

Benefit Club Plans Dance

Security Benefit club will sponsor a dance Friday, September 21, at the Knights of Pythias hall. The dance will take place from 8 p.m. until midnight, and is open to the public.

At the meeting Wednesday Mrs. Laura Weber was welcomed home from her vacation trip. It was also recorded that 33 new memberships had been turned in.

The club meets each Wednesday from 11 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Extension Unit Names Speaker

Central Point - Central Point Home Extension unit will meet Wednesday, September 19, at the home of Mrs. Donald E. Lacy, of 2092 Scenic avenue, at 10:30 a.m.

Mrs. L. H. Wertz will speak on leadership. Following the business meeting a luncheon will be served by the officers of the club, according to Mrs. Danny M. Ecker, publicity chairman, of the unit.

Members requiring a baby sitter service are asked to leave the children with Mrs. Roger Carpenter, of 3210 North Pacific highway, or may call 772-8980, for arrangements.

Calendar

Calendar notices and news for the society section of The Mail Tribune must be submitted in writing and deadline for the Sunday edition is 1 p.m. Friday. Deadline for the weekly calendar is 9 a.m. of the day of publication and for week day news is 5 p.m. the day before publication.

Monday:

6:30 p.m. - Dinner, Ruth Esther guild, First Methodist church, at the church.

8 p.m. - Dance, Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary, theatre building, White City.

8 p.m. - Olive Rebekah lodge, Pythian building.

8 p.m. - St. Catherine's guild, St. Mark's Episcopal church, home of Mrs. Louis Thurman, 417 Ardmore avenue.

Tuesday:

9:30 a.m. - Woman's Society of Christian service, First Methodist church, Circle 6, home of Mrs. Don Heady, 1940 Roberts road; Circle 7, home of Mrs. Fred Darby, 602 North Modoc avenue; Circle 8, home of Mrs. Ina Smith, Rogue Valley Manor; Circle 9, home of Mrs. Everett Cuffell, 592 Oregon Terrace; and Circle 10, home of Dr. Edith Robb, Rogue Valley Manor.

12:30 p.m. - Rogue River Garden club, home of Mrs. Dan Callahan, East Evans Creek road, Rogue River.

12:30 p.m. - Woman's Society of Christian service, First Methodist church, Circle 1, home of Mrs. Jack Creager, 37 Glen Oak court, and Circle 5, home of Mrs. Ruth Ann Pierce, 121 Willamette street.

1 p.m. - Sun's Valley Home Extension unit, home of Mrs. Herman Priem.

1 p.m. - Woman's Society of Christian service, First Methodist church, Circle 2, church library; Circle 3, home of Mrs. Iva Harper, 8 Laurel street; and Circle 4, home of Mrs. Lee Van Ausdall, 338 Fairmount street.

Keep broccoli in the refrigerator in crisper or in plastic bags to hold down moisture loss.

Social Events ♦ Women's News

Survey Being Conducted Among Inactive Nurses

In an effort to increase the nurse supply in Oregon a survey is now being conducted locally and in other areas of the state to learn how many inactive professional nurses could return to part or full time work. Questionnaires about their availability have been mailed to 1,200 nurses who are currently registered but who are not actively practicing nursing.

The Oregon survey, a part of a nationwide program, is being directed by the division of nursing of the U. S. public health service, department of health, education and welfare, and the Oregon state board of nursing as a means of helping meet the growing shortage of nurses in active practice.

In a letter to the inactive registered nurses, Miss Donna M. Monkman, executive secretary of the Oregon board, and Miss Margaret C. Arnstein, chief, division of nursing, USPHS, point out the need for such information in planning to meet the increasing demands for professional nurses in all types of community health services.

Oregon is one of the six states now being surveyed. The other states are South Dakota, New Mexico, Wisconsin, Mississippi and Rhode Island.

When the survey was carried out in 1961 in several other states, from 73 to 88 per cent of the registered inactive nurses reported their availability status and their reasons for not being actively engaged in nursing.

