

16 Persons File For City Offices

Central Point — A total of sixteen candidates filed for the four city offices here before the deadline Tuesday.

Candidates include Les Bigam, Calvin Powers and Freeman Mason, (re-election), mayor; Bert Adams and Frank Armstrong, city councilman, Ward 1; Dale Bartley, Keith Williams and Earl Obenshain, councilman, Ward 2; Don Patterson (re-election) and Robert Walker, councilman, Ward 3; Lyle Pauli (re-election), Larry H. South, Donald Braund and Robert Walker, recorder; Edward Jones (re-election) and Juanita Williams, treasurer.

South, who is running for city recorder, is a local real estate salesman. The 53-year-old man is married and he and his wife have three children. He first came to the Rogue valley in 1939. Up until recently, he has been associated with the grocery business.

Having been a property owner and a businessman in Central Point since 1947, South says he "stands firmly behind all that will tend to make Central Point grow and prosper."

Candidates in Central Point have been slow to indicate their desire to run for office. It was only 10 days ago that not a single candidate had filed for the six positions up for election this November.

Council Reviews Street Problem In Rogue River

Rogue River — Members of the Rogue River city council discussed what to do with city streets here recently at their August meeting.

Present were council men George Magerle, Roy Strickland, Orvis Reeter and Arly Laws.

The council first considered which type of paving would be best for the graveled streets in an attempt to reduce the amount needed each year to resurface and patch them. It was announced that the street committee would hold a special meeting next month to discuss such paving after bids had been received.

Two porches at the city hall were recently completed — one joins the city hall and jail and the front porch was finished recently by Slim Burnett of Rogue River.

Dan Perkey told the council that at least 100 feet of drainage tile was needed from the former Glen Nourse property on Depot st. south along the Southern Pacific tracks.

It was noted also that a concrete lid has been made

GOOD FISHING—For fishing, swimming, recreation area is located near the south boating and picnicking, many persons have found that Castle lake is an ideal spot. The lake used by the University of California to conduct experiments on the growth of fish, their longevity and trout production, as well as on the different plants in the water that the fish feed on and the chemical composition of the water.

'Typical Mountain Lake' in California's Castle Crags Park

By DORIS ROBINSON

Yreka — If you enjoy fishing in a typical mountain lake, you will enjoy Castle lake.

This lake is tucked away in rugged country near the south fork of the Sacramento river at an elevation of 5,200 feet and within the Castle Crags State park. You leave Highway 99 at Mt. Shasta and travel west along sparkling streams to reach the lake.

The lake covers 46 acres and the deepest point measured by skin divers is 140 feet.

In the winter, ice three to four feet thick forms on the lake, while 15 to 16 feet of snow falls. In the summer, hundreds of campers and fishermen visit the lake. Rainbow and eastern brook trout are caught there. The Mt. Shasta fish hatchery just a few miles away plants rainbow trout fingerlings each year.

This is an experimental lake used by the University of California to conduct experiments on the growth of fish, their longevity and trout production, as well as on the different plants in the water that the fish feed on and the chemical composition of the water.

In 1946, the first phase of this investigation was started and there were four species of trout and two species of minnows present. In 1946, it was chemically treated and all fish removed. Then in 1947, eastern brook trout were planted to compare the yield of a pure eastern brook trout fishery with that of a fishery in which rainbow, brown, lake and brook trout occurred together.

Census Taken

At Castle lake there is a fish and game census taker who checks each fisherman's catch. He weighs and measures the fish and notes the species. He asks the fishermen what kinds of bait or lures he used and how he caught them. The average length is 7.7 inches and they weigh between 15 and 20 ounces.

The lake now is reached by an improved road and many more people are discovering it to be a very pleasant place to picnic, swim and boat, as well as to fish.

Hornbrook School Opens Next Tuesday; Only Four Teachers

Hornbrook — Students at Hornbrook elementary school will return to school Tuesday, Sept. 4, according to Principal Dean Price.

It is expected that the average daily attendance will be lower this year than before since the Iron Gate dam and power house have been completed and several families have moved away.

As a result the teaching staff has dropped from five to four — Price, seventh and eighth grades and principal; Willis Jones, fifth and sixth grades; Mrs. Jeanne Cunningham, third and fourth; and Mrs. Alice Rutledge, first and second grades.

Siskiyou County Parties Fight Measure

Yreka — The Siskiyou County Central committees of both political parties have adopted jointly a resolution opposing Proposition 23, the ballot measure to give Los Angeles county six seats in the California senate.

Chairman of the Republican group, Ross Bigler, said the resolution unconditionally opposing the re-apportionment measure charged it would "destroy California's existing method of equitable legislative apportionment based on the federal system with its mechanism of protective checks and balances."

"The present method of apportionment of the state senate districts is fair, just and equitable for all the citizens of California and particularly for the citizens of Siskiyou county," Bigler said.

"There is no apparent justification for a change in the method of apportionment of the state senate districts. Proposition 23 would deprive the citizens of Siskiyou county and all other lesser populated counties of adequate representation in the legislature."

Lester Newton, Democratic chairman, joined Bigler in opposing the proposition.

"Under our present system, this state has achieved a measure of greatness unmatched by any of our sister states," Newton said. "The Siskiyou Democratic central committee has unconditionally opposed Proposition 23 and urges all voters to cast a 'no' ballot against this Los Angeles scheme to deprive us of our fair representation in the California legislature."
