

Hatfield's office said O'Reilly's aid would enable the board to "pursue its inquiry more vigorously."

Travis Cross, the governor's press aide, said "the matter definitely is not closed."

Dragging Feet

Atty. Gen. Robert Y. Thornton, who is opposing Hatfield's reelection bid in the November elections, has charged the governor with dragging his feet in the probe.

The investigation is into alleged disappearance of some $6,000 in supplies and equipment the state bought from the Navy when it closed the Tongue Point naval station in Astoria.

Thornton has charged the supplies really were worth about $60,000.

The Clackamas county grand jury investigated the matter but returned no indictments.

Hatfield's office said the only course for investigation now lies in the field of military justice.

Widow Awarded Department Bonus

Salem – (UPI) – The state employees suggestions award board has awarded $500 to the widow of an Oregon state highway department traffic line foreman.

The award came as a result of a suggestion from the late Dale W. Patterson for a revised method of painting highway shoulder lines.

It is estimated the new plan will save the state $6,000 a year.

Using the new system two men and one truck traveling at 12 miles an hour can do the work formerly done by five men and two trucks traveling at three miles an hour.

The check was presented to Mrs. Patterson Friday by State Highway Engineer Forrest Cooper.

Inquiry Continues In Housing Case

Portland – (UPI) – Inquiry continued Saturday into charges that apartment house owner Al A. Parent refused to rent a unit to Nathan L. Jones because he is a Negro.

Russell Rogers, who investigated Jones' complaint for the civil rights division of the state department of labor, was principal morning witness.

Rogers' report tended to support Jones' version of the complaint. Rogers was questioned extensively by Parent's attorney, Thomas K. Thorpe, who endeavored to show that Rogers' testimony was valueless.

State Economy Has New Wave of Progress During July, August

Salem – (UPI) – Oregon's economy hit a new wave of progress with projects announced during July and August totaling $550 million, Gov. Mark Hatfield said Saturday.

He also disclosed that several other major projects are pending and probably will be announced over the next few months.

Hatfield predicted "this surge of accelerated economic growth," would continue.

"This half billion dollar plus vote of confidence and its future will have a tremendous impact on the entire economy. It is especially significant that much of this investment represents outside capital," the governor said.

Create New City

Largest of the new projects is the $500 million Park City development which will create a new city west of Portland.

The Salishan Beach project on the south side of Siletz Bay will develop a $10 million resort community.

During the period, 16 new industrial plants or expansions involving investment of $42 million and creating more than 1,000 new jobs were announced or started.

Heading the list is the International Paper Co. $35 million building program at Gardiner which is to get under way next Wednesday.

Other Projects

Other major industrial projects include Electronic Specialty company's $2 million expansion in Portland, United States Plywood corporation's $1.5 million plant at Reedsport, new electronics plant for Oregon Technical Products at Grants Pass, a $500,000 distribution center of Anaconda Wire and Cable at Portland, new can manufacturing plant for Libby, McNeill and Libby, General Foods new multi-million dollar food processing complex at Woodburn and major expansions by several Oregon manufacturers.

Tips on Preventing Accidents Planned

"Don't Be A Statistic" will be the theme of the "Adventures in Medicine" program this afternoon over station KBES-TV at 3:30 o'clock in a panel discussion on automobile accidents.

Dr. Thomas Rutter, general surgeon, Sgt. Thomas Eaton, Oregon State police, and Dayle Waltermire, Medford Ambulance service, will point out some of the most common types of auto accidents, discuss their frequency and causes, and emphasize preventive measures that can be taken to reduce the number of injuries and fatalities that occur each year on the highways.

Since traffic in Oregon is up 22 per cent over last year, and more than 16 per cent of traffic fatalities in the state last month were non-residents it is hoped that a discussion concerning public and individual responsibility in reducing the number of serious accidents and fatalities over the Labor Day week end might prove helpful in improving the state's traffic record, according to Mrs. C. Ivan Burton, program moderator.

Certain legislative measures governing traffic violations will be explained, and ways in which "Mr. Average Citizen" can help to achieve effective legislation which might lower the annual death toll will be pointed out by the panel.
