Kennedy Wins Big Victory In Trade Act

Washington—(UPI)—The Senate Finance Committee handed President Kennedy a substantial victory today when it defeated a series of "protectionist" amendments to the administration's trade expansion act.

The actions, clearly demonstrating that administration forces were in control, came during three hours of closed hearings on the bill. It stands high on Kennedy's list of must legislation to be completed before Congress adjourns.

Chairman Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) later told reporters he hoped to finish work on the bill by Friday. It already has cleared the House.

The committee, by a 9-7 vote, first defeated a move to restore to the bill the existing per cent mechanism. It then killed, 10-6, an amendment limiting extension of the trade act to three years, instead of five years.

The House voted, in effect, to abolish the per cent mechanism. Under this procedure, the Tariff Commission fixes a point below which the President should not cut tariffs of any products in order to protect domestic industries.

Cuba Declaration Resolutions Held Until Thursday

Swift Action Sends Measure To House

Washington—(UPI)—The Senate today approved President Kennedy's request for standby authority to call up 150,000 military reserves between now and next Feb. 28. The vote was unanimous, 78-0.

Moving with unusual speed, it sent the bill to the House after postponing for one week action on a series of proposals calling on the President to fight if necessary to keep communism from spreading out of Cuba.

Lasted Two Hours

Senate consideration of the reserves bill — which lasted a scant two hours — was interrupted only briefly while the leadership worked out an agreement which sent all the Cuba declaration resolutions to committee until next Thursday noon.

Senate Democratic leaders had indicated they would join in supporting some declaration of intent to take action on Cuba if necessary. But they resisted GOP efforts to tack it onto the reserves measure.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield told reporters a resolution authorizing the President to use force as he sees fit is "all right." He added, however, that "we've got to be very careful in the use of language."

To Have Statement

Democratic Whip Hubert H. Humphrey told newsmen that Kennedy would have a statement on the Republican Cuban proposal at his 2 p.m. (PST) news conference. The Minnesota Democrat said there would be no "ambiguity" about the statement.

Humphrey cautioned Republicans against trying to make political campaign use of the Cuban issue.

"If anyone wants to talk about Cuba," he said, "I'd remind them that Cuba slipped into the hands of Castro and the Communists in 1958. It's not a good party issue for them."

Other developments:

A Canadian spokesman said recent Soviet aid to Cuba included at least three transatlantic cargo flights that passed through Gander, Newfoundland. In accordance with safety regulations, a Canadian pilot-observer boarded each of the planes for the flight to Cuba.

Must Judge Situation

Secretary of State Dean Rusk was reported to have told congressmen Wednesday that the United States would not tolerate Cuba becoming an offensive military base and would act if it did. Some lawmakers thought he meant U.S. military action, but Rusk said to have added that the situation had to be judged on the circumstances at the time.

In a broadcast beamed around the world and translated into 37 languages, the Voice of America said Russia's warning against U.S. action in Cuba reflected "a lust for power and disregard for truth." The broadcast said the United States threatened no nation nor "is it to be intimidated by threats."

Russian Armored Cars Given Friday Deadline

Berlin—(UPI)—The Russians sent armored troop carriers into West Berlin again today but they had only one more day to do so without trouble.

The Western Allies told the Russian commander in Germany Wednesday the armored vehicles would not be allowed in after Friday.

Three armored carriers crossed the East-West Berlin border today. They were escorted by British military police jeeps.

When the armored cars arrived at the Russian War Memorial a British colonel read a statement to the convoy commander.

The statement was believed to be a repetition of the Western Allied note.

Western officials here thought the Russians would bow to the Western demand to return to buses to carry their guard to the Russian War Memorial in West Berlin.

The Russians began to use armored vehicles Aug. 21 after their buses carrying guards were stoned for three straight days by angry West Berliners protesting the fatal shooting of a refugee on the border.

