

Stocks Slip After High Start; Steel, Motors Drop Back

New York — Stocks began to falter today after getting off to a higher start. Steels and motors slipped back to about Thursday's closing level along with international oils. Rails and utilities managed slight gains in their indexes, and chemicals firmed with Dow up 1 1/2.

Electronics and other glamour issues were quick to react from their highs with only Beckman, Corning Glass and Crown Cork managing to hold gains of a point.

Financial Federation and Virginia-Carolina Chemical preferred were the only issues on the board to gain 2 points.

Thornton Wants To Attract New Firms

Salem — (UPI) — Atty Gen. Robert Y. Thornton, Democratic candidate for governor, said Thursday he believes in an expanded program for attracting new industries without giving away large chunks of public money or property.

He said, "More attention should be paid toward preserving and perpetuating our wonderful Oregon way of living and our priceless heritage of unmatched scenic beauty and clean beaches, more than the present governor showed in his attempted offshore oil deal.

"I also believe we have an obligation to our own tax-paying industry and agriculture to spend as much in a vigorous program for expanding markets for Oregon products as we now spend to lure industry. To accomplish this I propose to establish an export promotion division which we need but do not have."

Indian Tribes Ask To Build Two Dams

Washington — (UPI) — Sen. Lee Metcalf (D-Mont.) Thursday dashed cold water on the Montana Power Company's hopes for building two dams on the Flathead Indian Reservation.

Metcalf, after the conclusion of two days of hearings on Columbia Basin projects, said the expressed desire of the Confederated Salish and Kootenai Tribes to build the dams themselves had been "a real blockbuster."

The Indians, he said, undoubtedly would have priority over the private utility in their application to the Federal Power commission to build the dams.

Metcalf conducted the public works subcommittee hearings at which officials of the Montana Power Company opposed federal construction of the proposed $247 million Knowles dam. The dam would flood the two Buffalo Rapids sites on the reservation.

"The one thing that the hearing did bring out is that the Montana Power Company proposal is no longer an alternative to be seriously considered," Metcalf said.

Sisters Survive Plane Crash; Parents Die

Big Bear, Calif. — (UPI) — Mommy and Daddy were dead. Laurie had a hurt knee and couldn't walk.

This was the reason a 6-year-old girl gave for staying three days in rugged mountain terrain without food or water beside the plane that carried her parents to their deaths.

And it is probably the reason Julie Clark and her 8-year-old sister, Laurie, are alive today.

A helicopter carrying their grandfather sighted the wreckage from the air. Travelodge Corp. Vice President William R. Clark and his wife, Jacqueline, both 32, of La Mesa, Calif., were killed instantly in the plane crash Monday.

When Scott King, president of Travelodge, landed in the helicopter near his granddaughters Thursday, Julie stumbled toward him pleading: "May I have some water, please?"

Undergoes Operation
While Julie told the harrowing tale of their three days without food or water from her San Bernardino, Calif., hospital bed, her sister was in another part of the hospital undergoing a three-hour operation to set a compound fracture of her left thigh.

"The plane went down real fast," Julie said. "Mommy and Daddy didn't have a chance to say a thing."

"When the plane hit, Daddy and Laurie and me was thrown out. Mommy stayed in the plane."

She said she helped her sister sit up against a log where she lay with a portion of bone protruding from her thigh.

Looks For Water
"Laurie said I should go to the plane and try and find some water," Julie continued. "I looked all over because we always carried water, but I couldn't find any. I couldn't find any food either."

"Then Laurie told me to look for something for us to keep warm with. I went back to the plane and found a suitcase. Mommy and Daddy's clothes were in it. We put them on and huddled together to keep warm. We didn't get cold."

"Later Laurie said I should go up over the hill to get help. I got halfway up and got scared so I ran back. I didn't get scared again, though."

One of the first doctors to arrive at the scene said he was extremely impressed that the younger child did not leave.

"She could easily have wandered off, but she didn't," Dr. Thomas R. Hall said. "She stayed with her wounded sister. They just fought the problem themselves with Mommy and Daddy dead."

See Search Planes
The little girls saw search planes overhead.

"But no one seemed to know we were down there," Julie said. "When the helicopters came, Laurie said they would find us because they could land anywhere."

Julie wasn't asked if her parents were dead. But she knows.

"They didn't move, so I knew they were dead," she had said earlier when she was found.

Laurie, despite her injuries, was conscious and uncomplaining on the trip by helicopter to safety.

Residents in the area of the plane crash said temperatures in the mountainous area had dropped into the 30s since