The Oregon survey, a part of a nationwide program, is being directed by the division of nursing of the U. S. public health service, department of health, education and welfare, and the Oregon state board of nursing as a means of helping meet the growing shortage of nurses in active practice.

In a letter to the inactive registered nurses, Miss Donna M. Monkman, executive secretary of the Oregon board, and Miss Margaret C. Arnstein, chief, division of nursing, USPHS, point out the need for such information in planning to meet the increasing demands for professional nurses in all types of community health services.

Oregon is one of the six states now being surveyed. The other states are South Dakota, New Mexico, Wisconsin, Mississippi and Rhode Island.

When the survey was carried out in 1961 in several other states, from 73 to 88 per cent of the registered inactive nurses reported their availability status and their reasons for not being actively engaged in nursing.

The Oregon survey, a part of a nationwide program, is being directed by the division of nursing of the U. S. public health service, department of health, education and welfare, and the Oregon state board of nursing as a means of helping meet the growing shortage of nurses in active practice.

In a letter to the inactive registered nurses, Miss Donna M. Monkman, executive secretary of the Oregon board, and Miss Margaret C. Arnstein, chief, division of nursing, USPHS, point out the need for such information in planning to meet the increasing demands for professional nurses in all types of community health services.

Oregon is one of the six states now being surveyed. The other states are South Dakota, New Mexico, Wisconsin, Mississippi and Rhode Island.

When the survey was carried out in 1961 in several other states, from 73 to 88 per cent of the registered inactive nurses reported their availability status and their reasons for not being actively engaged in nursing.

The Oregon survey, a part of a nationwide program, is being directed by the division of nursing of the U. S. public health service, department of health, education and welfare, and the Oregon state board of nursing as a means of helping meet the growing shortage of nurses in active practice.

In a letter to the inactive registered nurses, Miss Donna M. Monkman, executive secretary of the Oregon board, and Miss Margaret C. Arnstein, chief, division of nursing, USPHS, point out the need for such information in planning to meet the increasing demands for professional nurses in all types of community health services.

Oregon is one of the six states now being surveyed. The other states are South Dakota, New Mexico, Wisconsin, Mississippi and Rhode Island.

When the survey was carried out in 1961 in several other states, from 73 to 88 per cent of the registered inactive nurses reported their availability status and their reasons for not being actively engaged in nursing.

The Oregon survey, a part of a nationwide program, is being directed by the division of nursing of the U. S. public health service, department of health, education and welfare, and the Oregon state board of nursing as a means of helping meet the growing shortage of nurses in active practice.

In a letter to the inactive registered nurses, Miss Donna M. Monkman, executive secretary of the Oregon board, and Miss Margaret C. Arnstein, chief, division of nursing, USPHS, point out the need for such information in planning to meet the increasing demands for professional nurses in all types of community health services.

Oregon is one of the six states now being surveyed. The other states are South Dakota, New Mexico, Wisconsin, Mississippi and Rhode Island.

When the survey was carried out in 1961 in several other states, from 73 to 88 per cent of the registered inactive nurses reported their availability status and their reasons for not being actively engaged in nursing.

The Oregon survey, a part of a nationwide program, is being directed by the division of nursing of the U. S. public health service, department of health, education and welfare, and the Oregon state board of nursing as a means of helping meet the growing shortage of nurses in active practice.

Australian Ambassador to the United States, Sir Howard Beale, escorts Mrs. John F. Kennedy to dinner at the Breakers in Newport, R.I., September 14. The dinner was held for crews of boats competing in the America's Cup races September 15. (UPI)

Three R's Now Four, Russian

New York - (UPI) - In many U. S. elementary schools, the traditional three R's have been supplemented by a fourth—Russian.

Russian courses rate fourth in the language study lineup in elementary schools in a 1960 survey made by the Modern Language Association of America, of foreign language teaching in grade schools.

