

Farm Strike May Become Political Issue This Fall

Washington — The Republican reaction to the National Farmers Organization farm strike in the Midwest may turn into a political issue for this fall's Congressional elections.

The NFO has been operating what it calls a holding action trying to force processors to sign bargaining contracts by withholding livestock and grain from market.

Operation Condemned
In Washington late last week, the Republican National committee condemned the NFO operation as "useless and wasteful." The committee criticized President Kennedy for not stepping into the strike in the interest of consumers. The Republican leaders called the NFO a non-representative group of farmers.

Administration officials have had little to say about the NFO action so far. Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman has noted that similar holding actions have failed in the past.

But Freeman also has said he is sympathetic with the NFO goal of better farm prices and he may be inclined to speak out more emphatically in the wake of the Republican blast at NFO members.

Little Comment
The NFO drive has drawn comparatively little comment so far from other national farm leaders.

The National Farmers Union recently expressed its sympathy with the NFO goals. But Farmers Union leaders indicated they didn't think the NFO could succeed without new government programs for supply management in agriculture.

The American Farm Bureau Federation has said nothing at all about the NFO action. Farm Bureau President Charles B. Shuman has refused to comment.

University Gets Grant To Expand Grad Program

Eugene — A U. S. Office of Education "stimulation" grant has been received for the second year at the University of Oregon for the development and expansion of a graduate program in the education of the mentally retarded.

The $10,500 grant will help support the program which prepares students to be administrators and supervisors of special education programs for mentally retarded children in the public school systems and of similar educational work.

Dr. James R. Lent, associate professor of education, who came to the university last year, is director of the program.

Receive Grants
"Only about two or three colleges and universities in the U.S." have received these grants, which are designed to stimulate the establishment of advanced-degree programs, and only about 10 institutions of higher learning offer the programs at the present time, Dr. Lent said.

In addition to the grant, the three students—two doctoral candidates and one master's degree candidate—participating in the program at Oregon this year will receive stipends.

Three students also studied under the program last year. One of them, Leo A. Hamerlynck, completed his requirements for a doctoral degree and is now teaching at Eastern Oregon college.

In addition to their campus studies, students serve "internships" in public school systems, special education departments of county state offices, the Oregon state department of education and Fairview home.

Domiciliary Chief Moves To Richmond

White City — Robert E. Kelley, chief of the social work service since 1956, has accepted a position as instructor at the Richmond Professional Institute, Richmond, Va., and has left the Veterans Administration Domiciliary.

He has been with the VA for about 12 years, moving to this station from Muskogee, Okla., VA hospital. Before that he was at Vancouver and Whipple, Ariz.

Kelley is a native of Boston, Mass., and a graduate in social work of the University of Washington.