FACTORY LEVELLED — This is a general view of a fire and explosion which rocked a two-story paint factory at San Leandro, Calif., Wednesday. Fire units from nearby Oakland and Hayward were sent to battle the blaze which injured at least a dozen persons. Shock waves from the explosion blew out windows in nearby homes. (UPI)

Nine Reservists Die in Crash of Patrol Bomber

Sea? Beach, Calif.—(UPI)—Nine Navy reservists from Georgia were killed Wednesday night when their twin-engine P2V Neptune patrol bomber crashed and burned after skimming over the rooftops of homes in heavily populated residential areas.

Names of the dead pilot and his crew of eight were withheld by the Navy pending notification of the next of kin.

The aircraft, designed for antisubmarine warfare, crashed in an open field at the Naval Ammunition and Net Depot shortly after taking off from nearby Los Alamitos Naval Air Station.

Second Crash

It was the second time in four years a Los Alamitos-based Neptune had crashed in southern California. A P2V collided with a military air transport C118 over Norwalk Feb. 8, 1958, killing 48 persons.

In each case, the Neptunes were manned by reservists on training flights.

Wednesday night's flaming crash occurred moments after the airplane had skimmed less than 200 feet above homes with one of its engines on fire.

Witnesses said the plane trailed a ribbon of flame as it roared over rooftops of Rossmore Leisure World, a housing project for elderly citizens.

Some debris from the burning aircraft rained down on the project.

Fortunately none of the depot's explosives was touched off, although the plane plummeted to earth in an area where explosives were stored in concrete bunkers.

Three Bus Routes Abandoned by Firm

No opposition to the request for abandonment of three routes of the Pacific Trailways bus lines in the Crater Lake, Diamond Lake and Medford areas was presented this morning at a public utilities commissioner hearing in Medford.

Examiner was Malcolm L. Jones, Salem.

It was stated that the bus lines discontinued service in this area about two years ago following the sale of the Crater Lake lodge which started its own bus service. The hearing today was a formality, it was explained.

TAX COLLECTIONS UP

Salem—(UPI)—The Oregon Tax commission said today it collected $20.7 million in the first two months of the new fiscal year. This is a 9.3 percent gain over the same period of the previous fiscal year.

Sky Lakes Region Suggested by Groups As Wilderness Area

Eugene — A proposal was submitted Wednesday to the U. S. forest service that a 28-mile long strip of high Cascade lake country extending south from Crater Lake National park to Mt. McLoughlin be made a new wilderness area.

The proposal was made jointly by the Federation of Western Outdoor Clubs and the Oregon Wildlife Federation.

The Federation of Western Outdoor Clubs is a federation of 38 hiking and mountaineering clubs in six western states, and the Oregon Wildlife Federation is composed of sportsmen's clubs in 33 Oregon communities.

The clubs proposed that the Sky Lakes Limited area, south of Crater Lake park, be reclassified as the Sky Lakes Wilderness area. The limited area classification is a temporary one which holds areas of high scenic value in status quo pending complete study. The forest service is now studying the Sky Lakes area.

Propose Enlargement

The two federations, acting through their representative, J. Michael McCloskey of Eugene, proposed that the Sky Lakes area be enlarged from 82,000 acres to 103,640 acres, with the addition of Mt. McLoughlin accounting for the increase. McCloskey said he felt that it was desirable to add Mt. McLoughlin to a wilderness area to prevent further encroachment of logging up the lower slopes of the mountain.

The proposal to preserve the strip of high plateau country speckled with small lakes (28 miles long and averaging six miles in width) as a wilderness area was submitted in the form of an 11 page report, which included a map. The report was sent to both the regional office of the forest service in Portland and to the Rogue River and Winema National forests, which manage the area.

The report reviewed problems relating to the management of the area and predicted that average by recreationists would be the principal problem in managing the area. The report said there are little timber values in the area.

The report determined a number of steps would be necessary to prevent overuse. To preserve delicate lakeside camping sites from overuse, it suggested the construction of primitive sanitation facilities, fireplaces, and other equipment. The report explained that the provision of such facilities was compatible with forest service regulations for wilderness areas.

"The Sky Lakes area is already readily accessible to the public, and wilderness classification would prevent usage from increasing to destructive levels," the report concluded.