A previous survey, in 1954, didn't turn up a single grade school teaching Russian, although John Harmon, a spokesman for MLA, said the 1954 study was not quite so "exhaustive" as the '60 one.

The percentage of elementary schools teaching Russian still is small, compared with the number offering Spanish, French and German—numbers one, two and three in the curriculum.

MLA said Spanish was being taught in 50 states, at the time of the last survey, with 485,825 elementary pupils enrolled.

French was taught in 45 states, with 184,651 pupils; German, in 31 states, with 17,535 pupils; Russian in 19 states, with 1,384 pupils; Italian, in fifth place, in seven states with 1,188 pupils, and Latin sixth in 12 states with 844 pupils.

The increase in the study of Russian at the grade level—usually taught in seventh and eighth grades, goes along with an increase in foreign language study in general—not only from kindergarten through the eighth grades but at all levels of formal education, said Donald A. Walsh, director of MLA's foreign language research center in New York.

"Life in the United States" was chosen by Mrs. Ruth Dews for her selected subject. In three separate essays the American scene is described to illustrate unrecognized joys of the simple life. Nostalgic memories are stirred by the sound of the whistle of the evening train or garden fragrances. She illustrated her talk with appropriate pictures of Ashland's old steam engine, of snow-capped Grizzly peak and of her rose garden in full bloom.

"Life in the United States" was chosen by Mrs. Ruth Dews for her selected subject. In three separate essays the American scene is described to illustrate unrecognized joys of the simple life. Nostalgic memories are stirred by the sound of the whistle of the evening train or garden fragrances. She illustrated her talk with appropriate pictures of Ashland's old steam engine, of snow-capped Grizzly peak and of her rose garden in full bloom.

"Life in the United States" was chosen by Mrs. Ruth Dews for her selected subject. In three separate essays the American scene is described to illustrate unrecognized joys of the simple life. Nostalgic memories are stirred by the sound of the whistle of the evening train or garden fragrances. She illustrated her talk with appropriate pictures of Ashland's old steam engine, of snow-capped Grizzly peak and of her rose garden in full bloom.

"Life in the United States" was chosen by Mrs. Ruth Dews for her selected subject. In three separate essays the American scene is described to illustrate unrecognized joys of the simple life. Nostalgic memories are stirred by the sound of the whistle of the evening train or garden fragrances. She illustrated her talk with appropriate pictures of Ashland's old steam engine, of snow-capped Grizzly peak and of her rose garden in full bloom.

"Life in the United States" was chosen by Mrs. Ruth Dews for her selected subject. In three separate essays the American scene is described to illustrate unrecognized joys of the simple life. Nostalgic memories are stirred by the sound of the whistle of the evening train or garden fragrances. She illustrated her talk with appropriate pictures of Ashland's old steam engine, of snow-capped Grizzly peak and of her rose garden in full bloom.

"Life in the United States" was chosen by Mrs. Ruth Dews for her selected subject. In three separate essays the American scene is described to illustrate unrecognized joys of the simple life. Nostalgic memories are stirred by the sound of the whistle of the evening train or garden fragrances. She illustrated her talk with appropriate pictures of Ashland's old steam engine, of snow-capped Grizzly peak and of her rose garden in full bloom.

"Life in the United States" was chosen by Mrs. Ruth Dews for her selected subject. In three separate essays the American scene is described to illustrate unrecognized joys of the simple life. Nostalgic memories are stirred by the sound of the whistle of the evening train or garden fragrances. She illustrated her talk with appropriate pictures of Ashland's old steam engine, of snow-capped Grizzly peak and of her rose garden in full bloom.

"Life in the United States" was chosen by Mrs. Ruth Dews for her selected subject. In three separate essays the American scene is described to illustrate unrecognized joys of the simple life. Nostalgic memories are stirred by the sound of the whistle of the evening train or garden fragrances. She illustrated her talk with appropriate pictures of Ashland's old steam engine, of snow-capped Grizzly peak and of her rose garden in full bloom.

