Mobs Want End Of Algerian Pact

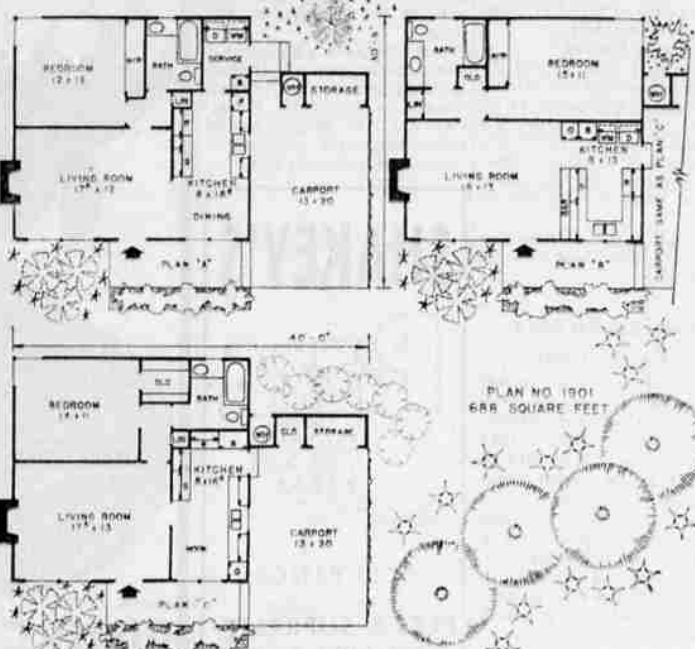

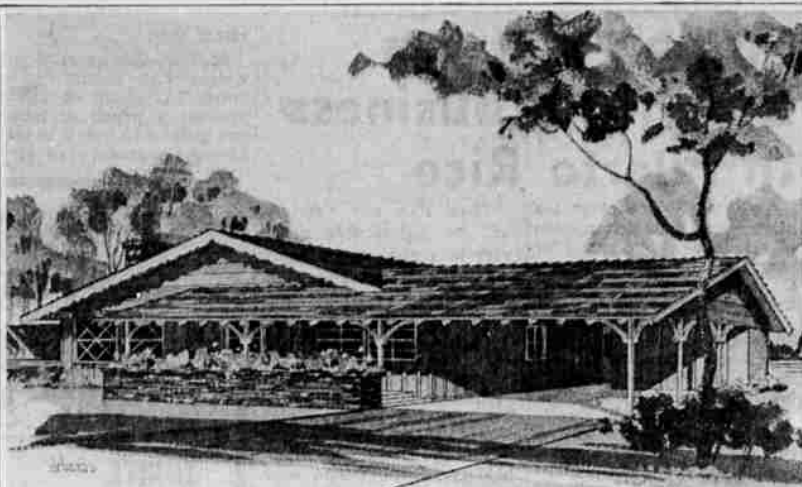

Algiers — (UPI) — A howling, screaming mob of more than 3,000 swept through Algiers and invaded the government headquarters building Thursday, demanding an end to the truce agreement with France which ended Algeria's seven-year-old civil war.

The single cry that rose from thousands of throats was "March 19 to the gallows." March 19, 1962 was the date of the signing of the accords at Evian, France, which ended French rule in Algeria and gave this country its independence.

The agreement also set up a provisional executive headed by Abderrahmane Fares and called for elections within a certain time. It was followed by weeks of struggle among warring political factions while the country's economy fell into chaos.

HEARING ORDERED

This Week's Ranch and Modern Home

By HIAWATHA ESTES
Here is a small home that has most of the comforts and conveniences of a much larger home plus a great amount of charm.

It is much more difficult to design a small home than a larger one. There are only so many square feet of space and no matter where this space is located or how the rooms are arranged, you always receive inquiries from prospective builders, asking why you didn't design an entirely different floor plan.

Hoping to meet the requirements of more builders, we have designed three different floor plans but all with the same exterior dimensions and square footage. The illustrated exterior was drawn of Plan "A", but exteriors of Plans "B" and "C" would be the same except for window arrangement and the design of the storage area at the rear of the carport.

Things in Common
All of the floor plans have several things in common. This includes an attractive carport at the side which gives the house more width which together with the roofed porch and used brick planter eliminates it from the "square box" design usually associated with most one-bedroom homes.

A series of storage closets plus a water heater closet has been located at the rear of each carport. A wall furnace has been specified to provide heating in all of the plans. Each layout features a pullman lavatory plus a wide fireplace.

In Plan "A", part of the wall between the kitchen and living room has been eliminated to form a dining space. This design has a separate service area.

An Open Design
Plan "B" is more of an open design as only cabinets separate the U-shaped kitchen from the living room. Part of these cabinets is a long eating bar. Laundry facilities have been placed next to the broom closet and oven at the rear of the kitchen. The bedroom in this home is of unusual size.

In Plan "C", the kitchen is completely separated from the living room. Space has been provided for a nook area. The bedroom in this design has a walk-in closet while the other two designs have wardrobe closets.

When ordering any of these plans, please specify Plan Number 1901 and either "A", "B" or "C". Each of these designs is considered a separate plan so please enclose $7.50 for the first set of each different plan that is ordered.

Complete working drawings for this plan can be purchased at a cost of $7.50 for the first set and $5 for each additional set when ordered at the same time. This plan will be available at these prices until December 12. Please allow two to three weeks for delivery. If the above home does not entirely meet with your approval, a new home plan book, ranch and modern homes, can be purchased for $2. Send all orders for either plans or books to: Hiawatha Estes, post office box 404-T, Northridge, Calif.

Advice on Burning Rubbish Is Given

Trash burning is a common cause of forest fires in Oregon, according to the Keep Oregon Green association.

The association has recommended that all home owners, and especially those in rural areas, use a regular incinerator to burn rubbish. If an oil drum or other metal container is used, it should have a wire mesh window screening spark arrester covering the top, the association said.

Ground surrounding the incinerator should be cleared for a distance of at least five feet in all directions. The incinerator should be located well away from overhanging tree branches, fences, or other burnable objects.

For larger fires, a burning permit should be secured. Burning should be done in early morning or late afternoon, and not on a windy day. Fires should be tended, and a water supply kept nearby, according to the association.
