

Entrants Expected To Find Rogue Valley Links Tougher In SO Golf Meet This Year

Participants in the Southern Oregon Golf championship at Rogue Valley Country club should find the Medford layout more difficult than in 1961.

That is the forecast of club professional Ron Caperna.

The 34th running of the annual Labor Day holiday classic formally opens on Wednesday, Aug. 29, and continues through Monday, Sept. 3. Wednesday is a qualifying day. Matches begin on Thursday.

Caperna predicts that the entrants will find the course tougher because of more lush turf on fairways, which will tend to eliminate rolls, because of ponds added on No. 6 and 7 fairways and because of a number of tree plantings.

Women's defending champion June Robinson, Albany, in practice has already had experience with the hazards. Caperna reported that Miss Robinson fired an even par 76, including a triple bogey on No. 7. She hit a tee shot out-of-bounds and also hit the ball into the pond.

Other Defenders

Other defenders in the tourney are Stewart Schroeder and Carl Schmidt, both of the home course. Schroeder took the 1961 men's toga and Schmidt the men's men's.

This year's field is to include 272 men, 112 women and 48 senior men, a total of 432 players.

Because of the huge entry, Rogue Valley players, except for seniors, are qualifying in advance. Those not aiming for championship spots have through Monday, Aug. 27, to play their 18-hole stints. Rogue Valley men's and women's divots seeking title fight berths will qualify on Tuesday. On Wednesday seniors and out-of-town men's and women's division entrants go on the course.

Caperna reported that local qualifying had been picking up over the past couple of days.

Tough Field

While some of the names of the past are missing, the tourney this year looks to have one of its toughest fields in history in the men's division.

There are some top flight visiting contenders and some stellar players representing the home club.

Don Krieger, Columbia-Edgewater, Portland, is in the Southern Oregon for the first time. He is one of the stellar golfers of his city. Krieger is twice a champion of the Oregon Golf association match play tourney and has won numerous titles in and around the metropolis. Back again will be Bob Atkinson, C-E, three times state amateur winner and thrice Southern Oregon titlist.

Then there are Matt Palacio, Sonoma, Calif., ex-California amateur titlist, and Bob Smith, ex-Portland State collegian, who is soldiering at Ft. Ord, Calif. Smith was low card in a spring pro-amateur here in March of 1961.

Shaw Entered

Other entrants include Tom Shaw, University of Oregon star, Joe B. Hill, Longview, Wash., DeFoss Kinkade, Cottage Grove marathon golfer; Ed Kovacovich, perennial contender from Eureka, Calif., and Bill McAllister, Salem, ex-Medford high.

Among the Rogue Valley men are such players as Eddie Simmons, six-times Southern Oregon winner and ex-state champ, Don Provost Jr., ex-SO champion, Dr. Robert Burk, Dr. D. C. Boals, Alan Holmes, Dr. Ralph Odell, Justin Smith Jr., and Jim Sheldon, the club champion.

The women's field will have three past titlists. Along with Miss Robinson they are Mrs. Helen Davies, Medford, seven times winner, and Mrs. Shirley Mitchell, Chico, Calif., a Rogue Valley member. Local contenders include Miss Pam Stacey, Mrs. William Miller and Mrs. Maxine Hammond. Listed as a challenger is Patricia Dwyer, Waverly of Portland.

All three senior winners of past Southern Oregon will be entered. They are Larry Butler, Medford, and Marvin Clark, Grants Pass, along with Schmidt.

RVCC, during the tourney, will have in service all 27 holes of what amounts to a three-in-one course. The new routing which includes the nine newest holes is the No. 1 links. No. 2 is the old back nine. Serving as a third layout, in use the last three days of the meet will be the old 18-hole route.

ENTERS SO TOURNEY—One of Oregon's standout linksmen will enter the Southern Oregon Golf tourney this week for the first time. He is Don Krieger, above, who won the Oregon Amateur title in 1956 and 1959 and was runner up this year. Krieger is from Portland and has won numerous tourneys in the metropolitan area. He will be among the favorites in the Southern Oregon which runs from Aug. 31 through Sept. 3 at Rogue Valley Country club here. (UPI)

Boals Ties RV Record

Dr. D. C. Boals tied the non-competitive course record for the new layout at Rogue Valley Country club yesterday when he stroked 36-32—58 in a practice round for the Southern Oregon Golf tourney.

He was even par on the front side and four under on the back. Boals chalked up four threes in a row with a par on No. 13 hole, birds on 14 and 15 and an eagle on No. 16.

Playing with Boals were Dr. Robert Buck, who shot a 68 last Wednesday, Dr. M. J. Wilson and Ivan Harrington. Buck shot 40-34—74 yesterday while Wilson was 40-33—73 and Harrington 39-37—75.

Archer Decisions Gonzalez

New York (UPI)—Rangy Joey Archer, young New York middleweight, used side-to-side tactics Saturday night to win an avenging, unanimous 10-round decision over muscular, bull-shouldered Jose Gonzalez of Puerto Rico in their rousing return fight at Madison Square Garden.

Gonzalez, the only man who ever bested Archer, could barely see out of his right eye at the finish, and Archer bled persistently from a cut on his left eyelid and brow suffered in the second round of their nationally televised bout.

Archer, weighing 158 1/2 pounds to Jose's 158 1/2, was bleeding so badly from his brow wound that Dr. Alexander Schiff examined it after the seventh and eighth rounds but permitted the fight to continue.

Archer, who was 23, gave a beautiful exhibition of combined boxing and punching as he registered his 31st victory in 32 professional bouts. His lone defeat was suffered at the mits of Gonzalez, on a split decision in the same ring last June 23.

There was no split in the verdict after last night's hell-for-leather fight. The three ring officials favored Archer over his 22-year-old opponent as follows:

Referee Arthur Mercante, 7-2-1; judge Frank Forbes, 6-3-1, and judge Tony Rossi, 7-3-1. The United Press favored Archer, 5-4-1, because of his stronger finish that earned him the 10th round on all three official scorecards.