"Life in the United States" was chosen by Mrs. Ruth Dews for her selected subject. In three separate essays the American scene is described to illustrate unrecognized joys of the simple life. Nostalgic memories are stirred by the sound of the whistle of the evening train or garden fragrances. She illustrated her talk with appropriate pictures of Ashland's old steam engine, of snow-capped Grizzly peak and of her rose garden in full bloom.

WORK SMARTER — NOT HARDER

By BERNICE STRAWN

Extension Home Management Specialist Oregon State University

Homemaking like everything else, has been invaded by science—to your benefit, of course. But the scores of household chemicals on the cleaning shelf bring many questions to our Extension Service offices. We often call on OSU chemists to provide the answers.

"Is there danger in mixing liquid chlorine bleach and household ammonia?" Chemists say no, if handled carefully. By this, they mean to dilute the bleach as it should be in washing clothes. They do caution, however, to avoid mixing bleach or other household cleaners as a regular practice. Chlorine fumes which might be given off in small amounts, are so irritating to your nose and throat that you'll be needing your fresh air before you've breathed enough to be harmful. You'll not need to worry if you use reasonable care. Keep chemicals away from children and follow directions on the bottles.

When is the best time to add bleach to the washer? If you use liquid chlorine bleach, the answer is about three minutes after the clothes have started agitating in the detergent suds.

Recent research shows that this timing gives the whitest clothes. The reason is this: The detergent contains a brightener which needs a few minutes to fix itself to the fabric. The bleach (diluted, of course) is added later, you get full benefit of the brightener and of the whitening power of the bleach.

"Our refrigerator has a bad odor. No amount of washing with soda water seems to do any good. What can be done?" Here again, chemists came to the rescue.

Get activated charcoal at the drug store. You won't need much—about three ounces is plenty. This is a fine powder which you can spread in a thin layer on a sheet of aluminum foil or a shallow pan on the refrigerator shelf. The charcoal will "soak up" the odor. Foods can remain on the refrigerator shelf with the charcoal.

After six or eight hours, put the pan of charcoal in a moderate oven to drive off the odor and "reactivate" it. (Don't worry, odor will stay in your oven.) Put charcoal back in the refrigerator again until all odor has disappeared. Save the charcoal—you can use it over and over again.

Smart Homemakers Tell Us: Save time and temper when you vacuum throw rugs with this quick trick. Run the vacuum cleaner diagonally over small rugs. This will keep the edges from being drawn into the nozzle and the rug will stay flat on the floor.

Throw rugs that skid often cause accidents which could lay you up for days or even weeks.

If your rugs are laid over smooth flooring, use double-sided masking tape as a temporary but effective measure. Smooth the tape along the underside of the rug edges, then lay the rug with the tape in contact with the floor. This works beautifully. And don't worry if some adhesive sticks to the floor. It will come off with usual cleaning methods.

Another way is to use a special powder available in hardware stores or department stores. When sprinkled on the floor under the rug, there is less chance of slippage.

Arrangements To Be Program For Herb Society

Mrs. Ira Fitzgerald will lecture on "Herb Arrangements" at a meeting of Rogue Valley Herb society at Girl's Community club, Tuesday, September 18 at 1 p.m. Mrs. Charles Ray will arrange the exhibit of the day and Mrs. Ray Cyr will give the herb growers review "Once Upon a Thyme."

Mrs. Otto Nagel and Mrs. Melchior Heckenberger will be hostesses.

Gretchen Wade lectured on "Accent with Herbs in Cassettes," at a luncheon held in the Redwood room of the Medford Hotel, August 21. She told how cassettes were named and came into being as well as several ways of preparing them.

Mrs. Mattie Carson took charge of the exhibit and Mrs. LeRoy Cline and Mrs. R. D. Abel were in charge of table decorations. Visitors present were Nancy Rinsbarger, Eagle Point, Mrs. Dale Hoover, Ashland and Mrs. Elsie Rise, Santa Barbara, Calif.