Access is now provided by an extensive interior trail network taking off from 21 well distributed roadheads which, the report said, average less than a mile's distance from the boundaries of the proposed wilderness area.

Most principal lake groupings are now not more than three miles from a roadhead. Among the best known lakes in these groupings are Cliff Lake, Margaret lake, the Heavenly Twins, Island lake, and Blue lake. The proposed wilderness area would include most of the gorge of the Middle Fork of the Rogue river.

The two groups, representing more than 35,000 affiliated members, have invited other groups and individuals to join them in sponsoring this proposal. Additional information can be secured from J. Michael McCloskey, 309 Tiffany building, Eugene.

Ordinance Copies Are Being Mailed

Copies of the zoning ordinance for the Southwest Phoenix area are being mailed this week by the Jackson county planning office.

Each resident within the area should receive a copy of the ordinance and a letter from County Judge Earl M. Miller by this week end, according to Planning Technician Jack Eaton. Residents in the zoned area who do not receive a copy should contact the planning office in the courthouse.

In the letter, Judge Miller encouraged all residents to attend a public hearing scheduled at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 18, in the courthouse auditorium. Purpose of the hearing will be to consider the ordinance, and whether it will be permanent.

Persons having questions about the meeting should contact Judge Miller, questions about the ordinance should be directed to the planning staff. Eaton pointed out.

County Planners Approve Area for Interim Zoning

An area covering approximately 28 square miles in the Anderson and Wagner Creek and Yank Gulch rd. area was approved for interim zoning last night by the Jackson county planning commission.

The commission will recommend to the county court that the area be interim zoned with the property uses being held at status quo until an interim zoning ordinance can be prepared.

The recommendation was made following the discussion of a petition submitted by residents of the area to the county court last month. The petition asked that the area be interim zoned for residential and agricultural purposes.

Yard Operator To Review Ordinance

Following a meeting with the Jackson county court Wednesday, David L. Marcy, operator of the Talent Auto Wrecking Yard agreed to meet with the planning commission staff to review the South Talent interim zoning ordinance.

The Talent Auto Wrecking Yard has been the center of a controversy for several months, regarding the placement of some of the wrecked cars.

Last week a new six foot painted board fence was constructed to replace one that was knocked down recently.

County Judge Earl M. Miller said members of the court will confer with officials of the motor vehicle department seeking to obtain a clarification of the state statute as to the height for car bodies behind the fence and the condition of cars that may be placed outside the fence.

Following Marcy's meeting with the planning staff and Miller talking with the motor vehicle department officials the Talent operator will again meet with the court.

Unander Attacks Administration's 'Failure' in Cuba

GOP Senatorial Candidate Sig Unander today attacked what he called the administration's "failure to support" the Bay of Pigs invasion attempt in Cuba last April.

Unander said the U.S. should have done "whatever was necessary" to insure the success of the attempt. At a minimum, he said, air support should have been provided.

Speaking to a news conference here this morning, the candidate urged Congress and the administration to take a strong stand on the Cuban issue.

"The chips are down," he said. "This is a turning point for the United States. We can't waver and cringe before Soviet power."

Jury Chosen in Thompson Trial

Martinez, Calif.—(UPI)—A jury was selected Wednesday for the superior court trial of Donald Martin Thompson, 40, formerly of Klamath Falls, Ore., charged with the armed robbery of three grocery stores in Contra Costa county.

Thompson, who said he had been living in Walnut Creek, Calif., since November, 1959, is accused of robbing a San Pablo store in November 1959, an El Cerrito market in January 1959 and a Concord store in October 1959. Deputy Dist. Atty. Hammond Holt said Thompson had taken a total of $4,495 in the robberies.

The defendant's attorney, James Ring, said Thompson had lived in Klamath Falls for a part of 1959. While there, Thompson was tried and acquitted on an armed robbery charge, Ring stated.

Thompson was found innocent in Jackson county earlier this year of the 1959 Labor Day week end holdup of the Safeway store in the Medford Shopping Center. He had been sentenced to life imprisonment following a trial in 1959 on the Medford incident, but successfully appealed his case to the state supreme court.