August 28 several members met at the home of Mrs. R. D. Abel for a workshop. Members worked on different projects for an Herb Festival which will be held later.

Speaker Explains Extension Duties

Applegate Valley - Mrs. Howard Plett, member of the Jackson County Extension committee, was a guest speaker at the first meeting of Upper Applegate Extension unit held at the home of Mrs. Claude Williams on Sterling recently. Mrs. Plett, a member of the lower Applegate unit, spoke on the duties and responsibilities of extension members and methods of communication between project leaders and the rest of the group.

Mrs. Harley Hall, serving her second term as chairman of the Upper unit, was in charge of the meeting. A partial list of unit committee members for the year has been announced.

Mrs. John Byrne, membership, Mrs. Henry Napton, hospitality, Mrs. Kenneth Duncan, luncheon, Mrs. W. D. Pearson, Azalea House and ACWW, Mrs. Roland Smith, health and safety, Mrs. Edna Sawyer, program planning.

Undersized Bedrooms Bring Space-Stretching Hints

By DOROTHEA M. BROOKS

United Press International New York - (UPI) - For the homeowner whose complaint is undersized bedrooms, some space-stretching hints from the Latex Foam Rubber council.

The council is concerned primarily with the current campaign of the U.S. Bedding industry to convince Americans that our population is fast outgrowing the standard-size bed, but its ideas on planning, ingeniously and making the maximum use of space on hand to squeeze extra-size beds into under-size bedrooms are valid even for those persons under the height of five feet, 10 inches who, it is said, are still comfortable on standard-length mattresses.

In this age of air-conditioning, cross-ventilation no longer is a must, and the bedroom window with the least pleasant view often can be blocked out to obtain needed wall space—10½ feet for a king-size double bed. The window wall can be covered with prefinished plywood paneling or if the window is centered, it can be fitted with shutters or draped so the window covering forms an interesting backdrop for bed or other furniture.

Using headboards and frames on castors instead of bedsteads will save as much as two to four feet of floor space for each twin bed and double that for king-size beds. A space-saving headboard can be made of plywood paneling, padded with latex foam sheeting, covered with fabric and glued to the wall behind the bed. Or a plywood storage headboard can be made, consisting of long shelves behind a padded headboard, hinged to lift up. Cabinets on either side of a bed can contain night table necessities and bedlamps may be replaced by wall fixtures or a valance fluorescent light.

Where foam rubber mattresses are used, box springs may be eliminated, and a simple plywood base used, with storage drawers beneath to conserve space.

Creation of floor-to-ceiling shelved closets to store hats, shoes, sweaters, lingerie and other lay-away items, make use of often wasted wasted space along upper walls. Modular bookcase, desk and cabinet units hung from movable poles also help to make maximum use of wall space.

In a really tight situation, ordinary closet doors may be replaced by flexible molding doors, sliding doors, or simply by attractive drapes.

Visitors Return To Indiana Home

Eagle Point - Mr. and Mrs. Paul Shepherd and daughter Penny recently returned to their home in Kokomo, Ind., after visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Barlow and family, box 159A, Butte Falls highway, Eagle Point.

Mr. Shepherd is a brother of Mrs. Barlow and this is the Indiana couple's first trip to southern Oregon.

Other visitors this week end at the Barlow home are Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Allen and their four children, Cottage Grove.

Admission Day Spent in Portland

Hornbrook - Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Watt Jr. and sons, Thomas II and Ronald, spent Admission Day holiday week end in Portland visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rubisch.

Arrangements To Be Program For Herb Society

Mrs. Ira Fitzgerald will lecture on "Herb Arrangements" at a meeting of Rogue Valley Herb society at Girl's Community club, Tuesday, September 18 at 1 p.m. Mrs. Charles Ray will arrange the exhibit of the day and Mrs. Ray Cyr will give the herb growers review "Once Upon a Thyme."

Mrs. Otto Nagel and Mrs. Melchior Heckenberger will be hostesses.

Gretchen Wade lectured on "Accent with Herbs in Cassettes," at a luncheon held in the Redwood room of the Medford Hotel, August 21. She told how cassettes were named and came into being as well as several ways of preparing them.

Mrs. Mattie Carson took charge of the exhibit and Mrs. LeRoy Cline and Mrs. R. D. Abel were in charge of table decorations. Visitors present were Nancy Rinsbarger, Eagle Point, Mrs. Dale Hoover, Ashland and Mrs. Elsie Rise, Santa Barbara, Calif.

August 28 several members met at the home of Mrs. R. D. Abel for a workshop. Members worked on different projects for an Herb Festival which will be held later.

Speaker Explains Extension Duties

Applegate Valley - Mrs. Howard Plett, member of the Jackson County Extension committee, was a guest speaker at the first meeting of Upper Applegate Extension unit held at the home of Mrs. Claude Williams on Sterling recently. Mrs. Plett, a member of the lower Applegate unit, spoke on the duties and responsibilities of extension members and methods of communication between project leaders and the rest of the group.

Mrs. Harley Hall, serving her second term as chairman of the Upper unit, was in charge of the meeting. A partial list of unit committee members for the year has been announced.

Mrs. John Byrne, membership, Mrs. Henry Napton, hospitality, Mrs. Kenneth Duncan, luncheon, Mrs. W. D. Pearson, Azalea House and ACWW, Mrs. Roland Smith, health and safety, Mrs. Edna Sawyer, program planning.

Undersized Bedrooms Bring Space-Stretching Hints

By DOROTHEA M. BROOKS

United Press International New York - (UPI) - For the homeowner whose complaint is undersized bedrooms, some space-stretching hints from the Latex Foam Rubber council.

The council is concerned primarily with the current campaign of the U.S. Bedding industry to convince Americans that our population is fast outgrowing the standard-size bed, but its ideas on planning, ingeniously and making the maximum use of space on hand to squeeze extra-size beds into under-size bedrooms are valid even for those persons under the height of five feet, 10 inches who, it is said, are still comfortable on standard-length mattresses.

In this age of air-conditioning, cross-ventilation no longer is a must, and the bedroom window with the least pleasant view often can be blocked out to obtain needed wall space—10½ feet for a king-size double bed. The window wall can be covered with prefinished plywood paneling or if the window is centered, it can be fitted with shutters or draped so the window covering forms an interesting backdrop for bed or other furniture.

Using headboards and frames on castors instead of bedsteads will save as much as two to four feet of floor space for each twin bed and double that for king-size beds. A space-saving headboard can be made of plywood paneling, padded with latex foam sheeting, covered with fabric and glued to the wall behind the bed. Or a plywood storage headboard can be made, consisting of long shelves behind a padded headboard, hinged to lift up. Cabinets on either side of a bed can contain night table necessities and bedlamps may be replaced by wall fixtures or a valance fluorescent light.

Where foam rubber mattresses are used, box springs may be eliminated, and a simple plywood base used, with storage drawers beneath to conserve space.

Creation of floor-to-ceiling shelved closets to store hats, shoes, sweaters, lingerie and other lay-away items, make use of often wasted wasted space along upper walls. Modular bookcase, desk and cabinet units hung from movable poles also help to make maximum use of wall space.

In a really tight situation, ordinary closet doors may be replaced by flexible molding doors, sliding doors, or simply by attractive drapes.

Visitors Return To Indiana Home

Eagle Point - Mr. and Mrs. Paul Shepherd and daughter Penny recently returned to their home in Kokomo, Ind., after visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Barlow and family, box 159A, Butte Falls highway, Eagle Point.

Mr. Shepherd is a brother of Mrs. Barlow and this is the Indiana couple's first trip to southern Oregon.

Other visitors this week end at the Barlow home are Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Allen and their four children, Cottage Grove.

Admission Day Spent in Portland

Hornbrook - Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Watt Jr. and sons, Thomas II and Ronald, spent Admission Day holiday week end in Portland visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rubisch.

Arrangements To Be Program For Herb Society

Mrs. Ira Fitzgerald will lecture on "Herb Arrangements" at a meeting of Rogue Valley Herb society at Girl's Community club, Tuesday, September 18 at 1 p.m. Mrs. Charles Ray will arrange the exhibit of the day and Mrs. Ray Cyr will give the herb growers review "Once Upon a Thyme."

Mrs. Otto Nagel and Mrs. Melchior Heckenberger will be hostesses.

Gretchen Wade lectured on "Accent with Herbs in Cassettes," at a luncheon held in the Redwood room of the Medford Hotel, August 21. She told how cassettes were named and came into being as well as several ways of preparing them.

Mrs. Mattie Carson took charge of the exhibit and Mrs. LeRoy Cline and Mrs. R. D. Abel were in charge of table decorations. Visitors present were Nancy Rinsbarger, Eagle Point, Mrs. Dale Hoover, Ashland and Mrs. Elsie Rise, Santa Barbara, Calif.

August 28 several members met at the home of Mrs. R. D. Abel for a workshop. Members worked on different projects for an Herb Festival which will be held later.

Speaker Explains Extension Duties

Applegate Valley - Mrs. Howard Plett, member of the Jackson County Extension committee, was a guest speaker at the first meeting of Upper Applegate Extension unit held at the home of Mrs. Claude Williams on Sterling recently. Mrs. Plett, a member of the lower Applegate unit, spoke on the duties and responsibilities of extension members and methods of communication between project leaders and the rest of the group.

Mrs. Harley Hall, serving her second term as chairman of the Upper unit, was in charge of the meeting. A partial list of unit committee members for the year has been announced.

Mrs. John Byrne, membership, Mrs. Henry Napton, hospitality, Mrs. Kenneth Duncan, luncheon, Mrs. W. D. Pearson, Azalea House and ACWW, Mrs. Roland Smith, health and safety, Mrs. Edna Sawyer, program planning.

MATERNITY

- Skirts
- Capris
- Tops
- Lingerie
- Foundations
- Stretch Pants

Grandson Honored

Gold Hill - Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Martin, Upper River road, were hosts for a family dinner honoring their grandson, Alan Martin of Seattle, Wash., during his stay here. Nineteen members of the family were present at this first occasion when all were together at one time.

Add a few drops of vinegar to the rinse water when laundering synthetic curtains and draperies. This reduces the static electricity in them.

Stop Bad Breath

Sweeten Mouth-Stomach 3 Times Faster

One full spoonful whenever you think your breath may offend. Bad-breath-avoiding agents, sweeten mouth and stomach like lemon. No harmful sugar. Get Soften Mouth. 35¢ at drugists. Send postal to: Borden's, Washington, N. Y., for latest free booklet.

Our Fit? EXCELLENT!

WE GUARANTEE IT!

Johnston & Stewart

JUNIOR BOOT SHOP

211 East Main

Sanitone Drycleaning

for complete, professional fabric care

"It pays to keep up appearances. I know!"

That's why I'm for Sanitone—as I tell my listeners on my CBS Radio program."

Yes, with our Sanitone Drycleaning, clothes come back looking and feeling like the day you bought them... with special finishes added for softness and body... all spots removed safely and scientifically... minor repairs made... and expertly pressed on professional equipment—a press that lasts. You get so much more than just drycleaning. Try our Sanitone today!

PICKUP and DELIVERY

TRY OUR CUSTOM LAUNDERED SHIRTS

- LOOK BETTER
- FIT BETTER
- FEEL BETTER

CALL 772-9169 TODAY!

Nu-Way

CLEANERS & FURRIERS

601 E. Main
FREE PARKING
H. D. CHRISTENSEN